

VETS' NEWS

The veterans' administration office has received several requests the last two weeks as to the number of hours that a veteran must attend summer school in order to be paid on a full-time basis.

Full time attendance for summer school will be 14 or more class hours per week, not term hours.

Those veterans who are contemplating changing courses or who have to make changes should do so now and not wait until fall term.

Veterans should check also on the beneficiary on NSLI policies to be sure the name is the one wanted on the policy.

Officer in charge is Larry Whitson. His office is 208 Hampton building, 610 Willamette.

Archer Elected YD President

Jim Archer, junior in political science, was elected president of the Young Democrats Wednesday night in the Student Union. He replaces Bob Biggs who was temporary president. Arlo Wipf was his opponent.

New vice-president is Bill Frye, third year law student, who will replace his opponent Elliot Carlson. Carole Mohr, junior in business, and Elton Engstrom, sophomore in pre-law, will remain as secretary and treasurer, respectively.

The Young Democrats will hold their last meeting of the year when Howard Morgan speaks before them next week in the Student Union.

Korean Commies Brag of Victory

TOKYO (AP) — Communist North Korea Wednesday asserted its coastal guns repulsed "some 200 armed South Korean boats disguised as fishing craft" off its coast May 7.

While the dates do not coincide, the North Korean broadcast apparently referred to the shelling May 10 of South Korean fishing vessels. Six fishermen were killed. The UN Command in a protest to the Communists called the shelling "cold blooded murder."

Connett Receives Business Award

Russell R. Connett received this year's Beta Gamma Sigma annual award which is presented to a pre-business sophomore for outstanding scholastic attainment.

Previous award winners are Richard Van Allen, Pete Williams and Sylvia Wingard.

Gunman Roughed; Partner Watches

SEATTLE (AP)—When two men held up his grocery store Tuesday night, Henry Woods, 74, jumped on the one with the gun and roughed him up vigorously. The other stood and watched in open-mouthed wonder for a moment and then both ran away.

Asked why he had put up a fight, Woods said, with a twinkle in his eye:

"There was only 21 cents in the till but I knew they would just spend it foolishly."

President Eisenhower Rejects Idea Of America 'Losing' Air Control

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower rejected Wednesday any idea that America may have lost control of the air to Russia.

It is "just not true," Eisenhower said, to say that "we have lost in a twinkling all of this great technical development and technical knowledge as well as the numbers in our total aircraft."

The President spoke up at a news conference at which he also:

Defends Hobby

Defended Secretary of Welfare Hobby's handling of the polio vaccine problem — he said it would be a waste of time to comment on a demand by Sen. Morse (D-Ore) that she be removed for incompetency.

Declared with table-thumping emphasis that he is heading into a Big Four meeting with Russia with "no appeasement in my heart." He said he doesn't believe the American people suspect their government is apt to fall into the appeasement trap.

Neutralized States

Noted that the thought seems to be developing that "there might be built up a series of neutralized states from north to south through Europe." But he said the peace treaty neutralizing Austria doesn't mean "a disarmed Austria" nor "a military blank." That kind of neutrality, of a kind he said Switzerland would fight to the death to protect, "is a far different thing from just a military vacuum."

The air power issue was pegged to a speech in which Sen. Symington (D-Mo), former Air Force secretary, told the Senate Tuesday this country and the free world may have lost control of the air to Russia. Symington called for an investigation to determine the relative strength of Russian and free world forces in all military categories, in the light of flights of new type planes over Moscow early this month.

Anybody Can Control

Eisenhower was asked whether he thinks this country has lost control of the air to Russia.

"As anybody who is experienced in warfare knows," he said, "control of the air is a relative thing, and anybody with a certain amount of air force in action can gain control over a place where he chooses to concentrate his air, and for a given space of time . . . even in the face of quite great general superiority on the other side."

"The Germans did it to us as late as January, 1945."

The chief executive conceded that the United States may not have as many B-52 intercontinental jet bombers "as we should like at this moment."

"I don't know the exact number."

•Stock Market•

NEW YORK (AP) — Heavy demand for aircrafts sent them soaring ahead Wednesday and turned the stock market higher after two days of decline.

Many leading aircraft shares were up between three and five points, and gains of one to three points were frequent in the rest of the market.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up $1.50 at $161.70. On Monday and Tuesday the average lost $2.30 altogether. The industrial component Wednesday gained $2.40, railroads were up $1.40, and utilities remained unchanged.

Business amounted to 2,010,000 shares as compared with 1,900,000 shares traded Tuesday.

ber," he said, "but to say that we have lost in a twinkling all of this great technical development and technical excellence as well as the numbers in our total aircraft is just not true."

There was nothing to clarify whether he meant that the United States has or hasn't lost superiority in number of planes, without being surpassed in quality.
