Rose Bowl to Be Oregana Theme

Oregon's trip to the Rose Bowl will be the event on which the 1958 Oregana will be based, according to editor Larrilyn Carr. The yearbook cover will be a full-color shot of the Rose Bowl. Other features of the book: Some 360-degree pictures of the campus—never before done in an Oregana.

The use of pictures to tell the story with less emphasis on "sections" and "divisions" as such. Picture essays, key shots and picture sets should help to give the book a "magazine" look, Miss Carr said.

Also scheduled to appear in the book is a section on some of the outstanding faculty members, she said. Sections on traditions and campus facilities are also slated. Students may purchase books during winter term registration. The Oreganas will be distributed Junior Weekend, Miss Carr said. Oregana editors are shooting for an all-American rating, something that has not been achieved since 1949.

Christmas Drama To Be on TV

"And Myrrh," Northwest Christian College's Christmas production, will be presented as an hour-long drama over KVAL Saturday channel 13, at 4 p.m.

The play, written by Dorothy Clark Wilson, develops the idea that one of the wise men who brought gifts to the Christ child was an Ethiopian. The other two wise men do not accept him because of the color of his skin. They soon realize their attitude is one of selfishness and prejudice and they welcome him as an equal.

death at 70 miles an hour until the next turn comes along).

Remember now, for this one you should dress lightly, have your motor tuned to perfection, get lots of sleep, and possibly practice up in your own neighborhood on a stuffed likeness of "Hurricane" Jackson, who incidentally, has taken worse beatings.

A Swing

A swing around some of the city's more posh night spots would include some of the larger Beverly and Hollywood hotels, a jaunt down the town's famous restaurant row, maybe throwing in the Brown Derby, the Hollywood Palladium, and cruising through some of the swank establishments on the Sunset "Strip."

Topping off such an evening would be a careful canvass of the general area, (which in the eyes of some disgruntled partygoers, resembles in size the Amazon Basin), for various grogshops, Jazz dens, pizza dives, and possibly a Suki-yaki parlor or two. This night could last (barring sleep and an acute lack of coin), until approximately March 24th (that's the date set for Angelinos to clear their freeways of derelict and totally wrecked cars, which up until that date have made travel virtually impossible—the partygoer will find solace in the fact that everyone pitches in or leaves town anyway).

Otherwise

The efficient tourist would be interested in such things as: CBS television city, The Farmer's Market, any of the first-run Hollywood Boulevard show houses (Cinerama etc . . .), shopping in the Beverly and Westwood shopping districts, the the Commodore Hotel in Los Angeles with reserved seats for the Rose Parade and transportation to and from the parade and game. Price will be $89.70 per person or $79.50 for two.

No layovers are scheduled on the trip by Greyhound bus. A two-night stay at a hotel is also included in the plan for about $50.

Reservations Due Dec. 20

Linders said reservations should be made with the bus lines by Dec. 20. If enough University students make reservations, a special bus will be chartered for students only.

Larry Badger, an OSC transfer who attend the game last year, had several suggestion to make regarding the game and parade.

"It's wise to arrive about an hour before the game to assure good seats," he said. "And if you plan to go to the parade, the earlier you get there, the better. Some benches along the street have already been spoken for, but you can still get a good spot if you're there early."

Huntington Art museum, Disneyland, stage plays and a possible guided tour through a motion picture studio.

All types of entertainment for all types of people, plus the usual slate of private parties, including beach parties, freeway parties, kick-off parties, half-time parties, and post-game parties.

Looks pretty good, and don't forget the Rose parade and the game itself, before fighting your way back to school through Las Vegas, San Francisco, Reno, and for the fellow that took the wrong turn off the Hollywood freeway—Natchez, Mississippi.
