

20 Independents Petition For Senate, Class Offices

The United Independent Students, who already had eight candidates in the race for ASUO offices, entered 12 more on the final petitioning day last Wednesday and thus wound up with a total of 20 contestants for the primaries.

Most of the newcomers filed for senator-at-large spot where nine last day filers increased the total number of hopefuls to 10.

Of the other three, two were for junior class representative and one was for sophomore class president.

Nine for Senator

The nine new candidates for senator-at-large are:

Kathy Morrison, sophomore in journalism, who is active on the Emerald staff and is a member of Kwama; Mary Claire Allen, junior in music, who is a member of the University Singers and was a worker on the Oregana; Chuck Mitchelmore, freshman in journalism and an Emerald co-sports editor, who is also a member of Phi Eta Sigma, freshman scholastic honorary.

Sue Lamb, freshman in journalism, who is another active reporter for the Emerald; Dave Lobb, junior in journalism and an Oregonian correspondent at the University, who is also president of both the Inter-Hall council and Alpha hall; Dorothy Iler, junior in journalism, who is president of Theta Sigma Phi and is a member of Phi Theta Upsilon and was a Kwama.

Roger Sommer, sophomore in business, who is secretary and social chairman of Alpha hall; Richard McDaniel, junior in pre-law and a freshman dorm counselor, and Dick Frear, junior in general science, who is president of the recently-formed Veterans committee and a co-chairman of the creative arts workshop.

Women Candidates File

The two candidates who entered the competition for junior class representative were both women. . . . Charlsie Parker, sophomore in liberal arts, and Joanne Reed, sophomore in liberal arts. Miss Parker is membership chairman of Rebec house and is active in the house librarians organization. Miss Reed claims as her chief activity a position on the Student Union publicity committee.

Dale Bajema, freshman in political science, petitioned for sophomore class president on the final day and thus became the only UIS candidate to be in contention for this spot on the primary ballot. He was on the Frosh Sno-ball publicity committee.

Greeks to Choose Slate From 34 Aspirants

Twenty five AGS candidates filed primary petitions last Wednesday to make a total of 34 aspirants that will be listed on the AGS primary ballot in Wednesday's primary elections.

Among these candidates were: Rob Roy, freshman in music and a freshman class representative at the current time. He is also active in University Singers and the University band.

Walt Ching, sophomore in pre-med., who is a varsity swimmer and a member of Skull and Dagger. He has served as a yell duke and is currently working as a co-chairman of Duck Preview promotion.

Bob Kubes, junior in math and a member of Alpha Phi Omega and Scabbard and Blade. He served on the finance committee for the Military Ball.

AF Veteran

Bill Hardin, junior in liberal arts, who enrolled at Oregon only this year after service in the air force.

Nan Hagedorn, sophomore in liberal arts, who is on the rally squad and is a member of Kwama. She was general co-chairman of Dad's Weekend and was chairman of the sophomore YWCA cabinet.

Bill Moore, sophomore in education and an active athlete. Moore was on both the varsity football and basketball teams this school year.

Marcia Mauney, sophomore in journalism and an Emerald women's page co-editor. She is also on the student traffic court and is a member of both Kwama and Alpha Lambda Delta.

Brian Booth, freshman in liberal arts and freshmen class president. He is president of French hall and the Inter-dorm council and is also a member of Phi Eta Sigma and the Frosh tennis team.

Ann Erickson, junior in general social science and last year's homecoming queen. Miss Erickson is president of Kappa Kappa Gamma and is a member of Alpha Lambda Delta and Phi Theta Upsilon.

Linda Lundy, sophomore in art, who is a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma.

Anne Ritchey, junior in journalism and an ASUO senator-at-large at present. She is an Emerald assistant news editor and was editor of this year's Pigger's Guide in addition to being a member of both Phi Theta Upsilon and Theta Sigma Phi.

Three to Run

Entering the race for senior class president on the final day were:

Bob McCracken, junior in history and president of Alpha Tau Omega. He is also business manager of the Oregana and president of AGS. McCracken is a member of Druids and was active in Skull and Dagger last year.

Ev Stiles, junior in business, who is a pitcher on the Oregon varsity baseball team. He was also on the publicity committee for the Military Ball.

Martin Brandenfels, junior in pre-law and vice-president of Phi Delta Theta and social chairman of the same organization. He was a member of Skull and Dagger last year and was president of Stitzer hall as a freshman.

Senior Rep

Running for senior class representative are Patty Fagan, junior in education and a member of the rally squad, and Bob Maier, junior in economics and head of the student traffic court. Miss Fagan is also active in YWCA work and was on the homecoming court. Maier is a senator-at-large now.

Barkey Herman, sophomore in business, who was a semi-finalist in the Joe College contest, has entered the competition for junior class president.

In the race for junior class representative on the final day were Sally Jo Greig, sophomore in English, and Molly Carr, sophomore in liberal arts. Miss Greig is a co-editor of the Emerald women's page and is a member of the rally squad. She also has been active as a copy editor for the Oregana, a member of Kwama, social chairman for her sorority, Pi Beta Phi, and a participant in many campus social activities. Miss Carr is an active member of her sorority, Kappa Kappa Gamma.

Lynch and Perry File

Four more candidates presented their petitions for sophomore class representative to bring the total number of aspirants to five in that race. They were Jim Hilands, freshman in business, Betty Herrman, freshman in liberal arts, Rich Urie, freshman in journalism, and Shirley Parmenter, freshman in liberal arts.

Hilands is president of Hunter hall and is serving on the Inter-Dorm council in addition to being on the Frosh track team. Miss Herrman is on the forensics squad and is vice-president of Westminster Foundation. Urie is vice-president of French hall and is active in the campus YMCA. Miss Parmenter is currently participating in several varied activities and is living at Carson hall.

Arrest, Search, Seizure Laws To Be Discussed on Campus

Laws of arrest, search and seizure will be the subject discussed this afternoon by Oregon law enforcement officers, municipal judges and educators attending the Traffic Court conference now being held in the school of law.

Commenting on the conference, Dean Orlando John Hollis of the law school said: "The willingness of busy state officials such as the secretary of state, Earl T. Newbry and the attorney general, Robert Y. Thornton, to participate indicates the importance of the Traffic Court conference in their judgment."

Valuable Ideas

He added that he thought this year's conference program was an unusually good one and that those in attendance would take back to their own communities many valuable ideas.

The three day conference which began this morning is sponsored by the school of law.

in co-operation with the General Extension division.

Robert E. Frazier, an associate editor of the Eugene Register-Guard, will deliver one of the addresses scheduled for the conference. He will speak at a Wednesday luncheon in the Student Union.

Subjects to be discussed at subsequent conference sessions are the jurisdiction of local officers in Oregon, rules of evidence in Oregon, and traffic court procedure.

Poetry Contest Award Offers $25

The annual Julia Burgess poetry competition is now open with the winner receiving a $25 award. The contest is open to undergraduate students.

Any type of original poetry may be submitted, but if the poems are short, they should be turned in as a group composed of not more than five or less than three.

Manuscripts should be typewritten, double-spaced and submitted in triplicate. The name of the author should not appear on the manuscript, but should be enclosed in a separate envelope with the title of the poem.

Further information may be obtained at the department of English.

Entries should be turned in no later than May 20.

The biggest fish ever caught by rod and reel was a Man-eater (shark) landed in Streaky Bay, Australia on Jan. 8, 1953. The shark was 15 feet, 1 inch long and weighed 2372 pounds.
