

OREGON'S RALLY GIRLS will dance this weekend for the last time until next year's football opener as the Ducks play a pair of basketball games with Oregon State. To be seen at Corvallis to-

Inspiration Award Due for Professor

The faculty member who is judged to have achieved "the most inspiring" teaching performance this year will receive an award of $1,000 it has been announced. Students have been asked to submit their nominations for the faculty award to Donald DuShane, dean of students, in Emerald 207, before March 15.

A. J. Ersted has given the award, which will be presented annually to a University faculty member. In establishing the award, which will be known as the Ersted Award for Distinguished Teaching, Ersted said the award is not to be a "popularity contest." The award will be open to any member of the faculty who is teaching any given subject at the present time.

Students, in making their recommendation, should include information stating the reasons or the basis of the nomination. It should be in writing and should bear the signature of the person submitting it.

All recommendations will be held in strict confidence.

Books Accumulate At Lost-and-Found

Oregon's official lost-and-found office has an excess of unclaimed text books. Students may claim lost articles at the main desk of the Student Union.

A variety of stray objects, ranging from scarves and key chains to earrings and glasses, have been turned in. Students who claim articles should be able to tell the approximate date on which it was lost, thus enabling a faster check.

All objects are kept in the lost and found for a year, after which they are boxed up and sent to a local welfare organization. Another lost and found office is located in the music building for articles found there.

Jim Pond, assistant director of the Student Union, emphasizes the fact that there are many unclaimed text and note books in the lost and found. Many have names in them, but due to the limited number of personnel, there is no one to contact the owners.

Simplicity Keynote Seen For Spring's Suit Styles

By MARLENE PERKINS

Spotlight on Spring Suits! Each spring, the femmes turn their glances to the fashion world of suit, as a main part of their wardrobe. Today, the emphasis on suits is a line of simplicity.

One notable new spring suit is the young "Dutch Boy" silhouette. The jacket is short, the skirt is high with a wide contour belt, with soft pleats. Coming in acetate, rayon and Acrilan tweed, the price is set around $30.

For the dressier look, everyone is voting for the Silk Suit! One style has a fitted waist-length jacket, an extremely straight skirt, and a black pleat. This suit comes in such charming colors as pale parchment beige, ice blue or caramel; priced $30.

A red satin lining is the smart part of a suit fashioned by "Arthur Jay." The outward view shows a belted, whitened wool tweed, with panel-back lines.

Back for another year is the boxy suit in checks, with a white linen peter-pan collar and cuff trim. The jacket has make-believe pockets and a smart slim skirt.

Pastel wool tweed with gleaming satin piping is an ideal combination. Such suits come in the fitted style; priced around $40. Another big hit for spring will be the "cape influence" (detachable) of worsted flannel.

The highlighted feature of the 1957 spring suits will be a shorter jacket, ending about an inch below the waist. Along with this is the semi-box appearance, small collars, and quarter length sleeves.

For the dress up world of the next four months, be sure you have a practical, exquisite, yet spring suit in your wardrobe.

American know-how in nuclear physics, in mechanics, in technical fields, has long led the world—yet we accepted our ideas of the workings of the mind from Europe.

Now an American science of the human being has been developed—and American know-how of man himself is refuting all the "impossibilities" Europe laid down.

You CAN raise your I.Q. You CAN make yourself more able. You CAN raise your action level.
