Language Prof Author of Book

Edmund P. Kremer, professor of Germanic languages, is the author of a book of German proverbs and proverbial phrases recently published by the Stanford university press.

Kremer's book is entitled "German Proverbs: And Proverbial Phrases with their English Counterparts." Kremer, who has been preparing this book for the past 12 years, pointed out that these proverbs "help foster an appreciation of the language and culture" of Germany. More than 1500 German language proverbs, reflecting that country's circumstances and daily life, are included.

A native of Germany, Kremer has been on the University faculty since 1928. He has a doctor of laws degree from the University of Frankfurt-am-Main.

Under the Weather

The number of infirmity patients was reduced to four Wednesday, according to hospital records, as only Mary Shafer, David Arnold, John Lincoln, and Birger Brandt remained. Visitors are being permitted.

ROTC Honorary To Hold Meeting

A question and answer session with air science department officers will highlight the first meeting of the Air Command squadron under its new officers tonight at 7 in the Student Union.

Colonel E. B. Daily, head of the military and air science department, and Lt. Col. C. J. Purcell, commandant of cadets, will answer members' questions regarding the AFROTC program.

Also featured will be initiation of a new member, according to Howard Timmons, newly elected president. Other officers of the group, elected at the last meeting, are: Jack McBrien, vice-president; Chuck Mitchelmore, secretary; Bill Cook, treasurer; Art Toyooka, sergeant at arms; Craig Phillips, district commander, and Roger Long, assistant district commander.

Group adviser is Major Lewis Tiffany.
