

University ROTC Program . . .

 as "The American army at Yorktown completely routed the British, winning the Revolution," the sensitive person cannot help but be dismayed.

Drilling, that unfortunate exercise willed to the world by the Prussians (in particular), serves little purpose, except perhaps to teach the elite how to command and lead — if such qualities can be taught successfully, or as if they depend primarily on physical attributes.

The attitude of the students regarding this behaviorist training makes it a sham, the services lose more in respect than they could ever gain in discipline.

A real sore spot in the ROTC program is the extensive cheating carried on. The only attempt ever made to rectify this primarily inter-class situation has been that the curves are raised to foil the antics of the cheater, leaving the honest person in the lurch. He can either cheat, or be cheated. This is certainly a healthy atmosphere in which to raise the future leaders of our armed might.

If the organization of the program were patterned more in line with the interests and abilities of the better quality students, if the caliber of instruction were improved, and if the basic inadequacies of a military approach were brought more into consideration, the program might make more sense and justify its continuance as a part of the University. Otherwise it can only be an incongruous and ridiculous infirmity, put up with, but better done away with.

Tryouts to Begin For Ibsen Drama

Tryouts for Ibsen's play "Hedda Gabler" will be held Tuesday and Wednesday, Oct. 22 and 23, in 102 Villard. The times are 3-5 p.m. each afternoon, and again at 7:30 each evening.

Additional tryouts are being held Thursday, with the time to be announced later. Anyone unable to come at these times can make an appointment with LeRoy Hinze, director of the play to read a part, Hinze said. There are parts for four women and three men.

No preparation is needed for the tryouts, however anyone who wishes to see a copy of the play in advance may contact Dr. Hinze at his office on the second floor of Villard.

A newly published translation by Eva LeGallienne is being used.

New 'Race Social Idea: 'Big Blast on Bridge'

Open season on the Phi Kappa Psi Millrace bridge has apparently begun, if Sunday morning's 1 a.m. explosion is any indication.

The plank-and-telephone-pole span, leading from the Phi Psi backyard to the Gamma Phi Beta athletic field, was ripped slightly off center by an apparently home-made demolition.

The bridge, built two years ago, has survived earlier incendiary attacks of fire and explosive.

Phi Psi members were reportedly unhappy over the latest attack. One declared bitterly, "I thought all the hunters were in the woods this weekend."

Editor to Discuss News Role in South

Robert Frazier, associate editor of the Eugene Register-Guard, will speak on the "Role of the Press in the Little Rock Situation" Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the Student Union.

The talk is jointly sponsored by the YWCA and the National Association for Advancement of Colored People. Room number will be posted.

COFFEE HOUR

Langhammer to Give Views on Germany

A coffee hour sponsored by the Student Union will be given for Prof. Franz Langhammer Tuesday at 4 p.m. in the Dad's Lounge.

Prof. Langhammer who has just returned from a summer in Europe will speak on "The Cultural Aspects of Germany," and its recovery in theater, literature, art, and dance. He will speak primarily of West Germany with side glances at the East. The coffee hour will be related to the Student Union Art Exhibit which is "Germany Today."

"The recovery of Germany can be observed not only in physical rebuilding but also in cultural expression," according to Langhammer. Literature and art in Germany try to express the New Germany as opposed to the Germany of Hitler," he states.

Prof. Langhammer is a native of Hamburg, Germany, and was educated at Hamburg University, Zurich University, Paris University, and Chicago University. He holds a Ph.D. from Northwestern University, and has been a professor of German at the University of Oregon since last year.

On Oct. 29 the German consul from Seattle will speak at a University Assembly.

Professional School Assemblies Slated

On Tuesday, at 1 p.m., the professional schools of the University of Oregon will hold assemblies in the Student Union.

Taking part will be the college of liberal arts, the school of journalism, the school of music, the school of architecture and allied arts, the school of health and physical education, the school of business administration, the school of education, and the school of law.

A Campus-to-Career Case History

Bill Tyer discusses features of a training program for operators with Miss Edith Sanders.

"There's always something different"

"In my job, there's always something different coming along—a new problem, a new challenge. When I got out of college I wanted to make sure I didn't settle down to a job of boredom. There's never been a chance of that at Bell."

That's Charles W. (Bill) Tyer talking. Bill graduated from Texas Christian University in 1953 with a B.S. in Commerce. He went right to work with Southwestern Bell in Fort Worth.

How did he make his choice? Here's what he says: "From what I'd seen it was an interesting business with tremendous room for expansion. And a big feature with me was the opportunity to choose my location. I wanted to work in the Fort Worth area."

"I came in under the Staff Assistant Program for college graduates. I spent several weeks in each of the company's five departments. Then I went back for six months of intensive training in our Traffic Department."

"After training, I was promoted. One of my first jobs was setting up and supervising a customer service improvement program."

"In January, 1956, I was again promoted. My present job is assistant to the District Traffic Superintendent. My responsibilities include instruction of PBX operators, employee and public relations, and scheduling operators to handle calls to and from 185,000 telephones."

"No—there's no chance for boredom!"

Bill Tyer is typical of the many young men who are finding their careers in the Bell System. Other interesting careers exist in the Bell Telephone Companies, Bell Telephone Laboratories, Western Electric and Sandia Corporation. Your placement officer has more information about these companies.
