Duck Tracks

By Al Johnson
Emerald Ass't Sports Editor

Increasing the predicted games to ten, a favorable World Series result (for three of us) and a mistake combined to boost the Emerald experts' averages last weekend, but fired up Utah, Stanford and Otterbein teams kept better scores just out of grasp.

The addition of enough games to make an even ten brought the overall accumulative average up from a glittering .381 to a brilliant .519. "Swami" Wilson led the parade to higher figures with a sky-scraping .588, including a perfect pick of the series and a sheer-luck guess on the Otterbein-Oberlin mystery game.

Only a non-conference choice of Oregon over Washington and the standard pick of Missouri over Utah kept Wilson from a perfect weekend.

Utah Thwarts Experts

The Utah upset threw the entire staff, which gave Missouri a unanimous vote. "Fearless Folly" Claussen's mystery game saw Otterbein's Cardinals, sparked by a new coach, drop Oberlin's Yeomen, 19-14, to the displeasure of Oberlin's 27-year veteran coach and five of the experts.

This week Editor Rice pulled Brandeis versus Bates out of a battered rooster's lid, and the predictors are off and running again. The "Judges" of Brandeis will be remembered for yielding 469 yards to Boston college in their first season tilt, giving the Eagles national superiority in the single game offense race.

Ex-sports editor Bob Robinson, who has acquired no nickname as yet, is already out searching the schedules to get his alliterative confuser for next week.

Mistake Costs Upset Pick

Robbie also claims to be the upset expert, although a check of last week's predictions won't prove it. He put Stanford six points better than Ohio State, but in copying the picks, we reversed it, and he missed his moment of glory.

The Stanford surprise caught many unaware, but only two of the experts stuck with Cheerful Chuck Taylor and the Indians in their second venture into Big Ten competition this week.

As for real upset opportunities, no one stuck his neck out far enough to rate Oregon State above UCLA. As Bruin publicity director Vic Kelley points out, the Beavers are one of the very few unbeaten and unscored upon teams in the nation, and could end up, amazingly enough, in the Rose Bowl if they could dispatch Ronnie Knox and friends and win remaining games with all Northwest clubs and Cal.

Tossups Seen

But on to the so-called "standard" picks, which include some head-scratchers this time. If Michigan against Army at Ann Arbor isn't enough to scare the prognosticators, Notre Dame versus Miami of Florida ought to come close.

The Wolverines are out to get their first victory over the Don Hollender-led Cadets after five fruitless efforts. At Coral Gables it will be the Hurricanes, who took care of eight opponents last year with the ease of their feminine namesakes, trying Terry Brennan's Fighting Irish.

And as a topper we have unbeaten Washington against unbeaten Southern California right here in the Northwest.

Off to the Races

But "Swami" Wilson gives the P.E. department towel an extra turn around his head and leads the Emerald gussing staff into its third week:

	Johnson	Wilson	Rice	Claussen	Robinson	Mitchell
Colorado vs. Oreg.	.471	.588	.471	.529	.529	.529

Lane Shifts To Cardinals

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Frank Lane, who recently resigned a similar job with the Chicago White Sox, was given a three-year contract Thursday as general manager of the St. Louis Cardinals.

At the same time, August A. Busch, president of the Cardinals, announced that Dick Meyer, the retiring general manager and a top executive of the Anheuser-Busch brewer headed by Busch, has been named executive vice president of the Cardinals. Busch said that Lane would be given "full authority as general manager" and would have full responsibility for carrying out Cardinal policies.

Busch said he and his associates had talked with the 59-year-old Lane at great length and "as a result I can say we have as fine an understanding of each other as is possible for men who talk openly and frankly with all of their cards on the table."

Anticipating that newsmen would ask whether Lane would be given full authority, Busch said he would try to answer the question by saying "the answer is a simple Yes."

Meyer told him some time ago, Busch said, that the time required by his duties as a brewery executive left him too little time to devote to his Cardinal duties.

Meyer suggested then that the Cardinal front office and minor league system be reorganized and that "the best man available anywhere in the country" be hired as general manager for the club.

Busch said he and his associates looked carefully but were unable to find a man so qualified until Lane became available through his resignation from the Chicago club.

"Here, we felt, was a man who did meet our standards," Busch said.

Puscas to Tour Europe With Boxing Group

PORTLAND (AP)—Ben Harris, chairman of the Oregon AAU boxing committee, will manage a 10-member team of amateur fighters on a European tour this month.

His appointment was announced here late Wednesday.

Members of the team include Jackie Puscas, Eugene, who holds the national lightweight title.

Harris and Puscas will leave Portland for New York Oct. 14. The team will appear in Ireland, England, Scotland, Sweden and Germany.

Sam's Victorious; Teke's Upset SAE

The Sigma Alpha Mu seven remained unscored against in their second encounter of the season as they defeated Campbell Club 13 to 0 Thursday in intramural action. It was Harold (Tiny) Schneiderman's big arm that made the difference as he hit Norm Ross on the first play from scrimmage with a pass that gained the winners' 70 yards and a touchdown. Schneiderman made good the point after TD on an end run.

In the second quarter the same combination clicked for another touchdown.

SAE and Tau Kappa Epsilon battled out a scoreless game, with TKE winning by a margin of three first downs to two. By capitalizing on a safety and a touchdown by Tom Cudd, Morton Hall beat Stafford 8 to 0.

Sederstrom won on a forfeit from Nestor; Kappa Sigma dumped Chi Psi 6-0; McClure defeated Sheldon 7 to 0; Phi Kappa Sigma beat Phi Gamma Delta on a touchback; and Beta Theta Pi lost to Phi Kappa Psi 7-0.

NBA Lists Rocky Alone at Summit

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano has pounded a big gap between himself and the rest of the division with his hammer-like fists, according to Thursday's quarterly ratings of the National Boxing association.

The NBA believes the gap is the widest it has been since Marciano became champion three years ago and doesn't bother to list a logical contender.

"Marciano has punched his way out of good opponents," said Fred Saddy, chairman of the NBA Rating Committee in a statement.

"We are listing Bob Baker, Valdez an Jackson as the outstanding boxers in the heavyweight division."

Saddy suggested that Baker, Valdez and Jackson engage in an elimination tournament, the winner to meet Marciano. He said that would be the best way to provide a logical contender for the Rock.
