'Kiss Me Kate' Opens Tonight

"Kiss Me Kate," the Spewack-Porter Broadway musical comedy, will open tonight at the University theater. It will also play Saturday night, and will run May 23 through 28.

Horace Robinson, associate professor of speech, is director of the production, which is the story of the production of the musical version of "Taming of the Shrew," a Shakespeare comedy.

'Kate' Double-Cast

Claire Fry and Mary Lou Teague are double-cast in the leading role, which is the part of Kate, (Lilli.)

Gordon Howard is the tamer

of the shrew, and producer of the 'play within the play.'

Another double-cast part, for which the performers will alternate, is that of Bianca, younger sister of Kate. Gloria Lee and Dalece Peterson will play this role.

Dick Barbour plays the role of Bill Balhoun and Lucentio, the winning suitor for Bianca's hand.

Kate's father, Baptista, is played by John Powell. Bruce Emmons is cast as Lilli's elderly-statemansman suitor, Harrison Howell.

Donna Barrick and Mark Tapscott will play the colored servants to Fred and Lilli, Hatti and Paul.

Two Gunmen

Bill Veatch and Scott Lehner are Bianca's other two suitors, Gremio and Hortensio. Tom Gaines and Bob Chambers are playing the two gunmen who supply most of the comic scenes.

Choreographers and dance directors for the production are John Jensen and Gloria Lee. Pre-production training of the chorus and principals was conducted by M. D. Risinger, assistant professor of music.

Conductor of the chorus and orchestra will be R. G. Cunningham, instructor in woodwinds. Settings were designed by Daniel Krempel, instructor in speech, and built by Howard Ramey, technical director of the theater, and his crew.

AWS Requests Books, Clothes, Other Articles

Students who are looking for a place to discard old books, clothes, and other articles before the end of the term are being asked to donate them to the AWS Rummage sale.

A box for the rummage has been placed in every living organization and a representative has been chosen to supervise collections in each house. The rummage will be picked up Tuesday and will be sold Thursday at the Rummage Center in downtown Eugene.

All proceeds from the sale will go towards AWS scholarships.

Local Mayor Praises Oregon's Canoe Fete

V. E. Johnson, mayor of Eugene, praised Oregon students on the success of the Canoe Fete during the Young Republicans meeting last night. Students have proved their interest in Millrace restoration, Johnson said.

The city council is still investigating ways to improve the flow of water in the Millrace, he said. However, he added that the 'Race could never be restored to its former condition, since the city owns only the water rights.

Johnson, also a state representative from Lane county, spoke to the Young Republicans on the need for aggressive action by Oregon Republicans.

"We will face a much more socialistic type of government if the Republicans do not maintain their leadership," he said. "We must sell Republican candidates to the people."

"We must awaken Republicans in the state to the fact that it is no longer an easy battle to maintain leadership," Johnson said, reminding the meeting of the recent senatorial race, and the fact that the Republicans now hold only a slight majority in the state legislature.

The club also passed a resolution urging Gov. Paul Patterson to run for the United States Senate against Wayne Morse in 1956.

Seven Women Selected For '55-'56 Rally Squad

The rally board last night chose seven rally girls for next year's varsity rally squad.

Sue Ramsby, Frances Heitkemper, Shirley McLean, Joan Palmer, Bobblye Harris and Cindy Randall are the new members of the rally squad.

Sally Jo Greig, a member of this year's squad, was appointed by the board to serve as the organizer and co-ordinator.

Ollie Urbigkeit has been named yell king by the ASUO senate upon recommendation of the rally board. Yell dukes will be named at a later date.

Petitions are now being called for a rally band. Anyone interested in being in or organizing a band of this type, which will feature jazz and Dixieland music, should contact Betty Anderson at Kappa Kappa Gamma for further information.

Noted Lawyer Speaks Tuesday

Thurgood Marshall, noted Negro lawyer and special counsel for the NAACP, will speak at a University assembly at 1 p.m. Tuesday in the SU ballroom.

Marshall, who is the chief legal officer of the NAACP, has appeared in fourteen cases before the U.S. Supreme Court, winning 11 and losing two. He has argued or prepared briefs or all Supreme Court cases affecting the constitutional rights of Negroes since 1938.

In 1951, Marshall went to Japan and Korea to make a first-hand investigation of courts martial cases involving Negro soldiers.

Investigation Of 'Fund' Set

The Inter-fraternity council Thursday night started an investigation of the so-called "Pre-freshman Week Fund" with the avowed aim of getting a rebate from the Office of Student Affairs.

The fund, which is used to pay for the Ore-Nter and for other expenses, is financed by charging a $5 fee to all students who sign up for rushing. IFC is refunded $1 for each rushee and Panhellenic gets $1 for each woman who rushes, plus $1 for each pledge.

Donald M. DuShane, director of student affairs, attended the meeting and explained the history and uses of the fund. He told the group that, in addition to paying for the Ore-Nter, which is listed as a publication of the ASUO, the fund goes to pay part of the salaries of student affairs personnel engaged in fraternity and sorority work.

He also revealed that the fund is being used this year to pay for meals and athletic tickets for high school principals attending "Ex-seniors' Day" here Saturday.

DuShane said "it is useful for the University to have funds available for promotion." State funds cannot be used to promote individual schools.

The investigation of the fund was started earlier this year by Andy Berwick, then president

Saturday Parade Set For Army, AF ROTC

All campus ROTC units will move out for the Armed Forces Day parade at 9:15 Saturday morning after forming and inspection, which begins at 9 in front of the ROTC department.

The Air Force and Army groups will march in the parade, officially to start at 10, with other service units. They will be followed by the Eugene Register-Guard's annual pet parade.

The route of march for the ROTC is west on 13th Ave. to Kincaid, north on Kincaid to 12th, then west on 12th to Ferry street, where they will assemble behind the National Guard.

The units will continue to Mill, turn north to 10th, west on 10th, north on High, west on Broadway, then south on Willamette street to 14th, where the ROTC will turn back to the campus.

The drill teams and ROTC bands will march with the cadets. Marcia Dutcher Jones, voted ROTC Little Colonel at the Military Ball, will lead the Army ROTC, while Pat Leonard, the Air Force's candidate, will lead their units.

Other groups in the military division include the Springfield high school band, Marine Corps Reserve, Eugene high school band, Army Reserve, National Guard, veterans groups, ground observers and civil defense, Gold Star Mothers and other patriotic groups.

First 'Senior Day' Planned Saturday

The University's first annual "Ex-Senior Day" will be held Saturday when principals and representatives of 37 high schools come to the campus to talk with freshmen who were their seniors last year.

This conference, sponsored by the Student Affairs directors, has been carried out in previous years, but on an individual basis with the high schools. Saturday the group will be brought together for student conferences from 8:30 to 11 a.m. and a general discussion from 11:15 to 12.

O. Meredith Wilson, president of the University, will address the delegation at a luncheon in the Student Union.

Freshmen who graduated from the various high schools represented will be contacted before Saturday for appointments to talk with their high school principals about their first year in college, and how high school training benefited or hindered them in various aspects of their college work.

DuShane Quizzed Regarding 'Fund'

A last minute request for an explanation of the $5 rushing fee drew the attention of the ASUO Senate Thursday night. In their first meeting, the new senators heard Donald M. DuShane, director of student affairs, defend the use of rush fees in the pre-freshman week account.

Earlier in the evening DuShane answered similar questions at an Inter-fraternity council meeting.

At the Senate meeting, DuShane reported that the fund is spent for the benefit of the Uni-

ASUO honor code and test files, with a decision to give the responsibility of the test files to the YMCA and to disband the test files committee.

The Senate went on record as trying again for a one-card student body card. The possibility of an all-inclusive IBM card was presented. Sam Vahey, ASUO vice-president, was appointed chairman of the committee. Serving with him will be John Whitty, graduate student representative, and Doug Basham, junior class president.

The rifle team request for $300, referred back to the Senate by the ASUO budget board, was sent to the budget request committee. Whitty was appointed chairman of the committee, along with Brian Booth and Sam Frear.

Rescheduling of Mother's weekend, the All-campus Sing and Dad's weekend may be the result of a special Senate investigating committee. The proposal was made by Kip Wharton, senior class vice-president. Wharton recommended that Junior Weekend be kept strictly for students and that the Sing be combined with Mother's weekend during winter term and Dad's weekend be held during the football season.

The calendar for next year will be made up this summer and adopted at the first meeting of the student affairs committee next fall. Wharton was appointed chairman of a committee to in-
