

'So Beats My Heart': 1935

ONE FLOAT FROM THE 1935 CANOE FETE was entitled "So Beats My Heart For You." The theme of the fete that year was "Floats of Songs." Bing Crosby offered a prize for the winning float in 1935, but the prize is unknown.

Six of Thirteen Floats in Canoe Fete to Receive New Trophies

Saturday night living organizations will compete for the coveted first place Canoe Fete trophy, the first trophy to be awarded in 14 years.

Thirteen floats will be judged on colorfulness, quality of workmanship, interpretation of the theme, audience acceptance and design. Each house in the top three pairings will receive a trophy.

In past years three women's houses have copped first prize either alone or when paired with a men's house. Chi Omega won first in 1917, 1918, and again in 1920. Kappa Alpha Theta took first honors in 1916, 1919 and 1930. Delta Delta Delta placed first in 1923, 1930 and 1931.

ATO First Winner

First records of the winner of the Canoe Fete appeared in the 1915 Emerald. Alpha Tau Omega placed first.

Winner or winners of the first place award from 1916 through the last Fete in 1941 are as follows: 1916, Kappa Alpha Theta; 1917, Chi Omega; 1918, Chi Omega; 1919, Kappa Alpha Theta; 1920, Chi Omega; 1921, Kappa Kappa Gamma; 1922, Pi Beta Phi and Phi Sigma Pi; 1923, Delta Delta Delta and Kappa Delta Phi; 1924, Delta Omega and Kappa Sigma; 1925, Alpha Gamma Delta and Sigma Pi Tau; 1926, Kappa Omicron and Sigma Pi Tau (artistic), Alpha Xi Delta and Kappa Sigma (humorous); 1928, no record of the winners.

More Winners

1929, Alpha Gamma Delta and Alpha hall; 1930, Delta Delta Delta and Sigma Pi Tau; 1931, Delta Delta Delta and Sherry Ross hall; 1932, Kappa Kappa Gamma and Omega hall; 1933, Gamma Phi Beta and Sigma Nu; 1934, Sigma Kappa and Phi Sigma Kappa; 1935, no record; 1936, Alpha Theta Pi and Theta Chi; 1937, Kappa Sigma and Alpha Gamma Delta; 1938, Kappa Alpha Theta and Sigma Alpha Mu; 1939, Theta Chi and Alpha Gamma Delta; 1940, Alpha Phi and Delta Tau Delta; 1941, a tie between Alpha Delta Pi and Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Delta Gamma and Alpha Tau Omega.

Vandals Hurt Float Barge

Weekend vandals attacked one of the Canoe Fete barges in the Millrace, sawed it in half and took part of the barge up the race toward the intake.

According to Bob Schooling, Fete co-chairman, the barge had been dragged over embankments and left upstream near the intake.

"I don't think the vandals were kids," Schooling said, "because it took eight men to bring it back down."

The damaged barge was repaired Monday afternoon by the physical plant employees. Repair costs amounted to approximately $15.

All night guards have been assigned to watch the floats until Saturday night.

Art Student Gets Award for Study

Willard Martin, junior in art, is the recipient of the Ion Lewis scholarship for summer-session study at the Fontainebleau Fine Arts school in Paris, France.

Martin is a veteran and entered the University in 1952. He was with the Air Force in the art and graphics department at Scott field.

His water-color work has been displayed at several shows and won honorable mention at the Good Design show in St. Louis, Missouri.

Chairmen Now Sought to Head Next Year's RE Week Committees

Members of next winter term's Religious Evaluation week executive committee are Inga Shipstead, Donna Lou Douglas and Jean Sandine, according to Bill Swenson, general chairman.

Miss Shipstead will serve as vice-chairman, and Miss Douglas and Miss Sandine are secretary and treasurer, respectively.

Petitions for membership and chairmanship of subcommittees are now being called and will be due Monday at 5 p.m. in the ASUO petition box.

Committees and their duties are:

Assembly, to arrange afternoon and evening assemblies; Book display and sales, to set up displays in the Co-op and Student Union and sell books.

Classroom, to arrange for speakers in classes; Fireside, to arrange for firesides in living organizations; Finances, to serve as a functioning body for the treasurer.

Faculty Luncheons

Faculty luncheons, to plan these daily events at the faculty club; Hospitality, to arrange for rooms, meals and transportation of the speakers while they are in town.

Publicity, to provide stories for Portland and Eugene papers and the Emerald; Promotion, to furnish the week's program and serve as a public relations group with the campus and Eugene organizations.

Personnel conferences, to arrange for individual conference-

Weekend Tickets Sold at SU, Co-op

Tickets for Junior Weekend activities are now on sale in the Student Union, Co-op and campus living organizations, according to Bud Hinkson, general chairman of the weekend.

Only luncheon and prom tickets are on sale at the living organizations. Traditionally houses purchase luncheon tickets for their members and do not serve lunch Saturday.

Tickets available include Canoe Fete, 50 cents for ground seats and $1.25 for bleachers; prom, $2 per couple; all-campus sing, 85 cents; all-campus luncheon, 45 cents, and mother's breakfast, $1.25.

The luncheon rate is five cents lower than that charged in previous years, since the juniors obtained a lower rate on the food contract. More food will also be available for each person.

Events of the weekend start Wednesday with the annual tug-of-war behind the Kappa Sigma house at 3:30 p.m. It will be the brawn of the freshmen against the brains of the sophomores in this opening event.

Thursday activities include the all-campus cleanup and the terrace dance. Friday's highlight will be the Junior Prom. On Saturday, the mothers will attend a breakfast, followed by the all-campus luncheon at 11:45 a.m. on the old campus, a tea at Gerlinger hall and the day's climax, the Canoe Fete at 8 p.m. Sunday afternoon's schedule includes the all-campus sing at 2:30 p.m.

Weekend Rules To Be Enforced

Green ribbons dotted the campus Monday as freshmen began observance of the Oregon traditions during the week preceding Junior Weekend.

This year, enforcement of the traditions will be handled by the living organizations, Order of the O President Bob Reid has announced.

The tradition observance will accompany events of the week. Wednesday, underclassmen will battle in the annual tug-of-war across the Millrace and Saturday they will paint the "O" on Skinner's Butte by the traditional seat-of-the-pants method. They will also clean the Oregon Seal and trophies Saturday.

Regulations to be enforced this week include:

1. No walking on the lawns.
2. Greet everyone you meet on the "Hello" walk, leading to the Student Union.
3. No walking on the Oregon seal.
4. Freshmen women must wear green ribbons.
5. Freshmen men must wear rooster's lids.
6. No cords may be worn by underclassmen.

Names of violators will be taken by Order of the O members and lists will be sent to the living organizations, which may punish the violators as they see fit.

Two o'Clock Closing Hours Set for Prom

Two o'clock closing hours will be in effect Friday evening, Junior Prom night, according to Donald M. DuShane, assistant dean of men.

The formal dance, "Stream of Dreams," will be held in McArthur court from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. Tickets went on sale yesterday in the Student Union and the Co-op. Junior Weekend representatives in all the living organizations will handle sales in the houses. Tickets for the dance are $2.

The queen's throne and the bandstand will be depicted as floats in the canoe fete.

During intermission, the Queen of the Junior Weekend will be announced. She will be crowned by President O. Meredith Wilson. Also during intermission the Gerlinger and Koyl cups, annually awarded to the most outstanding Junior woman and man, will be presented.

This year, a new cup will be added. The Higdon cup will be presented to the sophomore man who best combines athletics, scholarships and achievements. The trophy is awarded by Druids, Skull and Dagger and Order of the O in honor of Doyle Higdon who was killed last summer. Mrs. Higdon, Doyle's mother, will present the cup.

As the last feature of intermission, Druids, junior men's honorary, will tap new members.
