

Peterson to Talk To Upperclassmen

Lieutenant Helen L. Peterson, of the Women's Army Corps Officer Procurement Section, Headquarters Sixth Army, Presidio of San Francisco, will be in Eugene on Oct. 7 to interview members of the senior class concerning direct appointments as officers in the Women's Army corps.

Those interested in discussing possible commissions should contact Karl W. Onthank, Graduate Placement office, 206 Emerald hall.

Under the present Army program, direct commissions as second and first lieutenants are being offered to women with college backgrounds between the ages of 20 and 33 who have the mental and character qualifications required of applicants desiring to become WAC officers.

In addition, Lt. Peterson states that a summer training program is also being offered for college juniors who are interested in applying for commissions in their senior years. This program calls for a probational appointment, with a six-week training period in the summer prior to the senior year in college.

This short course is designed to do two things; first, to let the applicant know more about the WAC and whether she wants to apply for a commission during her senior year, and second, to let the Army determine whether she should be encouraged to continue for further career training and experience with the WAC.

Both the newly commissioned officers and college juniors attending the summer training program will receive training at Fort McClellan, Alabama, the home of the new WAC center.

To women college students who hope after graduation to find a career offering pride in service, responsibility, and scope for developing all their potentialities as well as advancement in rank and pay, the Women's Army Corps of the United States Army offers an excellent opportunity. WAC officers are now serving in over ten career fields.

Lt. Peterson, a graduate of Colby Junior College in New Hampshire and former airline hostess, accepted a direct commission in 1952 under this same program, and is well qualified from her own personal experience to explain the various careers open to college women interested in direct commissions in the Women's Army Corps.

It's a psychological fact: Pleasure helps your disposition. If you're a smoker, remember — more people get more pure pleasure from Camels than from any other cigarette!
