Army Drill Team Wins Award from Air Squad

The Army ROTC drill team won a unanimous decision over the Air Force in Tuesday afternoon's drill competition for the M-Sgt Walter Ledbetter award.

Led by Herb West, the Army unit looked sharp in all phases of the drill demonstration, particularly in the manual of arms. The losing Air Force team also put on an outstanding performance which can be shown by the fact that none of the three judges gave the Army a large margin of victory in total points.

Drill Highlight

One of the highlights of the drill was a stunt by the Air Force team in which one of their cadets marched out of rank and across the field as if he had not heard a command. The Air Force leader promptly pulled a pistol and shot the cadet (with a blank shell of course) and immediately announced that the squadron would accept petitions for a new drill member.

The Army's win was its first in the competition since the Ledbetter award was established last year. The Air Force was victorious in the first contest.

Master Sergeant Walter Allen is the non-commissioned officer in charge of the Army drill team.

Warrants Issued To Tardy Payers

Local motorists will not be sent warning notices on unpaid traffic tickets after May 21. At that time warrants will be issued for tardy ticket payers, according to Police Chief Vern Hill.

A wanted list for people who have delayed payment on parking tickets will be established. The cars these people own will be impounded until the tickets are paid.

The issuance of a warrant will result in an additional charge of $5 and towing fees on towed cars, Hill said.
