

SANDWICH BOARD contest winners, who are pledges of Alpha Delta Sigma, men's advertising honorary, are, left to right, Bill Bryant, 3rd place winner; Glen Graves, 1st place; and Kazutoshi Kurose, 2nd place. The signs were displayed on campus during Homecoming.

(Photo by Ann McKechnie)

To Appear Friday — Piggers Guide!

The Pigger's Guide, a directory of students and faculty with a listing of their home and campus addresses, will go on sale Friday in the Student Union and Co-op, according to Sam Vahey, editor.

Cost of the directory is 60 cents. It is published annually by the ASUO Student Publications Board.

Jr. Panhellenic Officers Elected

Members of Junior Panhellenic held their first meeting last week. Membership is composed of all sorority pledge class presidents.

Representing their sororities are: Jane Garrett, Gamma Phi Beta; Joan Meltebeke, Alpha Gamma Delta; Gwen Moore, Zeta Tau Alpha; Kathy Ruaro, Sigma Kappa; Beth Teague, Alpha Xi Delta; Len Wyley, Alpha Chi Omega.

Connie Ayotte, Alpha Phi; Pat Barclay, Delta Zeta; Bunny Brissenden, Pi Beta Phi; Edith Church, Chi Omega.

Eileen Hanna, Alpha Delta Pi; Linda Holman, Kappa Alpha Theta; Ellen McMurtry, Alpha Omicron Pi; Virginia Curtis, Tri-Delta; Diane Duncan, Kappa Kappa Gamma; and Sue Fuller, Delta Gamma.

University Film Society Memberships on Sale

Memberships in the University Film Society are still on sale. This group will sponsor films not generally available to the public, but which have become significant in the art of film making.

In order to finance the program, membership fees of $5 will be charged, and members will receive a card which may be used for 12 admissions.

Memberships may be purchased at the office of the department of speech and drama, Villard 215, from 9 to 12 a.m. and 1 to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday, the Museum of Art Desk from 1 to 5 p.m. daily, the Co-op and the office of the school of architecture and allied arts, Architecture 212, from 9 to 12 a.m. and 1 to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

READ EMERALD WANT ADS

OSC Greek Houses Get Tax Bill

CORVALLIS (AP) — College fraternities and sororities, long considered exempt from personal property taxes, are getting ready to contest a recent ruling of the state Tax Commission that compels them to pay.

Richard Wegner, Benton County assessor, said Oregon State College fraternities, sororities and cooperative houses have been appraised and notices sent out that taxes are to be imposed. In Lane County, site of the University of Oregon, Assessor W. W. Smith said steps have been started there to collect the tax.

The tax bill is being back-dated five years in Benton County. The law affects student cooperatives and boarding houses as well as fraternities and sororities, the commission said. Religious and benevolent organizations are exempt.

The OSC organizations have personal property assessed at $48,190. The 1956 tax amounts to $3,551 and for the past five years the bill comes to $16,500.

Oregon State fraternities and sororities have retained an attorney, Peter Gunner of Salem, to advise them. They have made tentative plans to protest to the county sheriff later this month. Wegner said that if the sheriff turns them down, they have the right of appeal to the tax commission.

The living groups feel that as long as the tax has not been imposed in the past it should not be applied now. The tax commission said it should have been collected right along, and that if the groups do not like the law their recourse is to get it changed.

Cykler to Discuss Art, Music in Talk

"Art and Music in Austria" will be discussed by E.A. Cykler, professor of music, in the Student Union browsing room Wednesday evening at 7:30. The speech will be illustrated by slides.

Cykler, who recently spent 18 months in Austria on a Fulbright scholarship, will be introduced by D. M. Dougherty, head of the foreign language department.

Dougherty will also conduct a discussion period following the lecture.

Fresh to Tryout For Talent Show

Auditions for the Freshman Talent Show will be held today at 6 p.m.

Those students trying out for the program are to meet at this time in Gerlinger Annex, according to Janet Clark, co-chairman of the event.

Skeptics Corner Club Will Hear Nicholson

Dr. Wesley Nicholson, pastor of the Eugene First Congregational Church, will speak at a meeting of the Skeptics Corner Wednesday at 4 p.m. in the Men's lounge of Gerlinger Hall.

His talk will be "Creation—Does Science and Religion Conflict?" This talk will be the second in a series, sponsored by the YMCA and YWCA groups. All students and faculty members are invited to attend.

Onthank Leaves on Navy Cruise

Karl W. Onthank, Director of Graduate Placement will leave for Seattle Thursday evening to attend the Civilian Orientation Cruise, conducted by the Navy Department for the purpose of presenting a comprehensive picture of the Naval Air Training Program.

The Cruise will include inspection of work done at the Naval Air Station at Dallas and particularly at the Training Center at Pensacola. From there a day's cruise aboard an aircraft carrier is arranged with the opportunity for seeing the Naval Aviation cadets make first takeoffs and landings.

As the Navy Department recruits qualified University graduates for this program, they are anxious to inform the Placement Director about it.

While en-route at Seattle and Tacoma, Onthank will call on firms and agencies, which will be employing U.O. graduates.

PATRONIZE YOUR ADVERTISERS

LITTLE STORIES WITH BIG MORALS

First Little Story

Once upon a time when the inventors of the airplane were very small boys, the roof on their house developed a terrible leak. A repairman was called to fix it. He set his ladder against the side of the house, but it was a very tall house and his ladder was not quite long enough to reach the roof.

"Sir, we have an idea," said the boys who even at that tender age were resourceful little chaps. "We will get up on top of the ladder and boost you up on the roof."

So the boys climbed to the top of the ladder, and the repairman came after them, and they tried to boost him up on the roof. But, alas, the plan did not work and they all came tumbling down in a heap.

MORAL: Two Wrights don't make a rung.

Second Little Story

Once upon a time a German exchange student came from Old Heidelberg to an American university. One night there was a bull session going on in the room next to his. "Ach, excuse me," he said timidly to the group of young men assembled there, "aber what is that heavenly smell I smell?"

"Why, that is the fragrant aroma of our Philip Morris cigarettes," said one of the men.

"Himmel, such natural tobacco goodness!"

"It comes in regular size in the handy Snap-Open pack, or in long size in the new crushproof box. . . Won't you try one?"

"Dankeschön," said the German exchange student happily, and from that night forward, whenever the men lit up Philip Morris Cigarettes, he never failed to be present.

MORAL: Where there's smoke, there's Meyer.

Third Little Story

Once upon a time Penelope, the wife of Ulysses, had herself a mess of trouble in Ithaca. With her husband away at the Trojan War, all the local blades were wooing Penelope like crazy. She stalled them by saying she wouldn't make her choice until she finished weaving a rug. Each night when her suitors had gone home, Penelope, that sly minx, would unravel all the weaving she had done during the day.

Well sir, one night she left her rug lying outside. It rained buckets, and the rug got all matted and shrunken, and Penelope couldn't unwind it. When the suitors came back in the morning, the poor frantic woman started running all over the house looking for a place to hide.

Well sir, it happened that Sappho, the poetess, had come over the night before to write an ode about Penelope's Grecian urn. So she said, "Hey, Penelope, why don't you hide in this urn? I think it's big enough if you'll kind of squinch down."

So Penelope hopped in the urn, and it concealed her perfectly except for her hair-do which was worn upswept in the Greek manner.

Well sir, with the suitors pounding on the door, Sappho had to move fast. She whipped out a razor and cut off Penelope's hair. The suitors looked high and low but they couldn't find Penelope.

MORAL: A Penny shaved is a Penny urned.

©Max Shulman, 1956

Are you still with us? If so, settle your shattered nerves with a mild and tasty Philip Morris, natural tobacco goodness all the way through, made by the sponsors of this column.