

Show Features Judy Garland

The Judy Garland show will appear in McArthur court, July 14. The show, designed to feature Miss Garland throughout, has a company of 40 performers including Jerry Gray and his orchestra, comedian Frank Fontaine, the Hi-Lo's singing group and many others.

It is staged by Charles Walters, a leading Hollywood director. Special material and songs were written by Robert Edens, an M-G-M writer.

Miss Garland is one of the great names in show business and has appeared in nearly every phase of entertainment. Her most recent success was in "A Star Is Born," which won her the Academy Award nomination.

Plans for the sale of tickets will be announced in a few days.

'Kiss Me Kate' Summer Starter

Leading off a full summer season of productions at University Theater this year will be another run of the Broadway musical, "Kiss Me Kate," which completed an eight-day presentation this week to full houses every night. Most of the cast which appeared in the May production of the Cole Porter hit will be back for the summer production June 23, 24 and 25.

Also planned for the summer season is presentation of the light comedy, "Kind Sir," in an arena-style production July 8 and 9.

"Club Intime," the popular night club-style revue held Wednesday evenings in the fishbowl of the Student Union during summers is being resumed starting July 13, according to Gene Wiley, theater business manager. The weekly party includes an orchestra, dancing on the terrace, floor show, and soft drinks at the SU soda bar.

At least two other new shows will be presented during the summer, Mrs. Wiley announced. One will be an arena-style production and the other a new dramatic show on the main stage.

Tickets for the summer presentation of "Kiss Me Kate" will go on sale at the theater box office at 1 p.m. June 20.

Crowds warmly received the "Kate" production this past week, which was presented at the annual spring musical comedy.

Weekend Entertainment

By Bob Ross
Emerald Reporter

If anyone is interested in going on one last big movie binge this weekend, the Eugene theaters are offering some possibilities.

According to Hollywood, "The End of the Affair," starting Sunday at the Heilig, is a love story so overwhelming in its emotional intensity, so intimate in its probing of a man and woman irresistibly drawn toward each other, that from now on all such stories probably will be measured against it.

This story to end all stories is concerned with Bendrix (Van Johnson), who in wartime London falls in love with Sarah (Deborah Kerr), wife of a government official Henry (Peter Cushing). Bendrix is injured during a bomb raid which nearly traps Sarah in his apartment; she refuses to see him again and he jealously believes she had tired of him and wanted him dead.

Bendrix employs a private detective to watch Sarah. The detective steals Sarah's diary and Bendrix discovers too late that Sarah's love for him had been overpowering and that it was his own inordinate jealousy which led to the end of the affair.

Oozing with Emotion

Based on Graham Green's novel, this film is oozing with emotion and should be a good way to waste a couple of hours. The companion feature is about the "Wyoming Renegades," who were such terrific fellows that no man's wife or life or land was safe when they rode.

The world's oldest profession gets a fresh glance at the Mayflower in the film that the world dared France to make, "Companions of the Night." Their name is different, but what they offer is the same, according to the posters. This film is not for the children.

The companion feature "Stratford Adventure" is an interesting English movie. The Mayflower ends their season with two more foreign films, "The Green Scarf," starring Michael Redgrave, and "The Bells of St. Trinians."

"Soldier of Fortune" plays this weekend at the McDonald. Based on Ernest Gann's novel, this picture tells the daring and breathtaking rescue of a trapped man from behind the "bamboo curtain." Filmed in Hong Kong, the key of the film is intrigue and suspense. The adventure lover will find that this drama has its moments.

Returning to Eugene screens for another attempt at entertaining the public are fine shows as "East of Eden," "Lili," "Battle Cry," and "Bridges at Toko-Ri."

Elia Kazan, according to a well known news magazine, does his best with John Steinbeck's worst in "East of Eden," which plays Friday and Saturday at the McKenzie. The theme of the picture is the eternal struggle between good and evil. This drama uses color, photography, sound, and movement in a way that reaches near perfection.

Starring in this passion-packed pageant are newcomer James Dean, Julie Harris, and Raymond Massey.

Leslie Caron has already charmed thousands in her role as "Lili" and will win new fans at the Motor-Vu Drive-In, where the film begins Sunday. This light, loveable, and laughable fantasy is colorful, musical, and danceful.

"Battle Cry" opens Sunday at the Eugene Drive-In. Based on the popular novel, this film is a lusty drama of the United States Marines in World War II and their loves, disappointments, heroism, and such things. It is a sensitive account of the emotions of men and women who find their lives disrupted by war.

Playing Friday and Saturday at the North-End Drive-In, "Bridges at Toko-Ri" tells the story of the navy air force in the Korean War. William Holden, Grace Kelly, and Mickey Rooney head the excellent cast.

The final scenes powerfully sum up the whole tragedy of war and the heroism of the men who find themselves in the midst of the strange thing known as war. The film has a message, but does not get preachy.
