

TOP TWIN BILL

Mayflower Theater Shows Farcical Foreign Comedy

By Dave Sherman Amusement Page Editor

The top double bill of the weekend finishes a one week run Saturday at the Mayflower. The hilarious French farce, "Mr. Hulot's Holiday" and "The Little Kidnappers" are the top two.

The star of "Mr. Hulot's Holiday" has a technique very reminiscent of Charlie Chaplin. The story is done mostly in pantomime, with the dialogue kept to a bare minimum. It concerns a holiday at the seashore, Mr. Hulot's misadventures and the reactions of other people at the resort.

Particularly amusing are the couple who go out for a "breath of air" every evening.

"The Little Kidnappers" is a sentimental story of two small boys who are being raised by their grandfather, a stern old Scot. The boys want a dog, but a dog isn't practical to their grandfather, so they settle for the next best thing — a baby girl. The natural complications result, and a happy ending is reached.

As Dr. Bingham of the history department put it, "These are two very fine films. Neither of them, of course, came out of Hollywood."

tures a version of Shakespeare's "Romeo and Juliet." The film was the grand prize winner in the Venice Film Festival. It was also filmed in Italy, in and around some of the churches there. We understand the film concentrates more on the background than on Mr. Shakespeare's story.

Playing with "Romeo and Juliet" is Anna Magnani in "Volcano," a story of raw, virile violence! ho hum.

Humphrey Bogart continues in his disguise as a minister of God in "The Left Hand of God," through Saturday at the McKenzie in Springfield. Also playing is "Canyon Crossroads." For those who like a liberal helping of sentiment, "Love is a Many Splendored Thing" opens Sunday at the McKenzie. This film is not nearly as splendored as it's kicked up to be—but those who like tear stained butterflies may enjoy it.

Walt Disney's latest, "The Lady and the Tramp" continues through Saturday at the Eugene Drive-In. Best bits include a song by Peggy Lee and two Siamese cats. "The Man from Alamo" is also playing.

June and Jets

Sunday Alan Ladd flies through the air with the aid of jets and June Allyson back to her stock role, instead of trying to make a "shrike" of her. Co-feature is "The Steel Cage."

Audie Murphy finally gets blown off the screen at the Heilig Saturday. Sunday begins a short run of "Special Delivery" and "Pirates of Tripoli."

The New Fox features liberal doses of anti-communism in "Blood Alley," with John Wayne and Lauren Bacall. "The Master Plan" also tries to entertain audiences.

The Eugene Very Little Theatre continues the run of its current play, "Charley's Aunt," a comedy. From the selection of movies, the short run down Hilliard is better than the run down town.

Radio Station KWAX Begins Second Week

KWAX will go into its second week of broadcasting tonight. One of the most important jobs is that of staff announcing. This entails the giving of station breaks and spot announcements.

The staff announcers for this term are Jack Boone and Dan Frank on Mondays, Paul Raffon and Art Wolfe on Tuesdays, Vern Wheelwright and John Robertson on Wednesdays, Gary Calahan and Jim Costello on Thursdays, Jerry Kelly and Jerry Ramsey on Fridays, and Darrell Matney and Ralph Curtis on Sundays.

KWAX-works (9 'till 11 p.m.), is the students' show. This disc jockey program is different and offers a variety of music and laughs. George Johnson does the show on Monday, Jon Powell on Tuesday, Tom Waldrop on Wednesday, Curt Huey on Thursday, and Jerry Chase on Friday.

Every week KWAX has two live broadcasts over radio station KOAC in Corvallis. These interesting and informative programs are handled by Jack Dugan on Mondays from 7 'till 9, and George Bussy on Thursdays between 4 and 5. The Monday broadcast (carried on KWAX) consists of an half an hour tape recording; Spencer Snow and his guitar; forums and general information round out the program. The Thursday show consists of a 30 minute drama, 15 minutes of campus highlights, and 15 minutes of Spencer Snow ballads.
