

Build Up, Then Blow Down

NEVADA DESERT—This picture shows test structures spaced at different distances from ground zero as they awaited the nuclear blast scheduled for today. The first row, including houses and power plant (at right) is 4700 feet from 500-foot tower in which nuclear device is to be set off. Other buildings are at various distances with the big group in background at 10,000 foot position. Pictures were taken with long focal lenses. (AP Wirephoto)

Bad Winds Force Postponement Of A-Bomb Blast at Survival City

SURVIVAL CITY, Nev. (AP)—This atomic test town received at least 24 hours of grace Monday when whistling winds forced postponement of Tuesday's scheduled nuclear blast.

Test officials were hopeful that the weather picture might change to allow the explosion to be set off Wednesday from a 500-foot tower near this model city on Yucca Flat in the largest civil defense test ever held.

Forecast wind speeds of 70 m.p.h. at the expected height of the atomic cloud posed a potentially serious radiation fallout problem to a number of Nevada communities.

Alvin C. Graves, chief tester for the Atomic Energy commission, said the tricky currents might have deposited the radioactive particles on Alamo, Elgin, Panaca and Pioche to the northeast.

Or they could have reversed 90 degrees and dumped fallout on Las Vegas, Boulder City, Henderson and nearby Indian Springs.

The postponement left civil defense officials with a housing problem. Las Vegas is packed to overflowing with incoming conventions, and sports fans flocking to a golf tournament and the Archie Moore-Nino Valdes heavyweight fight next week.

Some civil defense workers may return home without seeing the shot, but most indicated they were staying. An emergency housing bureau was set up to make arrangements for hotel and motel changes.

The official postponement announcement was greeted with groans from the several thousand observers gathered for briefings in the Las Vegas high school auditorium.

•Stock Market•

NEW YORK (AP)—Buying enthusiasm sent the stock market up Monday and completely blanketed early selling induced by higher margin requirements.

Gains at the finish ran from one to three points in many key areas while losses were small.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up 50 cents at $165.00 with the industrial and railroad components each up 50 cents and utilities up 40 cents.

Volume amounted to 2,720,000 shares as compared with 2,800,000 shares traded in Friday's sharply lower market.

Dulles to Meet With Ministers

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles will meet with British and French foreign ministers in Paris May 8 "to discuss concrete plans" for a later Big Four conference with Russia.

"The three governments earnestly hope that a four-power conference can meet as soon as possible," the State Department said.

In announcing this Monday, the department gave no official word as to whether the Big Four meeting might be at the foreign ministers level, or higher.

Ministers Meet First

However, a top official said what Dulles has in mind is a big four meeting of foreign ministers first, perhaps to be followed by a heads-of-state conference.

Russia's Premier Bulganin dropped a Saturday note in Moscow that he was interested in such a high level meeting, telling newsmen to "ask Eisenhower and Eden about the date."

If the foreign ministers meeting made a promising start in settling the East-West deadlock over Germany's future, it was said authoritatively. President Eisenhower would be prepared to meet with Bulganin, British Prime Minister Eden and the French Premier.

In advance of the American-British-French meeting in Paris, the three allies agreed to send teams of lower ranking diplomatic experts to London Wednesday to chart the steps to be followed in arranging a later meeting with the Russians.

Two factors influenced the timing of the Paris meeting.

Completed Steps

Four days previously, France and the rest of the Atlantic pact countries will have formally completed all steps for welcoming a rearmed West Germany into the 15-nation North Atlantic pact.

This act would make it clear Russia could do nothing at any later conference, officials said, to disrupt these arrangements for adding West Germany's military might to the West's European defense system.

The second factor was the convening in Paris from May 9 to 11 of a full meeting of the 15-nation NATO council, assembling the NATO European foreign ministers conveniently to discuss other problems as well.

Lieuallen Named College President

PORTLAND (AP) — Roy E. Lieuallen, 38, will be named today as president of Oregon College of Education at Monmouth.

He was chosen at an informal luncheon of the state board of higher education Monday. The appointment will be confirmed at the board's monthly meeting Tuesday.

Lieuallen will take the position left vacant by the death two months ago of Dr. Roben J. Maaske. He has been acting administrator since then.

The board's building committee Monday approved preliminary plans for an $850,000 classroom structure at Portland State college.

The building would be erected as an addition to the old Lincoln high school where existing college facilities are housed.

The board's finance committee recommended acquisition of two apartment buildings behind the new building for use as college administrative offices.

The proposals will go before the meeting of the full board Tuesday.
