

Elston Talks on Faust At Wednesday Lecture

"Faust longs for that which is infinitely possible and that is why he is forever discontent," said Dr. Arnold Elston, associate professor of music, in the browsing room lecture Wednesday night in the Student Union browsing room.

He said that "Don Juan has a consuming physical desire. Society is the only thing which stands in his way. He is a seducer first and last. He is no champanion of morality, but is plainly immoral and wholly human."

Elston said in his lecture, entitled "Mozart's and Da Pont's Opera-Don Giovanni" that the music is only one part of the opera of which there are four sections. Don Giovanni has no depth or intensity in his repentant feelings.

He has no feeling for the human lot of others, Elston said. The last scene in the opera, which seems flat at first, points up the death scene that precedes it.

Before coming to Oregon in 1941, Elston taught at City college in New York, Vassar and Radcliffe.

Housing Lists Posted For Mother's Weekend

Housing lists are now posted in all the living organizations according to Jim Carter and Dick Allen, housing chairmen for Mother's Weekend.

Students are urged to write their mothers immediately so that they can make reservations as soon as possible.

Tickets are still available for the Mother's Weekend breakfast to be held May 14 in the Student Union ballroom from 8:30 to 10:30. They are priced at $1.25 each.

The breakfast is to be for mothers only. It is the only time that they will have a chance to get together for a general business meeting in which officers for the year will be elected.

During the Junior Prom the balcony will be available to mothers. Refreshments will be served to the mothers there.

Flying speeches will continue Monday and Tuesday night, according to Joan Rainville and Sue Ramsby, who are in charge of the flying speeches. These speeches will emphasize the Mother's Weekend breakfast.

New York Philharmonic Will Perform Friday

The New York Philharmonic Orchestra will play Friday at 8 p.m. at a Civic Music association concert at McArthur court. Conducting will be done by Dimitri Mitropoulos and Guido Cantelli.

The appearance of the orchestra will be the last concert of the season.

Student body cards and CMA tickets will admit students and members of the association. No tickets will be sold at the door.

Started in 1842
The orchestra, which has been in existence since 1842, is in a five-week cross-country tour. This is the first such tour the group has taken in 34 years.

The program will feature Mendelssohn's "Overture to the Wedding of Comacho," Brahms' "Symphony No. 2 in D Major" and Prokofieff's "Symphony No. 5 in E Flat."

100th Birthday

In 1942 the musical organization celebrated its 100th birthday with a series of concerts directed by several distinguished conductors in the country.

Mitropoulos, musical director of the orchestra, was appointed conductor of the Philharmonic in 1950. He was associated with the Minneapolis Symphony from 1937 to 1949.

Cantelli, who is sharing conducting honors, has appeared with the orchestra as guest conductor for the past three seasons.

Oregon has had three NCAA individual champions in track since Bill Bowerman came to coach the Ducks in 1949. Bill Dellinger ran the mile in 4:13.8 last year as the third national winner for the Ducks in six years.

Architecture Students Get 'Fete' Assignment

The University architecture students were given a spring term sketch problem last week which created further interest in the coming Canoe Fete.

The assignment was given to architectural design students by R. R. Ferens, associate professor of architecture. It appeared as follows:

The Design of a float for the Canoe Fete

Introduction'

There is now enough water in the new Mill Race To revive the tradition of The old Canoe Fete

Of the Anchorage Cafe there is no trace And we are all aware of The slow water rate.

But this year it's been decided to face The fact that the dry land floats Were a sorry state.

So with the grounds prepared with ample space There is no longer any excuse To ponder and wait.

The theme title suggests a passive pace "As I Sit and Dream at Evening" Offers much to relate.

Problem

So fellas and gals, here is your chance to do A water transported float That is quiet and smooth.

Empty oil drums have replaced the canoe And a 8x16 platform hooked to a tow line Make them all level and move.

The Fete will be held in the evening and for you

Who are too young to know This is really solid and groove.

External lighting is provided so no payment is due But how the floats might look Is for you to consider and prove.

Presentation

So get out your materials and in model form Make a replica expression Of how a float should be.

One inch to the foot scale you should conform But some might like to wish This should be left free.

From the static appearance that has been the norm We are hoping you will deviate Farther than stars from we.

Review

This sketch problem is being issued at noon today With the intention your solutions Will be submitted by one May third.

The review shall differ from the usual way Because it will be held in the evening Around 7:30 to be preferred.

Even with the many proposals each should have a say And with all the points to consider We hope it can be heard.

Addendum

A strange program this may be And no poet am I me But we can as you see Offer all of you variety.

The students built their model floats and held a miniature Canoe Fete. Some of the floats will be displayed in the Student Union.
