

Radio, TV Men Set Confab Here

More than 150 radio and television broadcasters are expected to attend the tenth annual western radio and television conference on the University campus Feb. 14-16.

This is the first time the conference has been held in Oregon. Representatives are expected from Montana, Idaho, Washington, Oregon, Utah, California, and Arizona.

Among the speakers will be Harry K. Newburn, formerly president of the University, and now president of the Educational Television and Radio center, Ann Arbor, Mich.

Gov. Robert D. Holmes, ex-director of station KAST at Astoria, will speak on the responsibilities of commercial broadcasters in public service and programming.

General chairman of the conference will be Glenn Starlin, head of the University of Oregon's speech department.

Women's Efforts Bring Trophies

Four University women combined their skiing talents at the Winter Carnival last weekend and came home with six trophies.

Two races were open to women: slalom and downhill. In the slalom race, Lynette Gotchy placed first, Kathy Thurston, second, and Paula Cook, third.

In the downhill race, Miss Gotchy placed first again, Sharon Armanko took second, and Paula Cook, third. The other nine schools didn't have a chance!

Both Lynette Gotchy and Sharon Armanko are sophomores from Reno, Nevada. Miss Gotchy is an elementary education major and a Delta Gamma. Miss Armanko is a liberal arts major and a Gamma Phi Beta.

Kathy Thurston is a Kappa Kappa Gamma and a junior from Bend, Ore. Paula Cook is a freshman from Klamath Falls.

Interviews Slated For Board Spots

Candidates for yell dukes and assistant rally board co-chairman will be interviewed in Gerlinger Annex tonight at 6:30 p.m. by the new rally board.

Petitions for the other open rally board posts, assistant secretary and positions on the promotion and publicity, special events, finances and rally committees, are due today at 5 p.m. in the ASUO petition box on the third floor of the Student Union.

Interviews for candidates for these positions will be Wednesday noon in the S.U. Room number will be posted.

Drama Conference Hears Swire, West

The Northwest Drama Conference, which last year drew six hundred persons, will be held on campus Feb. 7-9. All University students who are interested in drama may attend this conference which will include high school and college students and teachers from the Northwest.

Two of the featured speakers will be Willard Swire, executive secretary of the American National Theatre and Academy in New York, and Ed West, professor of drama at the University of Colorado.

Only registered students may attend the plays of meetings. Registration may be obtained through the University Theatre box office or by calling ext 401.

Record Committee Has Mozart Music Tonight

The Student Union Record Listening committee will hold an informal concert tonight at 7:30 featuring "Music of Mozart."

Students may request special Mozart numbers and may bring their own records to the concert. The group will meet in the Peter Benson Howard Listening Room, 202 Student Union.

THE DRESS PARADE

What will the American college student wear this spring? Gather round, you rascals, and light a good Philip Morris Cigarette, and puff that rich, natural tobacco, and possess your souls in sweet content, and listen.

As we know, college fashions have always been casual. This spring, however, they have become makeshift.

The object is to look madly improvised, gaily spur-of-the-moment! For example, girls, try a peasant skirt with a dinner jacket. Or matador pants with a bridal veil. Or Bermuda shorts with bronze breastplates. Be rakish! Be impromptu! Be devil-take-the-hindmost!

And, men, you be the same. Try an opera cape with sweat pants. Or a letter-sweater with kilts. Or a strait-jacket with hip boots. Be bold! Be daring! Be a tourist attraction!

Rock and Roll is Giving way to the Minuet

But all is not innovation in college fashions this spring. In fact, one of the highlights of the season turns time backward in its flight. I refer to the comeback of the powdered wig.

This charming accoutrement, too long neglected, has already caught on with style-conscious students all over the country. On hundreds of campuses rock-and-roll is giving way to the minuet, and patriotic undergraduates are dumping British tea into the nearest harbor. This, of course, does not sit well with old King George. For that matter, a lot of our own people are steamed up too, and there has even been some talk of revolution. But I hardly think it will come to that. I mean, how can we break with the mother country when we are dependent on her for so many things — linsey-woolsey, minie balls, taper snuffers, and all like that? She, on the other hand, relies on us for turkeys, Philip Morris, Cinemascope, and other valuable exports. So I say, if Molly Pitcher and those other Bryn Mawr hotheads will calm down, we may yet find an amicable solution for our differences. But let not our British cousins mistake this willingness to negotiate for weakness. If fight we must, then fight we will! Paul Revere is saddled up, the rude bridge arches the flood, and the ROTC is ready!

But I digress. We were smoking a Philip Morris Cigarette — O, darlin' cigarette! O, happy smoke! O, firm! O, fresh! O, fragrant! O, long-size! O, regular! O, get some! — and talking of new spring fashions, let us turn now to the season's most striking new feature: pneumatic underdrawers. These inflatable rubber garments make every chair an easy chair. Think how welcome they will be when you sit through a long lecture! They are not, however, without certain dangers. Last week, for example, Rimbaud Sigafos, a University of Pittsburgh sophomore, fell out of an 18th story window in the Tower of Learning. Thanks to his pneumatic underdrawers, he suffered no injury when he struck the sidewalk, but the poor fellow is still bouncing and it is feared that he will starve to death.
