Ducks Divide Games With Idaho Vandals

By JACK WILSON and JERRY RAMSEY

Free-throws dominated Oregon's initial home hoop series with Idaho Friday and Saturday nights. The two teams each grabbed their first PCC win, as Idaho took Friday's game, 64-46, and Oregon rebounded to a 50-48 triumph on Saturday night.

Idaho 64, Ducks 46

An utter lack of free-throw accuracy dashed the Ducks' slim hope of a win on Friday. Though Oregon led in field goals, 17-15, they were strictly cross-eyed at the charity-line, connecting on 12 of 31 tries. The Vandals, meanwhile, had plenty of chances and gave no quarter: they hit on 34 of 46 for the win.

Friday's outing was nothing if not ragged; neither team ever really got wound up a game calculated to thrill the 4000 spectators on hand. A tight Idaho zone kept Oregon from moving in close during the first period, and good shots were at a premium during the game for both groups.

Oregon grabbed the opening tip, and it wasn't long ere Charlie Franklin pushed in the night's first score, but henceforth Idaho and/or missed free-throws left them behind. A pusher by Bud Kuykendall with 13 minutes left brought the score to 12-11, the Ducks closest approach in the half; but then Idaho's tall, rangy forces, led by Jerry Jorgenson and Jim Branom, rolled to a 30-16 halftime bulge.

Sharp-eyed Bill Wilson started the period for Idaho by driving for a pair of points, and two free-throws and a jumper later, the Vandals had advanced to a 36-18 edge, as 16 minutes registered on the clock. But then Bud Kuykendall culminated a wild scramble for the rebound with a jump shot, and Wimp Hastings streaked in for a layup moments later.

The crowd sensed a rally, and they were right for a while: Kuykendall and others moved to 38-32 at 12:00, before Wilson hit a one-handed shot to end a six-minute Idaho drought.

The game see-sawed for a few minutes until Oregon threatened again. This time Ed Bingham and Hal Huff put the Ducks in jump-position at 45-40. At this point, Idaho's venerable coaching staff (even the manager had gray hair) called for a rest before Oregon caught up.

Seemingly refreshed, the Vandals, led by exceptionally accurate Bill Wilson, caught fire, and the Ducks were never close again.

Idaho continued their good free-throw work until the count was 58-55 with three minutes remaining.

Vandal guard Wilson paced both teams, with 14 of 17 gifts and three goals for 20 points. Bud Kuykendall led the Webfoots with 10.

Ducks 50, Idaho 48

Oregon's performances in the first half on Saturday night was little better than it was Friday evening, but this time their second-half comeback was successful. Charlie Franklin and Bill Moore were the heroes of this contest, with Moore scoring all of his 13 points in the second half and Franklin executing a neat fake to drop in the winning basket.

Idaho built up a 28-22 halftime lead, dividing the scoring exactly in half between Hodges' first and second units. Franklin and McHugh kept the Webfoots in the game in the first half, Charlie hitting six out of nine from the foul line and McHugh—the only Duck to make more than one field goal in that half—adding five points.

Moore came to life in the second half, for the first time this season—at least pointwise—since the Wichita game. He got Oregon scoring off to a second-half start with a free throw. Then he combined with Duffy and McHugh to close the gap to 32-29 before Idaho could find the basket again.

Finally, Brent Thomson ended the Vandal drought with a jump shot, but Moore countered with a nice hook. Idaho maintained their four-point lead until nine and a half minutes remained, when Wimp Hastings bucketed two free tosses to bring the score to 40-38.

Idaho's Jim Branom broke through for a layin to make it four points again, but free throws by Franklin and Moore cut it down to one and a jump shot by the agile Franklin put the Webfoots ahead for the first time.

The lead changed hands three more times, Idaho leading twice and Oregon once before Franklin's layin made it 49-48 with 1:49 showing on the clock.

The tension set in, and it must have been especially hard on Coach Belko, who had run a fever the night before and had gotten up off his sick bed to coach the Webfoots to their first conference victory.

Hastings, McHugh and Franklin were doing most of the ball handling during that crucial, minute-and-a-half stall, but it was Duffy's rebounding that saved the day. Three times during the final 40 seconds the big center cleared the boards to keep the ball in Oregon's possession, once to start the stall after Idaho's Jerry Jorgenson had shot and twice after missed Oregon free throws.

Duffy played the last 12 minutes with four fouls riding on his shoulders, but he still managed to play a whale of a defensive game. He grabbed off 16 rebounds.

Oregon outshot the Palouse kids, .286 to .241, and also had the boards on the taller Vandals, clearing 45 to Idaho's 33. The Webfoots had only 12 field goals to 13 for Idaho, but Oregon's vastly improved foul shooting spelled the difference.

Franklin played most of the game with a bandaged forehead, having been injured in an opening-minute collision.

Webfoot Wrestlers Drub Lewis and Clark

The Oregon varsity wrestling squad racked up their second consecutive victory last Saturday against Lewis and Clark, while the Frosh absorbed their third loss in as many starts as they went against Hudson Bay High of Vancouver.

The experienced Webfoot varsity men took the usually strong Lewis and Clark squad by a 28-6 count, losing only two matches, both of those by decisions. The Frosh squad, still hurting for men, went down before the Strong Hudson Bay squad, 25-16.

Lee Allen, J. D. Griffith, and Howard Timmons all contributed falls to the Oregon effort, while Jim Beaton won by a decision and Dave Newland and Ken Kesey won by forfeits. The only losers were Bob Stevens in the 123 class, who dropped a close 3-2 match to two year state champ Keith Schrock and sophomore Bob McCullough, who lost to coast champ Mike Clock in the unlimited division, also by a decision.

According to coach Bill Hammer, all the men did exceptionally well, and he could not single out any one man who did an outstanding job, since they all performed so well.

Hammer felt however, that the big job of preparing for the defense of their coast conference dual meet crown was a big factor in determining how the squad will fare in the forthcoming PCC mat action.

With three consecutive conference matches against Washington State, Oregon State, and the University of Washington on the agenda, Hammer said that he thought they would do a good job if the squad continued to work as hard as they have so far this season.

Oregon Frosh Down Hennen-Vos, MAC

By BOB MULLIN
Emerald Sports Writer

Oregon's well-rounded freshman basketball squad displayed an aggressive offense and a sharp defense when needed as they defeated Hennen-Vos 59-54 on Friday night, then rolled over the Multnomah Athletic Club Saturday night 89-72.

Everybody got into the act with Jerry Anderson and Chuck Rask sparking the Ducklings' Friday night, and Dale Jones and Stu Robertson leading their Saturday night victory.

Rally Stops Hennon

A disastrous first half almost cost the frosh their game against the Eugene AAU quintet. Hennon-Vos charged back from a 3-2 deficit with center Boyd Jarman doing most of the damage to build up an 18-9 lead midway in the period.

Oregon came back strong in the second half and led by Anderson's two field goals and four free throws, grabbed the lead for keeps, 35-34, with 16 minutes remaining, but not without a few anxious moments.

It was Rask's unerring play that kept the Ducklings ahead in the second half. Rask tallied 14 points in the second stanza and added his defensive tactics to Hennon's woes.

Rask and Anderson led the scorers with 19 and 18 points respectively, while Jarman also connected for 18 for the losers.

Frosh Outscore MAC

All five Duckling starters 34-16 lead with seven minutes remaining against Multnomah in their biggest scoring spurge of the season. Jones and Robertson did most of the damage as they scored repeatedly on feedins from guards Lundstrom and Rask.

The Frosh were never behind and were tied only and 2-2.

From there Oregon hit with every shot in the book and built up a scored in the double figures maining in the first half.

MAC made a slight comeback, but Rask swished a long set shot as the half ended to give the Frosh a high-scoring 45-34 lead.

After intermission, the Ducklings built their lead to 60-37, with Jerry Anderson, Robertson and Jones hitting continually from in close.

Jerry's brother, Max Anderson, high scoring center from last year's Oregon varsity squad, led the Multnomah squad to an 11 point splurge and eventually closed the margin to nine points twice during the second half.

Jones and Robertson netted 25 and 24 points respectively for the Ducklings for high-scoring honors. In the personal Anderson dual, Max, who was MAC's high scorer, topped Jerry 20 points to 14.

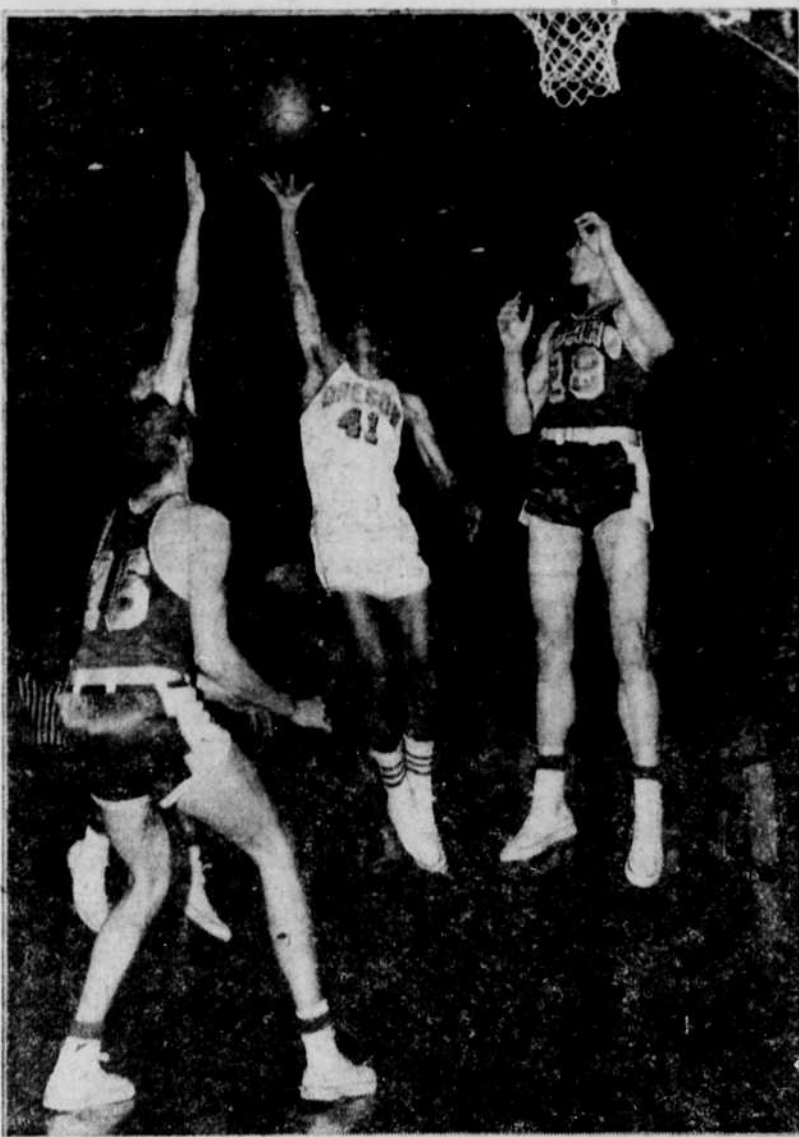

The two weekend victories boosted the Ducklings' record to four wins and no defeats. The freshmen face a rematch tilt with tough Hennon-Vos this Friday and meet Fernandez Loggers Saturday. Both games will be played at McArthur Court.

California Bears Lead Coast Race

By the Associated Press

Until Friday, at least, California's Golden Bears will continue to lead the Pacific Coast Conference basketball race, chiefly because they don't play their next conference game until then against Stanford.

California and UCLA remain the orlly undefeated teams, but the Bears have one more victory than the Bruins, who entertain Oregon State in Los Angeles Friday and Saturday.
