

Floats Sail Down Millrace For First Time in 14 Years

The "Float of Songs" was built by Sigma Nu, Phi Sigma Kappa and Alpha Delta Pi and took the third place trophies. It featured a music staff background with colored notes and musical instruments all over the float.

The children of the audience especially enjoyed the float, "Babes in Toyland," which featured three "babes" riding a merry-go-round. Red and yellow topped the carousel and the horses were black and white. Alpha Tau Omega, University house and Kappa Kappa Gamma built the float.

The King and Queen of Hearts were holding Alice's trial on the "Alice in Wonderland" float, built by Theta Chi, Delta Zeta and Orides. Cards appeared in the background while standing on the float were the Mad Hatter, the Hare and Alice standing before the King and Queen.

Any wishes could be made as the next float passed by. Aladdin's lamp with a huge geni rising from it portrayed the famous "Arabian Nights" tale. At the base of the gold lamp sat Aladdin with two young maidens.

The highest float in the group was the scroll representing the Bill of Rights built by Delta Tau Delta, Alpha Chi Omega and Delta Upsilon. A Bible in the right hand corner represented freedom of religion.

At the left was a radio microphone representing freedom of speech, and in the lower corner was a pen representing freedom of the press. A solid white background with gold lettering and gold edging on the scroll made the float very colorful and impressive.

The last competitive float went down the race to the strains of "School Days" as it portrayed the problem new freshmen at the University must face. A large green dragon, grinning from ear to ear, wore a graduation cap and a bright red tie as he looked at the blackboard which had "Welcome Freshmen, English Comp. 111," written on it. Philadelphia house, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Delta Gamma and Rebec house, built the float.

Ripha hall and Delta Delta Delta came through with the comic float which allegedly was entitled "Up the Muddy Millrace." Feature attraction of the float was Len Calvert sitting in a bathtub pulled behind the float. He was bathing in "pure infectious hepatitis" water.

Robin H. Neison, author of the Fete's theme song, presented the trophies to the winning houses.

Campus Leaders To Be Honored

The ASUO cabinet for next year will be announced at the AWS Honors assembly to be held at 1 p.m. Tuesday in the Student Union ballroom.

Bud Hinkson, ASUO president, will act as master of ceremonies at the assembly, the first of its kind to be held on the Oregon campus. The assembly, sponsored by AWS, is designed to honor campus leaders. Leadership awards and scholarships will be announced at this time.

Anyone wishing to make an award at this assembly should contact Jeanne Scales, chairman of the event, at Alpha Chi Omega.
