Editor's note: According to the ASUO constitution, proposed amendments shall be published in the Emerald on three successive days, and shall be voted upon by ballot of the student body one week from the date of the last publication. Following are the proposed amendments.

It is hereby moved that Article VI of the ASUO Constitution be amended as follows:

Section II, Section III, and Section V are hereby repealed.

Section II shall be amended to read as follows:

Positions elected at large. Positions elected at large shall include President, Vice-President, and nine Senators at Large. Candidates for President shall be listed on a separate ballot. Their names shall also appear on the ballot for Senator at Large. The candidate for President receiving a majority, or the last remaining candidate after the transfer of other ballots under the preferential system, as set forth in Article III of the by-laws, shall be declared President. The candidate for President receiving the second highest number of votes shall be declared Vice-President. The unsuccessful candidates for President shall be considered candidates for Senator at Large. Nine Senators at Large shall then be selected under the preferential system of voting as set out in Article III of the by-laws. In this election the Senator at Large votes for the successful candidates for President and Vice-President shall be redistributed and counted according to the second choice indicated on the ballots.

Section III shall be amended to read as follows:

Class positions. In the elections for class offices, each candidate shall designate the office sought (president or representative), and after the election of president and vice-president all remaining ballots shall be credited to candidates for representative only.

.....Yes, I am in favor of the amendment.

.....No, I am opposed to the amendment.

Short Story as Art Is Topic of English Prof's Browsing Room Talk

Ray B. West Jr., visiting professor of English, explored the ins and outs of the short story as an art form Wednesday night in the Browsing Room lecture. To him the short story takes a place in literature comparable in its own way to the novel and the poem.

But, as West described it, the short story is the "newest literary form." Edgar Allen Poe gave it the first touch of the something called "art" when he described certain tales as making a real, special contribution, he said.

West went on to explain the rest of the story, with its many own personalities making its history, such as the unique contributions of Chekov and James. And yet today, because of its youth, West said, the short story remains flexible as a form for future writers to expend their ideas.

West described the peculiar characteristics that make the short story; the emphasis on action, character, atmosphere, and the motivating idea; but for a contrast to the novel, he fell back on Poe's definition of the "singleness of effect."
