

Emerald Trophy Goes to Williams

Pete Williams, Oregon baseball co-captain and four-year letterman, became the fifth winner of the annual Emerald Athletic award Saturday night.

The outstanding student and athlete was presented the award by Leo Harris, Oregon director of athletics, at the all-campus sing in McArthur court. Williams was chosen for his excellence in athletics, scholarship and citizenship out of an original field of 35 senior athletes.

Many Make Grades

Harris said he believed Williams was an outstanding winner of the award and pointed out that 14—nearly half—of the nominees had met the grade requirements of a 2.5 on 150 hours of work. Six of the group had over a 3.0 average through winter term.

Williams became the second baseball player to get the award in its five-year history. Jim Livesay, outstanding Duck outfielder, won the award two years ago. Other winners were Jack Keller, 1951; Jack Hutchins, 1952, and Ron Lowell, 1954.

Winners Captains Team

A leader in sports, scholarship and activities, Williams has been the regular third-baseman for Coach Don Kirsch's baseball teams since he was a freshman. He was a Northern Division all-star choice in 1953 and 1954 and captain of last year's Webfoot NCAA District Eight champions. This season he is co-captain of the team and is currently hitting over the .300 mark. In school work the new Emerald trophy-holder has a 3.61 GPA and has been named one of the two most outstanding students in the school of business administration. Williams was president of inter-fraternity council and has been president of Druids as well as attaining many other honors.

OSC Ties Ducks As ND Golfers End Dual Meets

FINAL NORTHERN DIVISION GOLF STANDINGS

	W	L	T	Pct.
Idaho	4	1	0	.800
Washington	3	1	0	.750
Oregon	3	1	1	.700
Oregon State	0	3	2	.200
Washington State	0	4	1	.100

An improved Oregon State golf team staved off an Oregon win for the first time since 1950 Friday when the Beavers and Ducks battled to a 13½-13½ tie at Corvallis.

It was the first time in nine matches between the rivals that Oregon had not won the conference dual. The last time Oregon State came through to victory was in the final match of the year in 1950 when Walker Cupper Dick Yost was playing for the Orangemen.

The defeat dumped Oregon into third place in final conference dual-match standings, the lowest finish for a Duck team since Coach Sid Milligan took over in 1947. The Webfoots had previously won six straight league titles.

A combination of bad weather over the tricky Corvallis country club course and some hot shooting by OSC's top men earned the Beavers a tie with the strong Ducks. Coach Jim Barrett's team took a 5½-3½ lead in the morning best-ball play and then held Oregon to a 10-8 margin in the singles.

Oregon State's Jerry Cloninger and Bob Donnelly fired a hot 67 best-ball round, including three birdies on the first four holes, to take 2½ points from Oregon's top duo of Neil Dwyer and Don Bick. In other best-ball play Ducks Chuck Huggins and Barry Ott lost to Ray Lindquist and Larry Trogen while Bob Takano and Bob Norquist took all three points from Beavers Neils Reimers and Al Wood.

In singles play the two teams split almost evenly between the upper and lower three men. Five of the matches were sweeps with Cloninger taking two out of three from Dwyer with a 72 to the Duck capt's 73 for the only break-through.

Bick shot a 76 and lost to Donnelly, who had a 73, while Lindquist's 76 was good enough to beat Huggins' 78. Ott, with a 76, Takano, 80, and Norquist, 75, took all three points in their matches with Trogen, 77, Reimers, 85, and Wood, 82.

Final action for the Webfoot team will come this weekend at Moscow where Oregon will defend its conference tournament championship. Any of four teams could take the title with only WSC not a threat. Milligan has indicated he will take Dwyer, Ott, Norquist and either Huggins or Takano to the meet.

Spring Workouts End As Whites Win, 36-0

A cold rain hampered Spring Sports day Saturday but it didn't stop Tom Crabtree from leading Oregon's first-string football team to a 36-0 victory over the reserves in the windup session of spring workouts.

Crabtree, the converted junior halfback, passed for two touchdowns and set up another in leading the White team to the win over the Greens. Coach Len Casanova expressed pleasure over the whole scrimmage as Dick James, only returning backfield starter for Oregon; Fred Miklancic, hefty transfer from Boise junior college, and Jim Shanley, up from the Frosh, all looked impressive in the backfield for the White squad.

The Whites scored first on a

45-yard pass from Crabtree to Shanley, which was preceded by a 12-yard gallop by James. Shortly afterwards the Crabtree-to-Shanley combination clicked, again when a 31-yard completion set up a speedy 18-yard TD run by Jack Morris, the freshman air force veteran.

A second backfield of Miklancic, Leroy Phelps, another Frosh star of last fall, and Chuck Osborne, a transfer from Menlo JC, then took over and went 55 yards for a third score. Osborne capped the drive with a 10-yard scoring jaunt.

Not long afterwards James got another push underway with a 30-yard runback of a punt. Morris contributed several good gains until Crabtree hit George Slender, another Oregon transfer prize from Santa Rosa JC, with a 25-yard TD pass.

The last two scores were directed by Wally Russell, originally the Green starter at quarterback. John Woyat and Miklancic exchanged short gains on one drive, with Russell taking the slippery ball the final five yards. The running of Jack Brown, a transfer from East Contra Costa JC, set up the final score, which was also made by Russell on an eight-yard dash.

Frosh Top Rooks In Baseball Clash

Bob Basich's Frosh baseball nine found "unlucky" number 13 to their liking as they trounced the Oregon State Rooks 13-0 in a rain-spattered game on Friday the 13th.

A game scheduled for Saturday afternoon in Corvallis was postponed by rain and will be made up today on the Rook diamond.

Frosh hitters found OSC pitching good and fat as they pounded out 12 hits, including four home runs. Right-hander Don Delbon went the full nine-inning distance as he chalked up his second win on a neat four-hitter.

Jerry Urness pasted a three-run homer to lead the Ducklings to a five-run first inning and fattened his average with another home run and a single in five trips. Shortstop Jim Pifher had a three-for-four day.

Urness, standout for The Dalles high last year, provided the scoring punch for the next Duckling outbreak in the second inning. The speedy centerfielder singled to left, scoring Pifher and Jerry Waldrop.

Duck Tracks

By Chuck Mitchelmore
Emerald Co-Sports Editor

With any more weekends like the Webfoot track, tennis and golf teams enjoyed last Friday and Saturday, Oregon's spring sports squads might as well wait until summer.

The Duck netmen just got rained out until Tuesday, but a wet Corvallis Country club might be blamed for costing the golfers a tie for first place in the Northern Division.

Oregon State's divoters surprised the Ducks by tying them, and Idaho, sure of a tie with the Webfoots before, swept to its first ND spring sports championship.

Weather Hurts Times

Rain hasn't hurt the Webfoot cinder squad so seriously. Saturday it didn't hurt their scoring appreciably in their ND dual with Oregon State, but ran and sloppy tracks have slowed performances, both at the Hayward field meets and on trips.

Oregon field superintendent Mike Steddum has a big job ahead of him in shaping up the cinders and turf of Hayward field for the Pacific Coast conference meet just two weeks away. Another session of rain before the big one would be most disappointing to fans who are anticipating seeing the top trackmen of the coast in some highly-touted competition.

In addition to turning in several very good performances despite unfavorable conditions, Bill Bowerman's tracksters gave a fashion show in hat styles for the rain-soaked young runners Saturday.

Ducks Model Chapeaus

Fans are already well familiar with Ken Reiser's green fatigue hat, but the weekend rain brought out some less-often seen models on Duck sprinters' heads.

Gordon Dahlquist and LeRoy Campbell favor the straight yellow rain hats—Dashquist's with the brim worn completely flat and Campbell's with a businessman-shaped brim. Bruce Springbett cut a dashing figure before the dashes in his white Pan-American games hat, a flashy Panama liberally perforated for comfort in the heat of Mexico.

Of course Tex Whiteman, who chased Bailey and Delinger in the mile Saturday, kept his head dry with an OSC towel, but the style of the day was that of an anonymous Oregon State track man who wore a plastic sack over his head.
