

YMCA Centennial Petitions Called

The University of Oregon YMCA will help celebrate the 100th anniversary of the national YMCA by raising funds to present a "birthday gift" from the campus group.

The YMCA is calling for petitions for general Centennial chairman to take charge of all Centennial interpretation and fund raising. The position became vacant when the general chairman found it necessary to resign due to conflicting duties. The petitioner must be a sophomore or junior and have at least a 2 point.

Petitions should be turned in to the YWCA office by April 15 at 5 p.m.

Wedding Gown Should Be Selected Carefully

By Bobbye Harris
Emerald Reporter

"Something old, something new; something borrowed, something blue." These are what every bride should have.

"Something old" might be the lace hanky grandma carried. "Something borrowed" could be anything from a penny in your shoe to the pearls around your neck. A suggestion for "something blue" is the traditional garter.

"Something new" will probably be the wedding gown that you've dreamed about ever since you were a little girl playing house and ever since you saw your first wedding.

Even though it is a dress that might be worn only once it is a dress that has to be selected with care. You will want to be at your best on that all-important day, and you'll want a dress that will be at its best for years and years afterwards.

Wedding gowns are four general lengths. There are the waltz-length dresses and the even floor-length dresses which are usually considered most suitable for small weddings. There are the floor-length dresses with a chapel train or a full train which are worn at more formal weddings. In any case the final choice is up to the bride.

Popular fabrics for spring and summer wedding gowns are chantilly lace, tulle, organdy, embroidered net, antique taffeta, and silk mouline. Two, three, or even more types of fabrics may be combined in one dress. The traditional satin is now usually reserved for the most formal occasions.

Styles Vary

Styles vary as widely as the fabrics. Equally popular are dresses with high necklines and dresses with low necklines; ones with short sleeves and ones with long sleeves; dresses with tiered skirts and dresses with ruffled skirts. One favorite style this season is the gown with the princess lines.

Last but not least is the veil. Here, too, is variety. However, the most popular veil is the chapel-length style. Either plain net or edged with lace, it is most often held in place by a cap of lace or one embroidered with seed pearls. The veil is truly the crowning touch on your day of glory.

Sociology Club Meeting Scheduled for Tonight

The recently-organized Oregon Sociology club will meet tonight at 7:30 in the Student Union, according to Kenneth R. Cunningham, president.

A specially-planned program will follow the short business meeting and refreshments will be served. All sociology majors and other students who have an interest in the behavioral sciences are invited to attend.

Janet Flatland Resigns Panhellenic Presidency

Olivia Tharaldson is the new president of Panhellenic. She will take the place of Janet Flatland, who has been serving as president of the organization. She is stepping down because she was recently elected president of Delta Delta Delta and feels that she would be unable to hold down both posts at the same time.

Music Educators Begin Conference

The annual Northwest Music Educators' conference began Wednesday at Eugene high school and will continue for three days. There will be featured concerts each night to be climaxed by the Gala Festival concert Saturday evening.

The conference is being sponsored by the University school of music. Robert A. Choate, the organization president, spoke Wednesday night on "Music in American Life."

Sommers Will Speak

Robert Sommers, assistant superintendent of Chicago schools, will be guest speaker at tonight's banquet. His topic will be "Who Leads the Schools?"

Wednesday night's program, held at McArthur court, featured music groups from the community of Eugene, and public schools of Eugene.

Participating groups were the Women's Choral club—Max Risinger, conductor; Eugene Glee-men—Theodore Kratt, conductor; Civic Symphony, Edmund Cykler, conductor; Combined Church chorus—Marjorie Wilson, conductor; Junior Symphony ballet—Eugenie Skarjinsky, conductor.

Eugene High Participates

Eugene high school band—Byron Miller, conductor; Girls' choir—Russell Harrison, conductor; A Cappella choir—Weston Brockway, conductor; String Orchestra—William Tweedie, conductor; junior high school combined bands—Cal Martin, conductor; combined choirs—Estley Schick, Lolita Pierson, Wilma Smith, conductors; combined strings—Robert Moblo, Clifford Carlson, conductors; elementary orchestra—Harold Specht, Myrtle Stewart, conductors; and chorus—Cecelia Nelson, conductor

Approximately 800 high school students will participate in the Gala Festival concert on Saturday. Students will be from schools throughout the Pacific Northwest area.

UO Groups Will Appear

The concert program for this evening will be divided into three sections for the University orchestra, band and Singers and they will be directed by Edmund Cykler, Robert Vagner and Max Risinger, respectively.

The orchestra will play "Concerto Grosso, Opus 6, No. 2," by Handel; "Bist du bie mir," by Bach; and "Concerto in G Minor, Opus 26," by Bruch. Robert Groth and Sharron McCabe, violinists and Gene Wisler, cellist, will be student soloists and George Boughton, assistant professor of violin, will be faculty soloist.

University Singers to Perform

The University Singers will perform "Gloria in Excelsis Deo," by Bach; "Kyrie Eleison," by Milton Dieterich, a University faculty member; "The Winging Souls," by Warrell, and "Yonder, Yonder," arranged by Gaines. John Mosely will be tenor soloist in this last number.

The Singers will also sing "Water Front Streets," "Sea Calm," "Sailor," "Seascape," "Parisian Beggar Woman," and "Death of an Old Seaman," from "Sea Charm," by Picket.

The University band will play the second movement of "Pageant," by Persichetti; "La Fiesta Mexicana," a Mexican folksong symphony, by Reed; "Overture for Band, Opus 30," by Fuerstner, and three marches. These will be "March from Original Suite for Band," by Jacobs; "Bombs Away," by Gould, and "Dumedin," by Alford.

Chaplains' Group Elects Swensen

Bill Swenson was elected president of Campus Chaplains Tuesday night at a meeting of the group, and Ken Bond was elected vice-president.

Corresponding secretary will be Donna Nichols, with Donna Douglas to serve as recording secretary. Jim Peak will be treasurer.

These officers, with additional members Sonia Lander and Kathy Holloway, will serve as a committee to investigate the situation concerning possible construction of a campus chapel.

The committee will report at the group's next meeting, which will be Monday night in the Student Union.

No Car Cleaning

The WUS-sponsored car wash which was to have been today has been postponed due to rain, according to Agnes Thompson, chairman of the event.

The wash has been tentatively set for Tuesday weather permitting.

Painting Works To Be Exhibited

Paintings and drawings by Mrs. LaVerne Krause will be shown in the Student Union art gallery from April 17 until May 8.

Mrs. Krause, who was born in Portland, received her degree in drawing and painting from the University of Oregon. She is president of the Oregon chapter of the Artist Equity association, which protects and improves the economic status of the painter, sculptor, and graphic artist and develops and encourages the use of the visual arts. Her pictures have been exhibited in both Oregon and Washington.

Views on Painting

Concerning her views on painting she said, "How the artist feels within himself is an important part of painting, but sometimes these feelings are best expressed through responsibility to subjects outside one's self."

"I have begun to make portraits of the other artists of the area as well as of family and friends, and in these portraits I am striving with a dual responsibility—character and physical likeness and painting."
