

Business Confab Scheduled Next Week, Spokane

To further the cause of adult real estate education, approximately 800 real estate salesmen, brokers, and appraisers from Oregon, Washington, Idaho, and Montana will converge upon Spokane, Washington for the Northwest Real Estate Educational Conference and the Annual Realtor State Conference Sept. 26, 27 and 28.

Leevern Johnson, assistant professor of business, will represent the School of Business Administration at the meeting which brings together realtors of the four states to exchange ideas and discuss mutual problems in the adult education field.

Arthur B. Langlie, Governor of Washington, will address the conference. Other speakers include sixteen recognized leaders in the real estate field from various parts of the nation who will give lectures and lead in panel discussions.

Under the joint sponsorship of the University School of Business Administration, the Association of Oregon Real Estate Boards, and the Oregon State Real Estate Dept., 16 one-day institutes will be held in various Oregon cities during the year, for the purpose of adult education in the real estate field, announces Johnson. These institutes will be open to any of Oregon's 7000 licensees.

The first California-Stanford-Washington varsity crew regatta in 1907 was not completed. All the shells competing on the Sausalito course were swamped before reaching the finish line.

Seniors Urged to Make Inquiries

Karl W. Onthank, placement director, strongly advises all students who are within a year of graduation to keep in touch with his office in regard to making appointments with employers who will soon be visiting the campus.

Onthank has recently returned from an insurance conference at the University of Washington. Placement directors of Pacific Coast colleges and universities, teachers of insurance, and people in various aspects of the insurance industry attended the conference. Much of the discussion covered the range of economic opportunities in the insurance field other than selling.

Onthank stated that seniors and graduate students should come into his office soon and fill out data pertaining to jobs they hope to obtain. Various employers will begin making dates with employment prospects about Oct 1.

Students should come early to be sure to get the best contacts, and not wait until spring, said Onthank.

Top Teams Slate Weekend Contests

On the national football scene this weekend, several of the top-rated teams will be meeting their first tough opponent of the season.

Among the Saturday clashes are Rice and Alabama, Texas Christian and Texas Tech, Colorado and Arizona (both 1955 Oregon opponents), Georgia Tech and Florida and Kentucky and Mississippi.

The TV game of the week in Eugene will be the California-Illinois game from Berkeley.

Bunion Derby Needs Chairmen

Bunion Derby committee chairmen are being asked to petition by Joan Rainville and Joan Kraus general co-chairmen of the Oct. 8 dance.

Chairmanships open are promotion, publicity, finance, house co-ordination and general secretary. Freshmen are urged to petition for these positions.

The derby itself is a nickel-hop type dance, with members of men's living organizations house-hopping to women's houses and dorms.

Possible plans now being formed call for a local radio station to play music for the derby from 7 to 10:30 p.m. There will also be a sound track broadcasting music as campus men travel from house to house.

Phone Extensions Now Operating

New office phones for several departments on campus have been announced and are now in operation.

Offices of the Health and Physical Education department are Ext. 405 and 406. Faculty members have extensions 407, 408, 409, 410, 411, 412, 413 and 414.

History department offices are 597 and 598. Offices of the sociology department are Ext. 587 and 588.

Speech department offices are extensions 400 and 402, with 403 being the costume office and 404 the speech clinic.

RELIGIOUS NOTES

"Christian Ways for College Days" will be the Sunday evening discussion topic at 5:30 p.m. at Christian House (736 E. 18th avenue). Speaker is Robert Fulton, announcer for radio station KERG, and active church layman. He is a graduate of the University of Oregon. The program is planned as one of a series.

The morning program begins with a "Donut Hour" at 9:15 p.m. Following are two Bible study groups, led by Victor P. Morris, the Rev. John Boosinger and Clarence H. Elliott. After these sessions, students will attend church.

The evening Fireside hour will open with a sing at 8:30 o'clock. Then there will be slides of summer conferences attended by the students.

Weekday meetings include the Older Students' Dinner at 5:30 p.m. Tuesdays for veterans, upperclassmen, and graduate students, with Norma Terry and Bob Biggs serving as co-chairmen. The Executive Council will meet at 9 p.m. Wednesday, and Christian House vespers will be at 10 p.m. Thursday.

Friday evenings are fun nights every week, and Saturday evenings are informal Open House. All students are welcome.

Westminster Foundation, Presbyterian student center, will begin its regular schedule of fall activities Sunday with discussion groups following the 9 a.m. coffee hour.

The first discussions will deal with organization and subjects for the remainder of the term according to J. Stanley Barlow, Presbyterian University pastor.

Sunday evening's vespers will be held at 6:30 with a service of preparation for World-Wide

Communion. The forum at 7 o'clock will deal with "The Place of Religion at the University." D. C. Perkins, Religious department head will be discussion advisor. A fellowship hour will follow at 8 p.m.

Activities Wednesday include a chapel service at 12:30 p.m., a "Share the Wealth" potluck dinner at 5:30 and group discussion and committee meetings at 6:15. Open house will be held Friday evening.

New SU Director Is Whitman Grad

Miss Adell McMillan, a 1955 graduate of Whitman college, is Student Union program director replacing Sandra Rennie.

She received her B.A. degree in social science, and is a member of Mortarboard and Kappa Kappa Gamma. She served as program director for two years at Whitman, where it is a student position.

She was co-ordinator at the Student Union regional conference last year, and has been assistant camp director and program director at Lake Coeur d'Alene campfire girls' camp in Idaho.

Her secretary is Judy Carlson, junior in liberal arts.

Another new member of the SU staff is Donna Lundell, who is receptionist and secretary for Si Ellingson, SU director.
