

Violinist Gives Concert To Begin Charter Day

By June Scott
Emerald Staff Writer

First event of the two-day celebration of the University's second annual Charter Day will be a concert by Roman Totenberg at 8 p.m. tonight in the Student Union ballroom.

Admission to the concert is by ticket, obtained free of charge from the SU main desk.

The internationally known violin virtuoso came to the United States in 1935 from his native

Poland. He is famous for soloing with various symphony orchestras, his interpretations of the classics and his modern repertory.

Since coming to America, Totenberg has given recitals at the Library of Congress chamber music concerts, at the White House and Carnegie hall.

Handel's "Sonata in D Major" will open the program, followed by "Concerto in A Major" by Mozart. Other selections will be "Spanish Dances" by Nin, "Caprice No. 24" by Paganini and "La Plus Que Lente" (Valse) by Debussy.

Totenberg will close his recital with Moskowski-Sararate's "Guitarre" and Copeland's "Hoe Down." Joaquin Nin-Culmell will accompany.

A procession will precede the formal convocation in observance of Charter day Tuesday at 2 p.m. in McArthur court.

The color guard, Platform Party Marshall P. R. Waske, platform party, Faculty Marshall Carlisle Moore and faculty will form the line of march, in that order, at 1:30 p.m. at Fenton hall.

President O. Meredith Wilson heads the party platform, followed by President Barnaby C. Keeney, of Brown university, the Most Rev. Edward D. Howard,

Law Class Comes From 16 Schools

Fifteen institutions other than the University of Oregon are represented among the 47 members of the law school's incoming class, according to a survey completed recently by Dean Orlando J. Hollis.

The average age of the new class is 24 years, according to the survey. There are 26 veterans, and single men number 30. Twenty-four have bachelor's degrees. One has a master's degree.

Twenty-eight students are entering the law school from the University of Oregon, but 15 other institutions also are represented. Three entered from the University of Idaho, and two each from Oregon State college and Portland State college.

Other schools represented are Cornell, Dartmouth, Eastern Oregon College of Education, Georgetown university, Lewis and Clark, Linfield, Ohio State, Reed college, Rice Institute, University of California, University of Washington and Willamette university.

Gridsters Aid Capture of Fleeing Pair

About 15 members of Oregon's football team, returning from the Portland game by bus, helped state police arrest two men Sunday afternoon.

A squad member said the incident, which took place a few miles south of Salem, went like this:

The team's bus came up behind a car which was weaving all over the road. The car pulled off the road, allowing the bus to pass. The bus then met a state police car, which the players flagged down by honking the horn and waving their arms out the window.

The lone police officer waited for the weaving car to approach, and signaled it to stop. But instead it turned off on a sideroad and attempted to avoid the patrolman by heading left up a hill.

After a 150-yard chase the officer caught the two men, who resisted arrest.

Meanwhile the football players were waiting, in case the police needed witnesses. Seeing the fight that was taking place, about 15 of the gridsters raced up the hill to assist.

Five of the athletes jumped the most unruly of the two men, holding him down so that he could be handcuffed. Meanwhile Center Norm Chapman stood threateningly over the second man, who decided it was better to play safe than be sorry.

Anticipating that the two might be hard to handle on the way to Salem, the policeman asked the football players to remain until more officers arrived. The team then proceeded to Eugene.

New Rally Group Elects First Officers

Vinton Sommerville was elected president, and Jean Singleton, secretary, of the newly-formed rally committee at the group's first meeting Thursday.

The committee formed to consider card tricks for the Homecoming game will meet Wednesday noon.

The rally committee is composed of representatives from all living organizations. Adviser to the group is Lorrie Whitten.

$5,000 Available For Dad's Scholarships

More than $5,000 has been made available to the University for Oregon Dad's club scholarships.

Fourteen scholarships totaling $2,000 have already been awarded by the Dads' for this school year. More money is to be made available later in the year for outstanding students whose small scholarships prove inadequate.

Last year the Oregon Dads' club awarded 30 scholarships totaling $2,600. Most scholarships were in amounts of $200, $165, and $100. Smaller awards were made for a single term.

The great majority of the scholarship winners maintained more than a 3.0 GPA, while many of them made the honor roll at least one term.

Almost all freshmen who received scholarships for this year were at or near the top of their graduating classes.

The Dads' club recently discussed plans for Dads' day on February 4. The group voted to invite President O. Meredith Wilson to be the principal speaker. Chancellor John Richards will also be asked to speak.

Gordon E. Wilson, Portland, is president of the organization.
