

Maryland in Top Spot Following UCLA Upset

Maryland, conqueror of top-ranked UCLA, barely beat out Michigan Tuesday for No. 1 place in The Associated Press college football poll.

In handing the Pacific Coast champions their first shutout in 40 games, 7-0, Jim Tatum's Terrapins rocketed from fifth to first in the weekly standings on a thumping vote from 135 of the nation's sports writers and broadcasters.

Although Michigan received the greater number of first place votes, 48 to 45, Maryland gained enough all-around voting strength to head the list with 1,113 points. Michigan, 42-7 winner over Missouri in its debut, drew 1,032 points.

Points are awarded on the basis of ten for a first place vote, nine for second and on down the line.

The first full Saturday of games so shuffled the standings that only one position in the top ten—Southern California—remained stationary.

Behind Maryland and Michigan, in order, came Georgia Tech, No. 3; Notre Dame, No. 4; Oklahoma, No. 5; Army, No. 6; UCLA, No. 7; Ohio State, No. 8; Southern California, No. 9; and Texas Christian, No. 10.

Of these, Notre Dame, Army and Texas Christian are newcomers, routing out Pittsburgh, Mississippi and Navy because of impressive opening performances.

UCLA fell from the top to seventh after its defeat, ending a 10-game winning streak for Red Sanders' charges. Georgia Tech, 14-7 winner over Florida, dropped from second to third.

Notre Dame stomped over Southern Methodist, 17-0. Army crushed little Furman, 81-0. Texas Christian ran up a 32-0 score on the Texas Tech team which earlier humbled Texas.

Oklahoma was hard-pressed in beating North Carolina, 13-6, for its 20th straight victory and thus fell from third to fifth. Ohio State dropped from sixth to eighth despite a 28-0 triumph over Nebraska in its opening game.

Southern California, which had tied Navy for the No. 9 spot last week, held firm after

Pittsburgh Trips Cardinal Eleven

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Quarterback Jimmy Finks hit Ray Mathews with a 27-yard touchdown pass with only 52 seconds remaining to enable the Pittsburgh Steelers to trip the Chicago Cardinals, 14-7 Monday night in a National Football league opener.

Finks connected with his half-back battery mate after the Cardinals knotted the score at 7-7 in the final quarter on a 92-yard pass interception gallop by big Lee Sanford, a 220-pound linebacker.

The Steelers moved ahead 7-0 in the third quarter with Finks hitting end Jack O'Brien with a four-yard touchdown heave to climax a 77-yard drive. O'Brien somersaulted in the end zone, snaring the pass.

Art Michalik converted both times for the Steelers.

Sanford's electrifying 92-yard touchdown pass enabled the Cards to tie the score midway in the final quarter. Pat Summerall, who missed three previous field goal attempts, converted.

a 42-15 Friday night victory over Oregon.

Moore Gets Hero's Welcome at Home

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Archie Moore flew back to his hometown on the Pacific Coast Monday and was given a hero's welcome, despite his failure to win the heavyweight championship Wednesday.

Moore listed San Diego and Toledo, Ohio, as his hometowns for the fight.

He had complained about never before getting civic recognition here.

Monday Mayor Charles C. Dail met him at the airport with a delegation of Chamber of Commerce officials.

Archie's son, Archie Jr., 12, hugged his father, who wore dark glasses over his bruised right eye.

Bums, Yanks Prep For Series Start

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP)—Carl Furillo rested with a cold and Mickey Mantle tenderly tested his injured right leg Monday as the Brooklyn Dodgers and New York Yankees held final workouts in their own parks for Wednesday's World Series opener at Yankee Stadium.

Furillo is expected to be in the opening day lineup at his usual right field spot but Mantle may not be ready. The final decision on the Yankee center fielder probably won't be made until shortly before game time Wednesday.

Mantle Feels Better

"It feels better," said Mantle after swinging away for about 10 minutes at the pitching of coach Frank Crosetti. Bating lefthanded, he smashed one pitch into the second deck in right field. However, he still couldn't run freely. Instead of going to the outfield, he-fooled around with a first baseman's mitt, just to limber up.

The Yanks will work out at Ebbets Field Tuesday afternoon while the Dodgers will get a look at the stadium where the first two games will be played. Usually, Manager Casey Stengel turns down an invitation to practice in the other club's park.

Phil Rizzuto, veteran shortstop, said this would be the first time he remembered a Yank pre-series practice was scheduled for the Brooklyn park. Rizzuto and his shortstop rival, Pee Wee Reese of the Brooks, have played in all five previous Yank-Dodger series.

Despite the doubt about Mantle's status, the betting men stretched the odds favoring the Yankees to 13 to 10. The Yanks remained the 6 to 5 choice in the opener. As for a sweep, you could get 11 to 1 the Yanks wouldn't do it and 19 to 1 that the Dodgers wouldn't win four straight.

The Dodgers, of course, never have won a series. This will be their eighth try. The Yanks hold the record with a 16-4 record for 20 previous series and five straight under Stengel from 1949 through 1953.

Ford to Start

Stengel confirmed his earlier announcement that Whitey Ford 18-7 will work the opener and Tommy Byrne 16-5 the second, on the theory that his lefthanders would be more effective at Yankee Stadium than at Brooklyn with its convenient fences for righthanded hitters.

Unless he has to use him on relief in the first two, Stengel probably will start Bob Grim, 7-5 in the Ebbets Field opener Friday, following with Bob Turley 17-13 and Don Larsen 9-2.

Walter Alston, Dodger manager, said Billy Loes 10-4 probably would start the second game at New York. He had listed Don Newcombe 20-5 as his opening day pitcher when he announced his batting order in Pittsburgh Sunday. Big Newk, who won 10 straight at the start of the season and had an 18-1 record on Aug. 4 had a 2-4 record the rest of the year.

Carl Erskine 11-8 another righthander who struck out 14 Yanks for a new series record in 1953, probably will work the Friday game with either Johnny Podres 10-10 or Karl Spooner 8-6 going Saturday. Newcombe probably would be able to come back Sunday with three days rest, provided the best-of-seven series goes to a fifth game. Clem LaBine 13-5 and Don Bessnet 8-1 will be the relief men.

Sellout Expected

Another big sellout crowd of close to 70,000 is due to jam the stadium Wednesday. The series will be beamed across the nation by network radio Mutual and television NBC to millions of fans.
