

Eleven Duck Grid Seniors Bid Adieu In 'Civil War' Tilt

By TOM HOWSER
Emerald Sports Writer

Twenty-three seniors from Oregon and Oregon State will play their last intercollegiate ball game tomorrow when the Ducks and the Beavers tangle at Parker Stadium in Corvallis.

For the eleven seniors on the Oregon squad, this will probably be their last game, unless they go on to professional ranks, but the Oregon State players will see more grid action on New Year's Day, when they tangle with Iowa in the Rose Bowl.

The biggest Oregon loss is at guard, where coach Len Casanova loses three outstanding regulars, Reanous Cochran, Spike Hillstrom and Jack Pocock.

Cochran Steady Performer

Cochran, an education major from Marshfield high school where he played end, has seen a lot of action this year, as one of the steadies and most consistent performers in the middle of the line.

Also from Marshfield high is Spike Hillstrom, a long time friend of Cochran's. An education major, too, Hillstrom has the reputation of spending as much time in the opposition's backfield as most of their players. Weighing about 195 and standing 5'8", Hillstrom is about the same size as Cochran, and teams with him to give Oregon a tough pair of fireplug guards.

Physical education is the major of Jack Pocock, who transferred to Oregon in his junior year from Boise JC and played a lot of ball for last year's team. Hampered by injuries this year, Pocock has been in enough to prove a thorn in the side of the opposition.

McHugh Iron Man

The loss of Captain Phil McHugh, an education major, will leave a big gap at end for Casanova to fill next year. A strong consistent performer, McHugh played 463 minutes last year, establishing himself as a real iron man. He has also excelled in the classroom, maintaining above a three-point GPA.

Another reliable end which will be lost is Bill Tarrow, a PE major who transferred from Boise JC. Best on defense, Tarrow also has seen a lot of action offensively here and has given excellent depth to the end position.

After an outstanding performance against USC last week, big Chuck Austin, a regular at tackle this year, will be pointing for another good game at OSC this week to cap off a highly successful year. Majoring in liberal arts, Chuck has been especially valuable on defense this year, while more than doing his share on offense.

Playing his last game at center for the Ducks will be Nick Marulis, a defensive specialist who is majoring in liberal arts. Big and rough, Nick, along with the rest of his senior teammates, will be pointing for a third consecutive triumph over the Beavers.

Crabtrees Share Helm

Two quarterbacks, both Crabtrees, will share the brainpower against the Beavers tomorrow in their last performances. Tom and Jack (no relation) have shared the helm of the Duck squad most of the time this year, although Jack has been out with injuries during the latter part of this season.

Both players have done more than adequate jobs, with Tom shining especially in the WSC and USC contests. Jack is majoring in liberal arts while Tom is in Business Administration.

Big and speedy is Hank Loumena, the only loss from the halfback slot on this year's team. Capable of both brokenfield and line-crunching tactics, Hank has looked particularly good in the last few games. He is majoring in business.

A tremendous line-plunger with creditable speed is Fred (the Bull) Milclancik, a liberal arts major who transferred from Boise JC. Coupling his size with his drive, Fred has dented the enemies' end zone several times this season, and has been a consistent ground gainer.

Beavers Lose 12

OSC loses twelve men from their bowl bound squad, including All-American John Witte, an off-season wrestling champ who has taken great pleasure this year in tearing opposing lines (and ball carriers) to tiny pieces. Witte is an education major who is the last person to letter four years at OSC.

Also being lost at the tackle spot for the Beavers is Ernie Zwahlen, Witte's replacement. While not seeing too much action behind "Big John," Zwahlen has performed well when called upon.

OSC also loses three men at the guard slot, Vern Ellison, Frank Pellegrino, and John Snif-fen. With the exception of Pelligrino, the other men have been consistent regulars this year, and will be pointing for their first victory over the Ducks.

The Beavers also lose three regulars at the end slot. Going via the graduation route are Chuck Marsh, Frank Negri, and Norm Thiel, all of whom have seen action this year.

Again losses in the backfield will be somewhat lighter, since only three men, Tom Berry and Bob Sutton at fullback, and Gerry Laird at quarterback will not be back next year.

The sole loss at center will be Dick Corrick, a small but tough and regular player. Weighing only 167 pounds, Corrick has nevertheless been a capable blocker and particularly agile on defense.

Girls' Net Clubs Gain WRA Wins

WRA volleyball action Tuesday saw Highland house defeat Alpha Chi Omega, 44-19; Rebec house edge Delta Gamma, 26-21; and Ann Judson house win over Gamma Phi Beta by forfeit.

Waldorf Retires

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—Coach Lynn (Pappy) Waldorf announced to his squad Tuesday night that he is retiring as head football coach at California.

The 1956 season closes out Waldorf's current three-year pact with the Bears which actually runs until the end of June.

Said Waldorf:

"I intend to retire as coach of football at California at the end of my present contract which expires July 1, 1957. I have thoroughly enjoyed my 10 years at the University of California and I have particularly enjoyed working with this year's squad."

SAE Tops K-Sig In Protest Game

A fired-up Sigma Alpha Epsilon squad defeated Kappa Sigma 15-8 in the final and protested set of a class A game which began back on Nov. 12.

15-4. In the third game the official, after first ruling the game would go to nine points because of the time limit, reversed his decision and changed the limit to five.

The SAE's led 5-3 at the time and the Kappa Sigs filed an official protest. The final game was completed Tuesday and only enhanced SAE's original victory.
