

Division Championship At Stake in OSC Series

Eugene and Corvallis will be the centers of baseball interest in the State of Oregon Friday and Saturday when Oregon and Oregon State clash in two crucial double-headers to decide the Northern Division championship.

Friday's games will be played on Howe's field in Eugene with the starting time set for 1:30 p.m. Coleman field in Corvallis is the site for Saturday's encounters with the same starting time.

Ducks On Top

Oregon is currently perched on top the loop standings with an 8-1 mark while the Beavers are resting in second with 6-2, having lost their last two games to Washington. Thus the Ducks to need only a split in the weekend series to cop the championship. Oregon would be 10-3 while Ralph Coleman's OSC club would finish at 8-4. But if the Beavers should win three, the pennant would go to them.

The four games in two days could prove a real strain on the pitching staff of both teams. Oregon State's hitters were going wild until stopped by the Huskies' Monte Geiger and Bill Reams and Oregon's batting attack has been potent, despite Tuesday's 8-0 loss to the Eugene Emeralds. If the hitters break out again this weekend, the rival coaches may be in sore straits for pitching.

Pitchers to Work

The front line of Oregon pitching is composed of Terry Maddox, Bill Blodgett, Bill Garner, John Lundell and Pete Williams, and all will likely see action before the four game series is over.

Oregon State will depend most heavily on Al Guidotti, Lowell Pearce, Joe Epperle, Lynn Mohler and Dick Wilson. Behind them are Syl Johnson, Jr., Marlin DeHaas, Johnny Frederick and Frank Wuest.

The Beavers have shown real power at bat all season, with All-American first baseman Jay Dean leading the way. They have rolled up such scores as 21-3 over Portland, 16-3 over Idaho (and 24-12 against Washington State.

Helping Dean at bat have been outfielders Phil Fantez, Jerry Exley and Johnny Frederick, infielders Jerry Bettendorf, Bob Buob and Chuck Fisk, and catchers Jack Stephenson and Dan Lovejoy.

Oregon's top Northern Division hitter is Norm Forbes, who is currently socking .667, ahead of Dean's .563. Jim Johnson has the most hits—14 and Dick Schlossstein has batted in 19 runs to top Oregon in that department.

Movie Scheduled On Athletic Injury

A motion picture in color on "Athletic Injuries—Their Prevention and Care," with head trainers of leading universities in all parts of the country demonstrating their skills, will be shown to coaches, trainers and members of athletic teams on Thursday at the university.

Five top trainers reveal some of their secrets and techniques that help keep their teams at peak physical condition by preventing injuries in collegiate sports.

Duke Wyre, head trainer of the University of Maryland, shows his method of caring for a shoulder separation. Texas Aggies' trainer Bill Dayton illustrates how he tapes a knee injury caused by an outside blow, the most common football knee casualty.

Innovations in methods for treatment of hyperextension of knee and elbow are exhibited by Henry Schmidt, head trainer of the Santa Clara Broncos, plus his taping processes for rib, wrist and thumb sprains. Purdue chief trainer Pinsky Nowell covers the care of contusions and bruises frequently sustained in rough action, also his treatments for back injuries and the charley horse.

SEATTLE (AP) — Portland scored three runs in the sixth inning to sew up a Pacific Coast league baseball game Wednesday night, defeating Seattle, 5-2.

The win gave Portland an even split in the two games played thus far in this week's series. It left Seattle in second place in league standings but two and a half games behind first place San Diego.

Duckling Nine Gets Victories

Big innings and tight pitching handed the Oregon Frosh easy victories in their last two outings. An 11-3 win over Albany high school's Bulldogs on Tuesday and a 16-3 rout of the Linfield junior varsity yesterday gave the Ducklings a 6-2 season's record.

The Albany game, played on the Bulldog field, saw the first Frosh injuries of the year as Firstbaseman Dave Wanaka was beamed in his first trip to the plate, causing a concussion, and slugging Shortstop Jim Pifer twisted his ankle in the third inning.

With the Northern Division dual match season now closed, conference tennis teams can look ahead to the five-team tournament at Pullman Friday and Saturday.

Washington's all-winning team captured all four of its matches without the loss of a point, and will be heavily favored to nab the team title decided on an individual place method.

The defeat of Oregon by Irwin Harris' OSC netmen 6-1 Tuesday threw the final standings into a second-place tie between the Beavers and the Ducks. Each team claimed identical 3-2 records.

The Ducks also lost to the Huskies while OSC lost an earlier match to Hilbert Lee's Oregon squad by a 4-3 count.

Favorites in individual roles for the ND tourney will be Bill Quillian and Quyllian Perkins of Washington. Quyllian has won the singles title for three straight years, and has had a share in the doubles crown for the same period. He and Perkins teamed for the win last year.

Other potential winners include Ron Carlson and Bob Baker of Oregon and Norm Merrill of Oregon State.

pital yesterday described Wanaka's condition as "improving."

The Ducklings found no difficulty in getting to Albany pitching, as the first eight men up in the first inning all scored. Singles by Jerry Urness, Pifer, Jerry Waldrop and Jim White; a triple by Ron Creps, and a home run off the bat of catcher Ronnie Dodge, plus a hit batter and an error, gave the Frosh enough to coast on.

Frosh pitchers Don Lane, John McCall and Paul Beck limited the Bulldogs to three singles.

Oregon broke loose for ten big counters in a third-inning barrage at McMinnville. Waldrop opened the inning with a long triple, and when his turn at bat came around again he clouted a home run with two men on.

Creps, Dodge, Dale Dickey and Wimp Hastings contributed singles to the melee, while a hit batter, a walk, and an error did nothing to help the Linfield cause. The Ducklings stacked up a total of 16 hits, and Frosh pitchers scattered seven.

Eugene Game Set

The Frosh are scheduled to scrimmage Eugene high on the Oregon diamond today, with McCall figuring to get the call to start.
