Chou Claims Right to Isle

BANDUNG, Indonesia (AP)—Red China's Chou En-Lai said Sunday night Peiping will not give up the "sovereign right to liberate" Formosa, even though it wants talks with the United States to ease tension in the area.

Chou spoke at the closing plenary session of the 29-nation Asian-African conference. Following up his statement of Saturday that Red China does not want war with the United States and would like direct talks on the Formosan crisis, he said:

"China and the United States should sit down and ease tension in the Taiwan Formosa area.

Liberation Right

"This should not in the slightest degree, however, effect the exercise by the Communist people's republic of China of its sovereign right in the liberation of Taiwan."

Chou made no reference in his final speech to imprisoned U.S. airmen, whose release some thought he would announce to help relax international tension.

Seven-Day Conference

The conference wound up seven days of deliberations and debates, marked frequently by clashes between pro and anti-Communists among the delegates, and issued a long communique on the delegates' recommendations.

The delegates demanded an end to production, experimentation, and use of nuclear and thermonuclear weapons and effective international control to carry out the ban.

The conference resolutions ranged over such subjects as the promotion of world peace and cooperation, economic and cultural cooperation among the Asian and African countries, and human rights and self-determination for all peoples.

The communique said membership in the U.N. should be universal in order to promote world peace. This was the closest it came to demanding membership for Red China in U.N.

The communique also said Asian-African countries should be eligible for election to the non-permanent seats on the U.N. Security Council in order for them to make a more effective contribution to peace and security.

Other conference stands as outlined by the communique included:

1. Economic cooperation among the Asian-African countries "on the basis of mutual interest and respect for national sovereignty."
2. Cultural understanding among nations through cooperation. In this connection, the conference condemned the colonialism in Asia and Africa, "in whatever form it may be," as a bar to such cultural exchange. It also condemned racialism.
3. Full support for the principle of self-determination "of peoples and nations, as set forth in the Charter of the United Nations."
4. Support for the "courageous stand taken by the victims of racial discrimination, especially by the peoples of African, Indian, and Pakistani origin in South Africa."
5. Support for the rights of the peoples of North Africa to self-determination. In particular, the conference declared its support for the "rights of the people of Algeria and Tunisia to self-determination and independence" and urged the French government to bring about peaceful settlement of the issue "without delay."
6. Support for the "rights of the Arab people of Palestine." The conference called for implementing U.N. resolutions on Palestine and peaceful settlement of the Palestine problem.

The plenary session was delayed more than two hours while a subcommittee worked out compromise wording on a resolution condemning colonialism.

Theophilus New Idaho President

BOISE, Idaho (AP) — Donald R. Theophilus was appointed president of the University of Idaho Sunday.

The Idaho board of regents chose Theophilus from a field of 77 candidates. He has been acting president of the university since last July 1, when J. E. Buchanan resigned to become president of the Asphalt Institute.

"Theophilus has grown to meet each new responsibility in his many years at Idaho," the board said. "As acting president for 10 months he has demonstrated that he has what it takes to be president."

Theophilus said he was "deeply appreciative of the confidence reposed in me by the regents."

Before stepping up into the $15,000-a-year job at the Moscow school, Theophilus, 56, was dean of the college of agriculture.

He was born in Pittsburgh and was graduated from Iowa State college in animal husbandry in 1920. He took a B.S. degree in dairy manufacturing two years later.

After a year on the staff at Iowa State and four years at Western Kentucky Teacher college, he received an M.A. degree from Iowa State in 1924.

He came to Idaho in 1927 and has been there ever since except for one year when he returned to Iowa State for his doctorate. He is married and has two children.

Chiang Has Discussion With High US Officials

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Chiang Kai-Shek discussed the "broad overall situation" in the Formosa area with two high visiting U.S. officials Sunday, a Chinese source reported.

A Nationalist Foreign Office informant expressed doubt that the offer of Premier Chou En-Lai of Red China to negotiate with the United States on the Formosa crisis even came up.

Chiang conferred in the afternoon with Walter Robertson, assistant U.S. secretary of state, and Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Exchanged Views

They exchanged views on the U.S.-Nationalist treaty under which the United States guarantees to defend Formosa and the adjacent Pescadores from any Red attack.

The meeting was described as amicable.

This contrasted with gloomy speculation among Nationalists that at the least Chiang would be asked to abandon the offshore islands of Quemoys and the Matsus.

Some U.S. quarters expressed belief developments might not be that severe for the Nationalists, who have vowed to defend both Quemoys, across the strait, and the Matsus, 120 miles northwest of Formosa.

The Chinese source said

Chiang, Radford and Robertson talked about subjects "much broader" than the offshore islands.

This largely coincided with Robertson's own remarks to newsmen when he arrived Saturday. He said he would not comment on a report "I came here to talk over any evacuation," and declared: "I just came to consider the problems of our treaty."

U.S. Ambassador Karl Rankin and Nationalist Foreign Minister George Yeh were the only others taking part in the conference, which lasted from 4 p.m. until dinner time. Guests said Chiang appeared in a cheerful, amiable mood at dinner.

After dinner, the five went back into a session that did not break up until 10 p.m. Chang Chun, Chiang's secretary-general, attended this meeting. Talks will resume Monday.
