

CinemaScope, Color Film Will Be Shot Near Bend

Beginning this week near Bend, Bryna Productions, the independent film company of cinema star Kirk Douglas, moves into production on a five-week shooting schedule for the million-dollar CinemaScope and color film, "The Indian Fighter."

Co-starring with Douglas will be Walter Matthau, outstanding young TV actor; Walter Abel, veteran stage and screen star; Lon Chaney, Alan Hale Jr., and others. Making her screen debut as the heroine will be 20-year-old Italian actress Elsa Martinelli.

Bryna Productions will employ about 200 Indians from the Warm Creek reservation, as well as townsfolk from Bend for crowd scenes.

The movie is about an Indian fighter of 1870, who discovers that he has more in common with the Indians than with the whites he is taking across the western plains in a wagon train.

One of the highlights of the movie takes place at the 200-foot square fort, which has been under construction outside of Bend for the past month.

The movie will be released by United Artists about the end of the year.

GUESS WHO GOT THE JOB!

You're right, Frank got it.* You can play it smart, too. Send telegrams to set up job interviews, and get the jump on everybody (including Phi Betes). A telegram makes your message stand out from the rest... gets attention from the man you want to reach. Shows him you're efficient, that you know time is valuable — his and yours. Let Western Union help you with your prospecting. Go after that job BY WIRE.

HEY DROODLE BUGS! HERE'S ANOTHER BATCH!

WHAT'S THIS? For solution see paragraph below.

YOU GET A GOOD CLOSE-UP of college smokers' preference for Luckies in the Droodle at right, captioned: Lucky Strike column in a college cigarette-vending machine. On campuses all over America, college students automatically get Luckies. Why? Simply because Luckies taste better. They taste better, first of all, because Lucky Strike means fine tobacco. Then that tobacco is toasted to taste better. "It's Toasted"—the famous Lucky Strike process—tones up Luckies' good-tasting tobacco to make it taste even better...

cleaner, fresher, smoother. Next time it's light-up time, why don't you pull for Luckies?
