Two Northern teams of the Pacific Coast Conference, Washington and Oregon State, basked in football glory Sunday after a gloomy weekend for the Southern giants of the league.

Mighty UCLA fell, California lost and Stanford was white-washed Saturday, leaving only the powerful USC Trojans to uphold Southern Division dignity with their expected 42-15 win over Oregon Friday night. Statistics put the Trojans atop the conference heap with two victories.

But there are happy hours in Seattle and Corvallis, for Washington whipped the favored Minnesota 30-0 and Oregon State stunned Stanford 10-0.

Huskies Roll

The Washington Huskies made the experts who rated Minnesota a two-touchdown favorite look pretty silly as the Gophers simply came apart before 58,000 shocked fans at Minneapolis.

End Jim Houston was the Washington sparkplug, scoring twice and setting up a field goal with a 54-yard pass interception runback.

Oregon State, sailing along with two wins over Brigham Young and Stanford under their new coach, Tommy Prothro, again found 145-pound tailback Sam Wesley to be their boy. He snared a pass for a 51-yard scoring play and helped set up Ted Searle's four-yard field goal.

Stanford Fumbles Twice

Stanford fumbled the ball away three times and had four passes intercepted by the alert Beavers.

Maryland knocked the No. 1 team halo off UCLA 7-0, Illinois beat California 20-13, Kansas took Washington State 13-0 and Utah trimmed Idaho 20-13 in other Saturday encounters.

Doug Peters' fumble on the one-foot line was a crusher for UCLA but Maryland gets the credit for an inspired performance, getting revenge for their 12-7 defeat by UCLA last year.

The Marylanders ruined the work of the sensational Ronnie Knox, put together a sustained, 71-yard scoring drive in the third quarter and thereby ended the UCLA winning streak after 10 straight games.

It was the first blanking of UCLA since California whipped the Bruins 35-0 in 1950. It was UCLA's first shutout in 40 games under Coach Red Sanders.

Cal Falls Again

Stubborn California held Illinois to a 7-7 halftime tie but succumbed in the second half to the yardage-eating Illini backs. It was California's second straight loss, Pittsburgh having taken the Bears the week before.

Kansas ended a 17-game losing streak by beating Washington State. The Jayhawks were inside the Cougar 10-yard line four other times without scoring.

Next weekend: Texas visits USC at Los Angeles Friday night and on Saturday it will be Pennsylvania-California at Berkeley, UCLA-Washington State at Pullman, Idaho-Arizona at Tucson, Washington-Oregon at Portland, Ohio State at Stanford. Oregon State has an open date.

Arnett Whips Ducks

Oregon's Ducks were on top for one quarter, nearly equal for another and completely snowed under during the last two as they absorbed a 42-15 drubbing from the older and deeper USC Trojans in Los Angeles Friday night.

Jon Arnett, the one-man backfield who whipped Oregon almost single-handedly last year, turned the trick again. His 28 points and four touchdowns broke the USC individual scoring record set by Marshall Duffield in 1928, but fell short of the conference record of 36 points, 6 TD's, set by Cal's Dick Dunn against Nevada in 1922.

Oregon shocked the Trojans by scoring first and holding Southern Cal's titans scoreless during the first quarter. In the second quarter the Ducks rocked the home boys again by springing loose sophomore halfback Jim Shanley, who sauntered 72 yards to paydirt. The half ended with the Trojans in control by the meager margin of 21-13.

Depth and experience of Jess Hill's well-balanced eleven began to tell in the second half, as Arnett tallied 14 more to lead the way. Only Oregon score in that half came as USC's center snapped the ball into his own end zone for an automatic safety.

zone for an automatic safety.

Oregon's big break in the first period was Spike Hillstrom's interception of Ellsworth Kissinger's pass, intended for Chuck Griffith. Starting from their own 46, the Ducks then went 54 yards in eight plays, best of which was Shanley's 28-yard sprint around right end to the Trojan 15.

Jack Morris crashed into the end zone from the two for the game's first tally. Morris's place-kick failed.

As the quarter drew to a close, Arnett flipped a screen pass to Gordy Duvall for 21 yards to the Oregon three, and it took the Trojans only two plays, after switching end for the quarter, to blast Arnett through for the score. The agile Arnett also kicked the extra point, first of four perfect boots during the evening.

Forcing Oregon to kick, USC easily drove 43 yards in seven plays, with Jim Contratto passing 30 yards to Arnett for the score. Once again the Arnett toe provided the extra point.

Amateurs Bounce Pros in Seattle

SEATTLE (AP)—A 10-man team of amateurs won the seventh annual Hudson Cup golf matches here Sunday with a surprising 9½ to 5½ victory over its professional counterparts.

The play-for-fun boys, breaking a tie which existed after Saturday's Scots foursome matches, won 7 out of 10 on Sunday's program.

The only previous amateur triumph in the seven-year history of the event was scored at Seattle's Broadmoor several years ago.

Leading the pro winners was Bud Hofmeister, of Hayden Lake, Idaho, who toppled Salem's Bob Prall, University of Oregon diver, 8 and 7. Jack Westland, a Washington Congressman from Everett, dropped Harold West of Eugene, 7 and 6, for the second high.

Amateurs Bruce Cudd of Portland and Dick Yost of Seattle came through with expected victories. Cudd slipped by Joe Steiger of Spokane, 1-up, and Yost got by Yakima's Joe Greer, 2-up.

Fred Haney Out As Pirate Boss In Reshuffling

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates Sunday fired Manager Fred Haney in a move obviously designed to clear the decks for a change in the club's top management.

Haney disclosed to reporters that he had received a letter from General Manager Branch Rickey notifying him that his contract was being terminated. The two-year agreement carried a provision on automatic renewal next season unless terminated by either party before the end of this season.

Attendance High

Sunday's was the final game for the Pirates and they lost to the National League champion Brooklyn Dodgers 4-0. Curiously enough, the attendance reached 28,185 for the "Award Day contest." It was the biggest crowd at home for the Pirates this season.

Fans in the stands were not advised of Haney's dismissal.

A Pirate official who pointed up the significance of the dismissal as clearing the way for any possible change in the Pirate front office said also that it was not impossible that Haney might come back next year—after the general manager situation is settled.

Rickey Quits, Too

Rickey has said he will not continue as general manager. But his contract has an arrangement for Rickey to remain for five more years in an unspecified "advisory capacity."

Haney, however, has no doubt of the finality of the action. Speaking softly and without any indication of anger at the dismissal, Haney told a reporter:

"I've been fired before and it's no great shock. In this business you either do or you don't; we didn't."

jans their third touchdown through a fumbled kickoff, Ernie Merk recovering his own boot. Ernie Zampese, third QB used by USC in the game, threw a ten-yarder to Chuck Leimbach in the end zone. This time Zampese handled the conversion.

On the first play from scrimmage after the ensuing kickoff, Quarterback Tom Crabtree faked a handoff to Morris and gave to Shanley, who twisted and turned through the Trojan secondary, broke free on about the USC 30, and scampered past the goal posts with no one near him. Morris's extra point try was perfect this time, and the gap narrowed to eight points.

The gritty Duck defense held the Trojans for downs on the five as time ran out in the half.

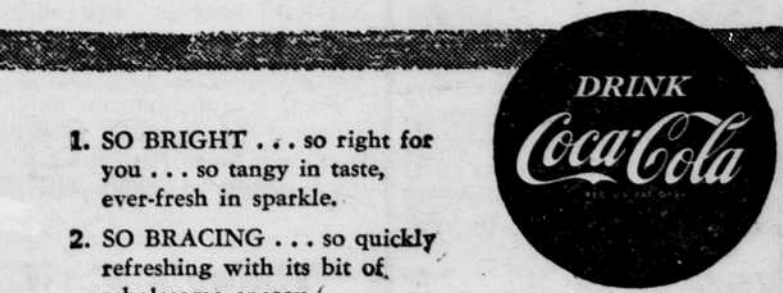

The second half was all Arnett. In the third canto the junior speed merchant took a lateral from C. R. Roberts, who had already gone seven yards, and whisked the remaining 25 to score. He also booted the PAT.

After the Oregon safety in the fourth quarter, Arnett grabbed a punt on his own ten, eluded the grasp of soph Tackle Jerry Kerschner, and rocketed downfield for his fourth TD. Apparently not even winded from his ninety-yard jaunt, he calmly kicked PAT No. four.

Roberts, a talented, block-busting sophomore, closed out the scoring with a 31-yard end zone journey, and Kissinger kicked the final point.

Detroit's Kaline Nabs AL Crown

NEW YORK (AP)—Al Kaline, the Detroit Tigers' second year outfielder won the American League batting championship and in so doing became the first sophomore to turn the trick since 1906. That year George Stone of the St. Louis Browns, playing his second year in the majors, won it.

Kaline's average, according to Sunday night's Associated Press figures, was a .340. He also was the only major leaguer to get 200 hits.

Richie Ashburn of the Philadelphia Phillies won the National League title with a .338 mark. Willie Mays of the New York Giants and Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals finished in a second place tie, each with .319.

Vic Power of Kansas City, the American League runner-up also had a .319 average. There were only eight .300 hitters in the American League this year and only four over .310 who batted more than the required 400 times.

Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox showed a .356 mark but he was at bat only 320 times, so his averages won't count in the final official list of the leaders.
