

Annual 'Tug of War' Today Between Frosh, Sophomores

Freshman and sophomore classes must each have 25 men to participate in the annual tug-of-war, to be held today at 3:30 p.m. behind the Kappa Sigma house.

If the freshman men win they will not have to wear beanies for the remainder of the week, according to Bob Reid, president of Order of the O.

Saturday morning activities for freshman men include cleaning trophies, scrubbing the Oregon seal, and painting the 'O' on Skinner's Butte, Reid stated.

One freshman representative from each living organization on campus must participate in the trophy-cleaning and seal-scrubbing, which will be held at 9 a.m. Saturday.

The Oregon O will be painted by all freshman numeral winners, and this will also be at 9 a.m. Saturday, Reid said.

Three additional traditions, not included in the former list, include no smoking on old campus, and the fact that only seniors may sit on senior benches during the weekend.

An old tradition, revived this year after not being used for 14 years, is that of freshman men calling all upperclassmen "sir."

'Singers' Concert Will Be Tonight

The University Singers, under the leadership of Max Risinger, and accompanied by pianist Rosalie Blickenstaff, will present a concert in the Student Union ballroom this evening at 8:15.

The first numbers will be "Gloria in Excelsis Deo," by Bach; "Kyrie Eleison," by Dietrich; "The Omnipotence," by Schubert, and "O Lord God," by Tschernokoff. Ann Stearns, soprano will be featured soloist on "The Omnipotence."

The Madrigal Singers will then sing several selections, including "Sing We and Chant It," by Morley; "Adieu, Sweet Amaryllis," by Wilbye, and "Down In a Flowery Vale," by Festa. They will also sing Gibbons' "The Silver Swan," Billings' "A Virgin Unspotted" and Kubik's "Scherzo on a Well Known Tune."

The University Singers then will sing "Che Faro Seya Euridice," from "Orfeo," by Gluck; Levitzki's "Do You Remember," and "When We Were Young," by Wolf, in which Audrey Mistretta, contralto, will be soloist.

Workshop to Perform

The University Opera workshop will perform two numbers, The Sextet from "Lucia di Lammermoor," by Donizetti, and The Quartet from "Rigoletto," by Verdi.

The songs, "The Winging Souls," by Warrell; six numbers from Picket's "Sea Charm," "Yonder, Yonder," arranged by Gaines, in which tenor John Mosley will solo, and "Rocka My Soul," will conclude the program.

The program is being co-sponsored by the school of music and the Erb Memorial Union.

Program Sale Begins Today

Special Junior Weekend souvenir programs will go on sale today at the Co-op, Student Union main desk and the First National Bank downtown. Price of the pictorials is 25 cents.

Included in the program is a schedule of all of the weekend events, plus feature articles on the Canoe Fete, Junior Weekend and Mother's weekend. Pictures and interviews of the Junior Weekend court are also in the program, along with short articles and pictures of the activities.

The cover of the program features a picture of the Millrace as it is today from the lawn of one of the living organizations.

Editor of the booklet was Sally Ryan, junior in journalism. Conrad Larsen, sophomore in education, served as business manager.

Rally Board Approves Frosh Squad Next Year

The rally board voted yesterday to have a freshman rally squad next year, to be composed of representatives of the dorms. elected next year by popular vote. They will lead yells and dance at the freshman football and basketball games.

Next year's varsity rally squad, which will be picked next week, will continue leading at the varsity games.

Browsing Room to Feature Byron Lecture Tonight

"Lord Byron: Champion of Freedom" will be the subject of tonight's browsing room lecture held at 7:30 in the browsing room of the Student Union.

P. G. Trueblood, visiting professor of English and one of the leading authorities on Byron, will give the lecture. E. G. Moll, professor of English, will act as discussion leader.

Trueblood's lecture will be composed of excerpts of his recently-completed book of the same title. This is his second book on Byron, the first being published in 1945 and entitled "The Flowering of Byron's Genius."

Shows Parallel

In the lecture Trueblood will show the parallel which exists between the present post-war period and the post-Napoleonic war period of Byron's time. Many of the essential problems are the same.

Trueblood was recently appointed to the head of the department of English at Willamette university and will start there next fall. Previous to this year, he taught at the University of Washington and has been a Fellow of the American Council of Learned Societies.

While a Fellow, Trueblood did much of the research for his present book at California and Stanford universities. At Stanford he worked in the Huntington library.

ASUO Banquet Planned Tonight

The annual ASUO inauguration banquet will be held today at 6 p.m. in the Student Union.

E. S. Wengert, head of the political science department, will speak on "Preparing for the Politics of Tomorrow."

Donald DuShane, director of student affairs, will speak in "Reflections on Student Participation in the Administration of the University."

This year, for the first time, there will be a presentation of an award to the outstanding senate member for the year. In addition, each member of this year's senate will receive the traditional key.

There will also be a presentation of senators-elect, with oath of office to be administered by DuShane.

Students Must Apply For Bachelor Degrees

Students who will graduate in June must apply for their degree by Friday at the registrar's office.

Many students are not aware that application must be made for a degree before graduation. The registrar's office is particularly concerned with Bachelor degree candidates, but will also take higher degree applications.

Francqui Prize Winner, Prigogine, Will Lecture

I. Prigogine, professor at the University of Brussels and winner of the Francqui Prize for physics in Belgium, will deliver a University lecture on "New Aspects of the Thermodynamics of Irreversible Processes" Thursday at 8 p.m. in the Dads Lounge in the Student Union.

Prigogine is one of the main contributors to the field of thermodynamics of irreversible processes and has been an important contributor to other fields of chemistry and physics.

Chemistry Professor

A professor of theoretical subjects in chemistry, Prigogine is currently on a lecture tour in the United States. He was a visit-lecturer at Harvard during the fall semester of 1954.

He is frequently invited to lecture in foreign countries, and has lectured in British universities, in India, Israel and Paris.

In 1953 Prigogine was one of the few invited contributors to a conference on the fundamentals of theoretical physics in Japan. He is a member of the Royal Academy of Sciences in Belgium.

A coffee hour and reception will be held in the Dads Room after the lecture for Prigogine and Norman Davidson, visiting professor of chemistry from the California Institute of Technology.

Prigogine will take part in various seminars and discussions in the chemistry department this week.
