

Juniors, Millrace Will Divide Profit

One half of the net profit of this year's Canoe fete will go toward restoration of the Millrace which means the project will receive approximately $528 if the 1955 budget proves accurate.

The other half of the estimated $1056 net profit will be turned will be measured at the U.S. weather bureau at Mahlon Sweet Airport, not at the fete site, according to insurance specifications.

Also included in expenses is $500 for construction of the floats. Schooling points out that this expense will not be as great in future canoe fetes since the same barges will be used. This should increase fete profits in the future and provide more funds for Race restoration.

Tickets On Sale

Tickets for the Canoe Fete are on sale now at the Student Union, the Co-op, through Old Oregon and at certain downtown locations. Bleacher seats are available for $1.25 and seats on the ground between the bleachers and the Millrace are 50 cents.

Fete Participants To Receive Passes

Participants in the Canoe Fete and persons riding on the floats will not be required to purchase tickets as was reported in Monday's Emerald.

The original story stated that all persons would be required to buy tickets.

Members of the University orchestra, the University Singers, ushers and students riding on the floats will be admitted without charge.

over to the junior class to help finance Junior Weekend activities.

Income from ticket sales is expected to reach $4187.50, with expenses estimated at $3122.50, according to the budget released today by co-chairmen Bob Schooling and Jim Light.

Insurance Coverage

Included in the expenses is $262 for rain insurance. If .05 inches of rain falls between 5 and 8 p.m. the night of the fete, coverage is provided. Rainfall

'TOAST OF THE TOWN'

Ed Sullivan's Revue To Appear at 8 Tonight

Ed Sullivan, who hosts CBS television's oldest entertainment program every Sunday night, will present seven acts in his Toast of the Town Revue tonight at 8 p.m. at McArthur court.

Tickets are available in the north bleacher section at $2, and a few are still left on the main floor for $2.50.

Sullivan, who has won numerous awards as television's top entertainment host, has kept the entertainment value of his program at a consistently high level by his efforts to discover new acts and techniques.

Much Travel

Last year he traveled over 150,000 miles in search of new and different talent. It has paid off as Toast of the Town continues to win honors as the nation's top television variety show.

Mata and Hari, internationally famous dancers, will star on tonight's show.

Richard Herne, an outstanding British comedian, will be featured. He is the "Mr. Pastry," star of the English Music hall.

Valli to Sing

Songstress on tonight's show will be lovely June Valli, vocalist on the Lucky Strike Hit Parade television program for two years.

Miss Valli gained fame with her recording, "Crying in the Chapel." Her other hit songs include "Tell Me, Tell Me," "Young and Foolish" and her newest, "Unchained."

She currently is vocalist on husband Howard Miller's local television show in Chicago, five nights a week.

Comedy impressionist Will Jordan will be featured. He became famous when he appeared on Toast of the Town as a mimic of the show's host.

Trampoline Act

The Rudells will present their well-known trampoline act tonight. Their previous engagements include thirteen consecutive months at Ken Murray's Blackouts in Hollywood, a six week hold-over at the London Palladium, and appearances in Belgium, Switzerland, Germany, Canada and the United States.

Joe Jackson, Jr., internationally famous pantomime act, will be here tonight after recently returning from his seventh tour of Continental Europe.

Jackson, of breakout bicycle fame, has frequently been nominated as "America's worst dressed comedian," a clowning tramp with a tattered black costume and red fringed wig. He has appeared in command performances before royalty in Europe.

The Amin Brothers, Egyptian acrobatic marvels, will be featured.

All acts on tonight's show have appeared on Sullivan's Sunday night Toast of the Town television program at least twice.

ED SULLIVAN, well-known master of ceremonies of the Toast of the Town television show, will appear at McArthur court at 8 tonight with seven acts from his show. A few reserved seats to the show are still available at the athletic department.

Tickets On Sale Now For Mom's Breakfast

Tickets will be available today for the Mother's Weekend breakfast to be held May 14 in the Student Union ballroom from 8:30 to 10:30. The tickets will be sold at the main desk of the SU, according to Susan Ryder and Lee Lorenzen, chairmen of the ticket committee.

The deadline for picking up the tickets is May 11. The breakfast is to be for the mothers only. It is the only time that the mothers can get together for a general business meeting in which officers for the coming year will be elected.

Sub-chairmen for the promotion committee which is headed by Peggy Gathercoal and Gordon Summers have been chosen. They include Sue Ramsby and Joan Rainville, who are in charge of flying speeches. Bev Landon, who is in charge of handbills; Mary Jane Alexander, in charge of letters; Jerry Scarborough, in charge of posters and sandwich boards, and Priscilla Bollam, in charge of promotion over the radio and in the newspaper.

End of Test Files as ASUO Project Probable on Approval of Senate

The ASUO test files, a remnant of the now extinct honor code system at Oregon, may be discontinued immediately as an ASUO project.

Head Librarian Carl W. Hintz, who had been in charge of their administration in the library's reference room, was not to have been in permanent charge of them.

He told the senate winter term that their administration was becoming too large a job for his staff and asked the senate, through its test files committee headed by Lorin Larsen, to investigate another location for them.

SU Board Suggests

The Student Union board, to whom the subject was taken for suggestions, recommended that the files be placed in the browsing room, which is also under the administration of the University library.

Beginning April 1, a survey was conducted by the committee, through the ASUO suggestion box in the Co-op, to determine the extent of student concern about the files.

One result was placed in the box, that of Zeta Tau Alpha, who recommended that they be continued. The committee then assumed that they should be continued.

Y Office . . . Maybe!

The YMCA office, under the administration of executive secretary Russ Walker, may house the files in their office in the Student Union.

Under the new president, Dave Roberts, Walker said, a committee may be appointed to administer them, keep them up to date and complete them.

All that remains now is the official approval of the new senate, at its first meeting May 12.

The committee will recommend that the files be abandoned as an ASUO project and that the YMCA be given the files to administer as they see fit.

This is the end of the Oregon honor code. The system was abandoned, all but the test files portion, fall term because of lack of student interest.
