Johns Hopkins Prof Tells of 'Courtly Love'

"In the western world, the concept of courtly love has undergone considerable changes during the centuries," according to Leo Spitzer, professor emeritus of Johns Hopkins university.

Speaking on "Courtly Love" in the Dad's Lounge of the Student Union Monday night, Spitzer went on to say that the ideal of courtly love persisted into the 19th century.

Origins for courtly love developed in southern France by the troubadours, the most famous of whom was William of Aquitaine.

"The poems moved on a plane of acquiescence, with a one-sidedness basic element slanted towards the men," he said. Love, at that time, was a composite of suffering and joy. The poet never mentioned the physical characteristics of his lady, but always looked for one abstract joy that he could worship.

Going down into the Renaissance period, love became a relationship of closeness through distance, thereby creating a paradoxical type of love.

Love changed very rapidly in the 20th century with the emphasis on the perfect lady moving in society as an equal among men.

Spitzer, an authority in the field of Old French literature and linguistics, is on the University campus as a guest of the department of foreign languages. He will speak Thursday at 4 p.m. in Friendly 214. Subject of the talk will be "Marie de France's Lai du Cheivreufeuil," which concerns the Tristan-Isolde story.

Alum Top Grad In Army Class

Second Lieutenant Robert J. Arndt, a 1955 graduate of the University of Oregon, has been graduated at the top of his class from the basic infantry officers' course at Fort Benning, Ga.

Lt. Arndt, whose home is in Eugene, was first in a class of 202 officers taking the course from Oct. 3 to Feb. 11.

He was a distinguished military graduate of the University and was awarded the association of the Army infantry award last spring as the outstanding infantry graduate from the University.

In addition, he was executive officer of the cadet regiment during the 1954-55 year and served as vice-commander of the local chapter of Scabbard and Blade, national military honorary.

Panel Plans Talk On 'Segregation'

"Segregation on Campus," will be the title of a panel discussion sponsored by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the Student Union.

Participating in the discussion group will be Sam Whitney, representing the negro; Harry Asch, representing the Jewish; and George Fick, representing the Catholic. Ely Chertok, instructor in sociology, will act as moderator.

The purpose of the discussion is to acquaint people with the discrimination problem on campus. Each participant will be asked to tell of their happiest and unhappiest experience in situations involving racial and religious relationships.

All students are asked to attend. Members of the NAACP are especially urged to attend as there will be a short business meeting following the program.

Five $100 Grants Offered Students By Eastern Star

The Grand Chapter of Oregon, Order of the Eastern Star, is again granting five $100 scholarships to women students of junior status, who are members or daughters of the Order of Eastern Star in Oregon.

Scholarships are awarded at the end of the junior year to worthy students in need of financial assistance during their senior year.

Applications may be sent to the Grand Chapter student loan committee by May 1. All correspondence may be addressed to: Mrs. Helen D. Lunde, 18602 S.E. Caruthers Street, Portland 16, Ore.

Further information concerning these scholars may be obtained by calling Karl Onthank's office at ext. 256.

All other scholarship applications are due March 1. This includes scholarship renewals. No scholarships are automatically renewed.

Panel Discusses Young Marriage

Members of Mortar Board will discuss the Mademoiselle article, "The Marriage Trap," Wednesday at 4 p.m. in the Student Union. All women students have been invited to attend.

The panel members are Inga

Shipstead, Germaine LaMarche, Barbara Bailey, Sonia Edwards Bell, and Ann Erickson. Jean Sandine, also a member of Mortar Board, will act as moderator.

The magazine article which will be discussed by the group appeared in the September 1955 issue of Mademoiselle magazine. It deals with the less rosy side of young marriage—how it works out in real life when the wife supports her husband while he finishes his schooling, when their plans are changed by outside circumstances.

The article will be discussed in conjunction with another article which appeared in the December issue of the same magazine as a rebuttal.

All interested women are welcome to attend.

Infirmiry to Give Diphtheria Tests To UO Students

Students who wish to be given a Schick test for diphtheria may obtain them now in the infirmiry, according to Dr. Fred N. Miller, head of the Student Health service. Sufficient supplies are now available for the test, and no future difficulties in obtaining materials are expected.

Another case of diphtheria was reported Monday with the death of a four year old boy visiting in Junction City. This is the third death in the state due to diphtheria during the past two weeks, with at least three additional cases reported, one of them in Springfield.

Regular dispensary hours are from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday and from 8 to 12 a.m. on Saturday.

Students who have not been immunized within the last three years have been urged to get a Schick test from the Student Health service or from their personal doctor. Booster shots will be given only if the Schick test shows that the individual is susceptible, Dr. Miller said.

There will be no charge for the Schick test, but if toxoid is required, a small charge will be made.

Honoraries to Give Party for Women

Phi Theta, junior women's honorary, and Kwama, sophomore women's honorary, will co-sponsor a party Thursday at 4 p.m. for all girls interested in their activities.

The theme of the party is "White and Blue Party for You." It will be held in the Carson hall living room, and any girls, particularly freshmen and sophomores, are welcome to attend.

The purpose of the party is to acquaint women with the activities of the two organizations, and to answer any questions which may arise concerning them.

Campus clothes will be in order. Refreshments will be served and a short program will be presented.
