Co-ed Finalists Versatile

Six sophomore women have been chosen as finalists in the Betty Co-ed contest by a panel of Eugene judges. Candidates were chosen by living organizations on the basis of activities, personal appearance and poise.

The contest, along with "Joe College," is held in conjunction with the Sophomore Whiskerino, to be held this Saturday night from 9 p.m. to midnight. Voting will be from 9 to 10 p.m. at the door of the Student Union ballroom.

Here are interviews of three of the candidates. The other three will be interviewed in Friday's paper.

From Portland is Sharon Meyer, a Delta Gamma who is majoring in elementary education.

Among Sharon's campus activities this year, she is secretary of Kwama, and was promotions chairman of the Bunion Derby. Last year as a freshman, she headed the decorations for the Frosh Sno-ball, worked on the Kiddy Karnival, and was on exchange dinners for Duck Preview.

Among her hobbies, Sharon picks swimming and golf as her favorites on the sports side, and also likes to draw.

At the present, liberal arts is the major of Sue Sandoz, busy member of Kappa Kappa Gamma, who comes from Astoria.

Besides her duties as an ASUO senator, Sue is on the Public Relations committee of the SU, co-chairman of the queen selection for Homecoming, co-chairman of the social committee for the Whiskerino, and is a member of Kwama. Last year as a freshman,

Sue was equally busy as frosh representative and decorations chairman for the Sno-ball.

Sue lists outdoor sports as her favorite pastime, with swimming and fishing topping the list.

From Roseburg is Mary Schulze, an Alpha Phi sophomore who is presently majoring in liberal arts.

Besides her time consuming work as music librarian at KWAX, Mary has found time to work as co-chairman of programs for the Whiskerino and to be member-at-large on Pan-Hellenic Council.

Last year, Mary was equally busy as co-chairman of promotions for Mother's Weekend and as a finalist in the Sweetheart of Sigma Chi contest.

As a favorite pastime, Mary lists music as her number one choice, with dancing a close second.

CIT President Traces Development of Science

"there is a basis for harmony among nations." He said that "all humans live together on the same planet . . . and its only getting more crowded."

Calling for an "intensive world wide attack" in the search for answers to the world's problems, he said "Science can be man's savior."

In the presentation of distinguished service awards, Dean of the School of Music Theodore Kratt presented a citation to Ernest Bloch, II, for his grandfather, Ernest Bloch, music teacher and performer.

Bloch, an Oregon resident, has "written his name with the masters," Kratt said.

Victor P. Morris, dean of the School of Business Administration read a citation to James H. Gilbert for his "lifetime of service to this University, its students, its community and the commonwealth."

George S. Turnbull, Professor Emeritus of Journalism, presented a citation to Charles A. Sprague, "for his strength and courage as editor and public servant."

The University of Oregon band, under the baton of Robert S. Vagner, played three selections at the convocation; "Orb and Sceptre March" from the Suite in E Flat by Walton; Third Movement, by Holst, the Oregon Pledge Song by Evans and "March K. V. 215" by Mozart.

The University Singers and String Ensemble sang the "Silent Devotion" and "Response from Avodath Hakodesh" by Ernest Bloch. Max D. Risinger directed.

Young GOP's Go To Hear Ike Talk

Several carloads of Young Republicans were to leave for Portland this morning to help welcome President Eisenhower to the city for his regional speech tonight.

The group was to meet other state Young Republicans in Portland early this afternoon and then travel, led by a police escort, to the airport to meet the President.

After the President's arrival a car parade will move through downtown Portland to the Multnomah hotel, which will be headquarters for the President's party.

The campus group will attend the President's televised speech tonight in Portland Civic Auditorium.

Oct. 25 the Student Union and the Young Republicans will host Rep. Harris Ellsworth, of the Fourth Congressional District at a coffee hour in the SU.

The following evening, Oct. 26, Young Republicans will hold a meeting, after which they will attend the "Candidates Fair," a non-partisan gathering where voters may meet the political candidates of both parties.

"wrong" politics.
But this, he said, does not explain a deep-held mistrust of the university. People are most used to dealing in questions of "how," such as "How are we going to do this?" Redfield said the university concerns itself primarily with questions of the nature of things; the questions of "what" and "why." Such propositions as "Who am I?" and "Why am I here?"—fall into this area, he said, and are a source of mistrust to people dealing primarily with "how" questions, for they don't understand "why" questions.

Smith Seeks End Of Gas Price War

SALEM (AP)—Gov. Elmo Smith Wednesday asked eight major oil companies to end a gasoline price war in the Eugene area.

He made the request after independent dealers complained that they were being hurt by price cutting.

"A sizeable and earnest group of men representing the Oregon Gasoline Dealers Assn. met with me," the governor said, "and charged that Oregon's gasoline unfair sales act is being violated by several of the major oil companies who are forcing the retail price of gas so low that all affected service station operators and the independent dealers cannot compete.

"Assuming these charges to be true, the state of Oregon cannot condone such practices which are in violation of existing law and they should be stopped."

He asked the companies for "an immediate answer assuring me of your cooperation and that you will refrain from such alleged monopolistic practices."
