Duck Tracks

By Jack Wilson
Emerald Ass't Sports Editor

As the world series smoke clears away from the American sports scene, we note with some surprise that the pro football season is well under way, with old Father Upset sitting on nearly every bench. Last weekend's go-round was no exception, for out of the six games played, four must be ranked as definite overturnings of the pickers' applegarts.

Nearest and dearest to every Webfoot heart, of course, is the fantastic trail of havoc rookies George Shaw and Alan Ameche are helping the Baltimore Colts leave through the National Football League. Saturday the Colts bounced the powerhouse Detroit Lions 28-13, for the first Baltimore win over Buddy Parker's lads in six years.

Shaw completed ten out of 18 aeriels, including two for TD's. He threw 15 yards to End Jim Mutscheller for one score and tossed three to Lloyd Colterlyahn for the final tally of the game. Ameche picked up 152 yards, bringing his two-game average to eight per carry. Detroit's veteran quarterback Bobby Layne passed for 16 completions and 224 yards, but his efforts went for naught as the Colt defense was nearly air-tight near the goal line.

Van Leads Rams to Win

— Another Oregon boy, Norm Van Brocklin, passed the Rams to a 27-26 squeakby over Pittsburgh's Steelers, but it was Les Richter's 33-yard field goal in the last seconds of the game that won it. Van Brocklin threw a 74-yard touchdown pass to Bob Boyd just as the first half ended and later threw a 17-yard scoring aerial to Tom Fears. The Rams stormed to a 17-0 halftime lead, but the Steelers bounded back to go ahead momentarily, 26-24. Then Richter's talented toe pulled the southern California eleven back from almost certain defeat.

The San Francisco 49ers, the west coast's other entry in the pro ranks, was handily massacred by Cleveland's burly Browns, 38-3. 49er Quarterback Y. A. Tittle's laconic showing set off a small glimmer of hope in the hearts of local Shaw fans that the San Francisco front office would soon be looking for a new qb—and possibly looking Baltimore way.

Otto Graham, Cleveland's Old Master, passed for plenty of yardage, but all Brown scoring was done on line plunges. Graham, Fred Morrison and Maurice Bassett all found paydirt from within the five, and Ed "Big Mo" Modzelewski turned the trick twice. A second string backfield marched to the last Brown TD, and Lou "The Toe" Groza kicked all five conversions plus a 32-yard field goal.

Redskins Upend Eagles

Another upset came at Philadelphia, where the Eagles were clipped by the Washington Redskins, 31-30. On a sensational third period, Washington hammered over three touchdowns in two minutes, 17 seconds. Sophomore back Vic Janowicz scored two Washington TD's, and Eddie Lebaron passed and ran to two more.

Tobin Rote passed and ran the Green Bay Packers to a 24-3 upset over the well-seeded Chicago Bears. Rote threw 32 and 28 yards for touchdowns and did the honors on another from the one-yard line. It was the second upset for the Packers and second loss for the Bears. Dave Mann, who used to perform off and on for Oregon State, contributed a 65-yard touchdown run as the Chicago Cardinals knocked off the not-so-giant Giants from New York in the fourth upset of the weekend. Quarterback Lamar McHan threw TD passes good for 51 and 72 yards to lead the Cards to their first win of the season. It was New York's second loss.

Shaw & Co. pit their upset string against a similar skein when they take on Green Bay at Milwaukee this Saturday night, and no sports "expert" in his right mind would attempt to predict the outcome of the tussle. Either team could suddenly run out of gas, or, on the other hand, both could give top-notch performances. Interesting isn't anywhere near the right word for this game. In pro action on Sunday, the Chicago Cards travel to Washington, LA goes to Detroit, New York meets Pittsburgh, Philadelphia tangles with Cleveland, and San Francisco is pitted against the Bears.

Ducks Schedule Televised Game With Colorado

By Jack Wilson

In the words of a popular song and movie, Saturday's game, which pits Oregon's Ducks against the Colorado Golden Buffaloes, should be "a many-splendored thing."

To begin with, this first home struggle for the Ducks will be the first live telecast out of the city of Eugene. A part of the CBS Eugene broadcast series, the game will be viewed by sports fans up and down the coast. Reception in Eugene will be over KOIN-TV, channel 6, Portland.

Celebrated sportscaster Tom Harmon will handle the play-by-play description, while actor-umpire Gil Stratton will do the color. Stratton is best known for his work in the TV show, "That's My Boy."

Secondly, the Buffs are one of five teams in the nation who are unbeaten, untied and uncared upon this season. Colorado has knocked off Arizona, 14-0, and Kansas, 12-0, and is expected to be very much in the running for the Big-7 title. Although he lost two outstanding backs in Carroll Hardy and Frank Bernardi coach Dallas Ward (OSC, '27) still has a wealth of material, which he has shaped into a devastating single wing attack.

Thirdly, the game will find the potent Ducks riled up after two successive losses and pointing for a chance to even their season's record at two and two. Although weak in their passing game, the Ducks have three of the fastest backs on the coast in Jim Shanley, Dick James and Jack Morris.

The boys from Boulder won the last game between the two squads, 21-7 in 1950. A year earlier Oregon trounced the Buffaloes, 42-14.

Troy, Husky Teams Lead

The Pacific Coast conference's No. 1 defensive team Washington, meets the No. 2 offensive team, Southern California, this weekend, figures from the PCC commissioner's office disclosed today.

The Huskies have given up but 182 yards a game in total defense to rank ahead of Stanford which has allowed 198.3 (and which is leading offensive team in the conference). Washington has the best rushing defense mark of 102.7 and ranks fifth in pass defense with 79.3 yards to 43.0 for the top team Stanford.

Stanford's total offense mark of 340.3 yards per game is only eight yards ahead of Southern California's 332. Stanford also leads in passing with 143.3 yards per game, Southern California again second, while Oregon State is the only team to outrank USC in rushing with 254 to the Trojans 223.3.

In other departments Southern California leads in punt returns with a 30.5 yard average and is tied with Oregon State with the most interceptions, at seven. The Beavers have the best average in punting, 43.7, and in kickoff returns, 39 yards.

Other games this weekend include Oregon State-UCLA at Los Angeles on Friday night, Washington State at California, Colorado at Oregon, College of Pacific at Idaho and Stanford at Michigan State Saturday.

Sigma Chi Tops Phi Delt Seven

Defending champion Phi Delta Theta lost a 7-0 decision to Sigma Chi in the highlight game of Tuesday afternoon intramural action, as Don Soesbe picked off a Dick Schlosstein pass and went 35 yards for the only score.

In other action, Alpha Tau Omega topped Phi Kappa Psi, 6-0; Young hall topped Stafford hall, 7-0; Cherney edged Nestor, 13-7; Hale Kane blanked the Dorm Counsellors, 13-0; Philadelphia House won on first downs from the Legal Eagles and Norton hall got past McClure in the same fashion.

Soesbe Intercepts

Sigma Chi got its victory late in the fourth period when Soesbe made his interception. Kent Dorwin took a short pass from Beb Welberg for the extra point. Leading the way in the line for the winners were Bill Sherman, Tippy Syler and Jerry Basheraw.

Lee Steiner caught a pass for the only score early in the first period as Young edged Stafford 7-0. A run around left end accounted for the extra point. Ron Leverett tossed a 30-yard pass to Jay Bashor in the last quarter for Stafford, which put them on the enemy 20, but they failed to push over the score.

All of the tallies in the Cherney-Nestor game were via the aerial route. O'Dell and Schaefer were the big guns in the victor's behalf, while Stan Glassey and Bill Reynolds accounted for Nestor's seven points.

Huggins Leads ATO

In the Phi Psi-ATO game, it was a 60-yard TD jaunt by Chuck Huggins which decided the contest. Huggins' passing also led the winners.

Hale Kane scored once in the first stanza on a pass from Art Fugeta to Johnny McKay, and the same duo made the PAT. Later Fugeta tossed another pass for the final score. Cameron Thom turned in a 40-yard run for the Counsellors late in the game, but the rally fell short.
