

Students Show 'Race Project'

The final results of the week-end "Anchorage" project done by the third, fourth and fifth year architecture students will be on display in the art gallery of Student Union until Thanksgiving.

This project was the drawing up of plans for an anchorage on the millrace for the ASUO millrace committee.

These plans include facilities for a boat house, snack bar, banquet dining rooms, and parking space. Site for the drawings was designated as north of the millrace and east of the physical plant.

The projects included sketches, models, perspectives, and floor plans for the proposed anchorage.

This 12-hour weekend project was under the direction of W. S. Hayden, professor of architecture.

The anchorage development is only one of the future planned steps by the millrace committee. Already approved is a temporary structure for the boathouse.

Has Approval

The ASUO millrace committee has the approval for re-engineering of the waterflow system of the millrace, and arrangements have been made with the city of Eugene for the sharing of costs for improvement and maintenance of the millrace.

A campaign has already been launched by the committee to raise funds for the "Anchorage." President O. Meredith Wilson has announced the appropriation of funds to "seed" the campaign. He also designated Homecoming weekend as the time to appeal to the alumni to help rebuild this part of old Oregon campus life.

General Requirements

The following requirements were given to the students working on the project in connection with the future building plans. There must be facilities for storage of 20 canoes owned by the University; storage of additional canoes and long boats owned by the Boy Scouts, Council of the Northwest; space provisions for launching, loading of canoes, repairs and maintenance; dining space for student groups and "drop-in" patrons; provisions for eating in the open in favorable weather; and refreshment dispensing facilities.

Alum Registration Directions Given

Homecoming hospitality chairman Evelyn Nelson and Mary Jo Fourier have asked alumni to register at their living organizations following the Oregon-OSC football game Saturday.

Anyone not affiliated with a living organization, they said, registration will be held at the booth in the Student Union from 2 to 4 p.m. Friday and from 9 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Saturday.

OSC 'Visitors' Trapped, Shaved

Two visiting firemen from OSC had their ardor dampened somewhat early Friday morning after they were apprehended by UO students, and held under guard in Earl hall. A pre-dawn "kangaroo court" found one OSC student sans hair. The other made his appearance on campus Friday morning at the end of a 12 foot length of chain.

A "ceremonial" was slated for later Friday afternoon.

Millrace Ground-Breaking Scheduled for This Morning

Ground-breaking ceremonies for the new University boathouse will be at 11:45 a.m. this morning on the north bank of the Millrace east of the physical plant. Orville Thompson, president of the Oregon Alumni association, will turn the first shovel of dirt.

Attending the ceremony will be members of the student-faculty Millrace committee, the alumni executive committee, friends of the University Millrace and University administration.

Construction of the boathouse is the second step in the Millrace committee's plan for restoration of the historic landmark. University President Wilson authorized $2000 this fall for the building of the boathouse and purchase of four canoes.

Present plans call for a structure to accommodate 20 canoes. The boathouse will be completed by spring term. Detailed plans as to exact site and style of construction are now in the hands of the campus planning committee.

Boathouse and Millrace facilities are to be administered by the Student Union as part of the SU Board's recreational program. Canoes will be rented to townspeople and students.

Members of the student-faculty Millrace committee include J. Orville Lindstrom, business manager of the University; I. I. Wright, superintendent of the physical plant; Bass Dyer, alumni secretary; A. L. (Si) Ellingson, director of the Student Union; F. A. Cuthbert, professor of landscape architecture.

Lettermen Meet In New Lounge

There will be no regular march of the Order of the "O" before the Homecoming game this year, but all lettermen are asked to meet in the Lettermen's lounge in McArthur court at 12:50 p.m. today. The lounge is located in the north end where the ticket office was formerly.

The lettermen will form two parallel lines for the Oregon team to enter through when they appear on the field. Then all members of the organization will sit together in a reserved section on the Oregon side of the field.
