

Ducks Clobber Pilots As Ross Runs Rampant

By Buzz Nelson

Leftfielder Jerry Ross smacked two home runs and made a circus outfield catch to pace Oregon to a 9-0 win over Portland university on Howe field Tuesday.

Webfoot Coach Don Kirsch used three pitchers—John Lundell, Bill Garner and Pete Williams—each for a three inning stint, and they combined effectively for a seven-hit shutout.

Ross's first homer came in the first with the bases loaded and two out. John Keller opened the inning with a hit through the box, and Jim Johnson, who like Ross hit three-for-four, moved him up with a bunt single.

A Grand Slam

George Shaw and Dick Schlosstein went out, but Williams drew a walk. Ross then slammed a long drive over the bank in left field for a grand slam.

The game rocked along at 4-0 until the seventh when Oregon added a run on Ken Bond's single, a hit by Keller, and Johnson's sacrifice fly.

The Ducks tallied four times in the eighth for the final 9-0 score. Williams led off with an infield single and Ross then parked another homer over the left-center bank. Norm Forbes fled out, but Marlett singled to center. Bond and Keller both got life on errors, Marlett scoring.

RBI for Johnson

Johnson then singled to center to score Keller, who had moved to second on a steal. Shaw walked, but Schlosstein fled out to end the inning.

Ross and Johnson each smacked out three hits, and Ross had six runs batted in to total 14 for the season, high for the Oregon team. In the Portland ninth he made a brilliant catch of Len Farrell's long fly to left. Ross caught the ball at the top of the bank and rolled down it part way but held on to the horsehide.

The Oregon pitching was good, with Garner turning in the best three inning stint. The junior lefthander set nine batters down in order. None of the pitchers issued a walk.

Double Plays

Besides the fine outfield play of Ross and Shaw, the infield came up with three snappy plays. Catcher Neal Marlett made good catches on two foul balls, and caught a runner off first base.

Oregon Net Teams Get Two Triumphs

A rare sunny day brought forth tennis matches for both the varsity and freshman squads Tuesday, and both of Hilbert Lee's teams came away with victories. The Ducks edged Reed college by a 4-3 count and the Frosh team blanked Eugene high, 8-0.

The varsity squad will face the Oregon Medical school team in a Portland match today en route to Moscow for a weekend match with the Idaho Vandals.

Despite the two top singles players for the Ducks losing their matches, the match went to the Webfoots. Jack Elmore of the Griffins upset Bob Baker, 6-1, 6-4, and Tom Kirsch upended Oregon ace Ron Carlson, 6-1, 6-4.

But three wins by the bottom trio of Oregon singles men helped insure the victory. Dick Gray of the Ducks defeated Reed's Glen Wilcox, 6-2, 2-6, 6-3; Dick Hamilton took Dana Bramel, 6-2, 7-5; and sophomore Jim Larpenteur saw his first action of the season in trouncing Reed's John Colgrove 6-1, 6-4.

Kirsch and Wilcox of the losers teamed to defeat Baker and Carlson in one doubles match by a 5-7, 8-6, 7-5 score, but Gray and Hamilton came back to edge Elmore and Bramel 7-9, 8-6, 6-3 for the final win.

The Frosh took every match from the Axemen, with number one singles man Stan Kalapus beating Eugene's highly-regarded Chuck Harvey, 6-0, 6-1. In other singles events, Marv Woods whipped Chuck Hale, 7-5, 6-1; Stewart Jones topped Levi Smith, 6-0, 6-1; Phil Lowthian won from Bruce Finlayson, 6-1, 6-2; Bill Goodwin outlasted Jerry Wilson, 6-4, 6-6, 9-7, and Don Robinson downed Larry Cowan, 6-2, 6-0.

In doubles it was Jones and Kalapus defeating Harvey and Smith, 6-3, 6-1, while Woods and Lowthian beat Hale and Finlayson, 6-4, 7-5.

Frosh Competing By Telegraph In Cinder Meet

Oregon's Freshman track and field team is scheduled to vie in a telegraphic meet with the Washington State Cougar Cubs today at 3:00 p.m. on Hayward field.

Each team will compete on its home track at the same time. After each team's events have been completed, each squad will send the times and the distances of each competitor to the rival team. Points will be computed in relationship to the times recorded.

Although Jack Morris, ace sprinter and low hurdler, will miss action due to spring football practice, Burt Williams and Tommy Midgley form a strong entry in the 100-yard dash, Bob Rogers will run the 220 and Don Steen and Bob Reaves should produce points in the low hurdles. Sam Whitney, versatile athlete, will run the high hurdles along with Steen. Whitney will round out the afternoon by broad jumping and also competing in his specialty, the pole vault.

In the middle distance events, Bob Drynan will carry the Webfoot's chief hopes with possible backing from ex-Medford star Burt Williams. Don Meskimen will handle the reigns in the mile and two mile events.

In the field events, Paul Tucharadt will throw the discus, Bob Cook, Ted Tenney, and Kerry Livingston will high jump and Steen will throw the javelin.

Tribe Tops Yanks To Retain Margin

The Cleveland Indians hurled back the New York Yankees, 7-4, in their first face-to-face meeting of the season Tuesday night and held their slender half-game American league lead over the pressing Detroit Tigers.

Meanwhile the surprising Tigers whipped the Boston Red Sox, 4-2, in an afternoon game at Detroit on Al Kaline's two-run homer in the fifth.

The Brooklyn Dodgers took a rest from their terrific pace in the National league along with St. Louis while the other two top contenders were badly beaten in shutouts.

The champion New York Giants were blanked by Bob Rush of the Chicago Cubs, 6-0, at the Polo Grounds, and the Milwaukee Braves were whitewashed, 4-0, by Pittsburgh's Dick Littlefield, stretching the Braves' number of scoreless innings to 22.

In the only other National league game, the Cincinnati Redlegs whipped the Philadelphia Phils, 7-5, with big Ted Kluszewski getting his sixth and seventh home runs of the season.

In the only other American game, Chicago defeated the Washington Senators on the timely relief pitching of Dick Donovan and Sandy Consuegra, 5-3.

Cockell Thinks Rocky Looks 'Easy to Hit'

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (AP)—Challenger Don Cockell floored a sparring partner Tuesday and later, looking at films of Rocky Marciano's first fight with Joe Walcott, remarked that the champion "looks easy to hit."

Cockell tangles with Marciano for the heavyweight crown on May 16 in an outdoor bout in San Francisco's Kezar Stadium. "I'm sure I can outpoint Rocky and win the title," the pudgy Britisher declared. "I might knock him out, at least cut him up, and win."

Earlier Cockell decked spartan Grant Butcher with a left hook to the jaw. It was the first knockdown Cockell has registered in 212 rounds of sparring in preparation for the title bout.

WILDLIFE Lines

By Phil White
Emerald Sports Writer

Shall we allow the continuation of the abuse to Oregon's natural resources, abuse that will eventually produce an area of dust, desolation and death? This is a question that should be given some thought by every student. The history of the United States as a whole has been a story of uncontrolled exploitation of natural resources with little thought as to what would be left for future use.

Governor Patterson has declared this week as Oregon conservation week. This is not a week designed to get everyone in the state out planting trees in the burned-over areas or planting cover for wildlife. Rather, this is a week designed to awaken the residents of the state and let them realize that conservation is everybody's business.

When natural resources disappear, animal, and consequently human, life vanishes from the scene shortly afterwards. For that reason, conservation is everyone's responsibility.

Oregon Wildlife Abundant

Conservation week is designed to bring to the attention of all Oregonians the need for wise use of our abundant natural resources. Oregon is rich in wildlife, minerals, forests and water, but only through constant interest and work by everyone can it remain that way. Our survival is dependent on wise use.

All you need to do is to live the conservation pledge. "I give my pledge as an Oregonian to save and faithfully to defend from waste the natural resources of my state... its soil and minerals, its forests, waters and wildlife."

While we're on this subject of conservation, let's see how it applies to the trout season which just opened. Oregon fishermen are a fortunate lot, for Oregon, unlike many other states, still has miles of unpolluted streams and clear mountain lakes. Also, because of the nature of the state, the variety of fish offered the angler here is as wide as in any state of the Union.

Law-Breakers Wreck Fishing

Whether this fishing continues, depends largely upon the Isaac Waltons themselves. Past acts of vandalism and disrespect for the rights of others have closed segments of Oregon's fishing waters to the general public. Disregard for the regulations as set up by the Game Commission also jeopardizes future fishing.

Since fishing is one of our resources which can be continued indefinitely if properly managed, why should we spoil our future generations chances to enjoy the sport by a few selfish acts.

Yes, trout season for this year is here. When you're out fishing, take time to meditate and remember future fishing depends on your conduct. You hold the key to future fishing. Respect for regulations and the rights of others will unlock the door for years to come.
