

'Limelight,' Starring Chaplin Is Best Film Showing Now

By Dave Sherman
Amusement Page Editor

"Limelight," a replay of Charlie Chaplin's film seen two years ago on campus, is by far the best film showing this weekend.

Chaplin plays Calvero, a music hall comedian around the time of the first world war. He helps a ballet dancer who claims she can no longer walk. She becomes a great star while he becomes a street entertainer.

Included in the film are too few scenes of Chaplin's famous vaudeville skits. He plays the "tramp" he is so famous for, does a flea routine, and teams up with Buster Keaton in a violin act which is one of the high-points of the show.

Ballet Sequence

Many will recognize the "Terry's Theme" from the show, to which Claire Bloom dances in one of the ballet sequences. The film is almost a one-man show—Chaplin produced, directed, stars, composed the music and choreographed it.

Also playing with Limelight is an early Alfred Hitchcock thriller, "The Lady Vanishes."

The "theatre season" in Eugene got off to a roaring start with the Very Little Theatre production of "Charley's Aunt." Featured in the show is Bruce Holt, seen on campus in "Bernardine" and "Captive at Large" last year. The show is an English comedy written by Brandon Thomas.

Plays Aunt

Gene Herlocker, a frequent VLT player, plays the "aunt." Also featured in the cast is Judy Hawley, a former member of the Cascade Players on Campus.

"The Night of the Hunter," Charles Laughton's experiment with the movies, plays over the week-end at the "new" Fox. Robert Mitchum and Shelley Winters star in the film and Lillian Gish is featured. The film has been criticized as being "too arty" for its own good.

Also playing with "Night of the Hunter" is "Green Magic," which is, we are told, the eighth wonder of the world. We'd probably do well to stick to the first seven.

"Gung-Ho"

Audie Murphy continues to charge "gung-ho" through the filmed version of his war story, "To Hell and Back." The film is based on Murphy's experiences in the war and he is accorded the honor of playing himself. Although the film may be accurate, the episodes become just a little too tiring.

On the way back from hell, the Heilig is showing "Combat Squad." Anyone for taking up residence?

At the MacDonald, Richard Egan, Anthony Quinn, Jeffrey Hunter, Michael Rennie and Rita Moreno continue to troop through California.

Gold Hunting

Rennie is a priest, the other three men are hunting for gold.

Fraternity Pledges Will Meet on Tuesday

All fraternity pledge meetings will be held Tuesday evenings, it was decided Thursday by the Inter-fraternity council.

This action was taken by the IFC to prevent conflicts with house and dormitory activities. Fraternity chapter meetings are held Monday evenings, and official social functions are held Wednesday evenings.

Seven Positions Open To Students in KWAX

Seven traffic positions are open to students at radio station KWAX, the University's student-operated FM station.

Those interested should contact Agnes Thompson at 5-0428 or Ext. 402.

Air time is scheduled for 6 p.m. Monday at 91.1 megacycles. Rita Moreno's contribution isn't hard to find. Also playing with the "Seven Cities" is "The Case of the Red Monkey."

"Mr. Roberts," the Hollywood re-make of the Broadway stage hit, continues through Sunday at the Eugene Drive-In. Henry Fonda, Jack Lemmon and James Cagney star. This continues to be one of the top offerings over the weekend.

Coffee Hour Postponed

The Friday Coffee Hour originally planned for tonight has been postponed for a week from tonight because of interference with the Bunion Derby. It will be held next Friday, October 14, at 7:30 in the Browsing Room.

E. C. A. Lesch, professor of English, is scheduled to be the first Friday evening lecturer. He will speak on "Shakespeare and Madness."

Dr. Lesch, a graduate of Princeton and Illinois, has been for many years a noted student of Shakespearianism.

Omnibus to Start Fourth Year Sun.

Omnibus, the only weekly 90-minute program on television will launch its fourth year on Sunday, Oct. 9 over channel 6 by devoting its entire premiere program—titled "The Birth of Modern Times"—to one of the most brilliant periods in world history; the Renaissance.

With a script especially prepared by Robert Coughlan, senior writer for "Life Magazine," the program will recreate the color of the year 1492, when the Renaissance reached its peak. Omnibus will seek also to illustrate the prodigious impact on western civilization of this fabulous epoch.

The project calls for 68 separate roles and makes use of 15th century music and dancing. It will employ the talents of a wide variety of performers led by Charlton Heston and Betsy Von Furstemberg. Alistair Cooke will again assume his role of master of ceremonies.

YOUR DOWNTOWN SU

For 25 years, Seymour's Cafe at 10th and Willamette streets, has been the accepted meeting place for Oregon students when downtown shopping or after shows. Once again at the start of a college year we cordially invite students from Freshmen to Seniors to drop in at Seymour's and feel at home. Besides serving good food we offer convenient services, such as cashing small checks, phones, rest rooms, stamps for mailing letters, and general Eugene information. Come in this weekend and get acquainted.

Visit our Glamorous "RIVIERA ROOM" for food and refreshment. Open to minors for food till 9:30 p.m. Older students till 12:30 a.m.

Seymour's Cafe is the only place in Eugene selling the famous Van Duyn Candy of Portland, Oregon. When candy hungry, come to Seymour's.
