Wilson, McGinty

versity, he felt, "should have a chance to express themselves."

Legislature Might Regulate
Mayor McGinty, as quoted by the Register-Guard, was afraid that the dry zone might become a legislative issue, with the legislature imposing a zone around the University that would be larger than the past one.

President Wilson, in a statement released following Thornton's ruling, stated that the University hopes that "the City Council and the Oregon Liquor Control Commission will find some other means of preventing illegal sale of liquor to minors at the University. Toward this end the University will lend complete support."

Run for Governor Declined by Smith

ALBANY (AP)—Ex-Gov. Elmo Smith said today he does not expect to run for Republican nomination for governor this year.

The Albany newspaper publisher said, however, a number of persons had urged him to run.

"I cannot foresee circumstances under which I would become a candidate. I appreciate the thinking of many friends that I should run. However, my business and personal interests are such that I do not expect to become a candidate," he said.

State Treasurer Sig Unander is the only Republican who has announced a decision to seek the nomination for governor. Two others who are considering it are Secretary of State Mark Hatfield and state Sen. Howard Belton of Canby.

At least three have announced intention to run on the Democratic side. They are Gov. Robert D. Holmes, ex-state senator Lew Wallace, and Wiley W. Smith, Multnomah County assessor.

Kaffee Klatch Speaker Talks On Philippines

"The Philippines could be a tourist paradise if they would devise an air-cooling system, because it is too warm for persons from more temperate climates" was the opinion expressed by Noel Berreman, sociology professor, at the Kaffee Klatch Friday evening.

Berreman taught at the University of Philippines in Cazon City, a suburb of Manila, on a teaching Fulbright Grant during 1955-56. According to the sociology professor, "After I got there, and when I returned I was shocked to learn how little the majority of people know about the Philippines."

Large as California

The Philippines are seven thousand islands, eight hundred of which are inhabited, composing an area the size of California upon which 22,000,000 people live. The country is quite westernized. Many Western clothes are worn and 37 per cent of the population speak English.

"The Philippines are an extremely varied people. They range from cultures much like 2,000 years ago to the modern urban cities," said Berreman.

Many Attacks

There have been many different influences on the Philippines. They have been subjected to infiltrations or attacks from Indonesia, China, Spain, United States, and Japan, he said.

"As a result of the Spanish invasions," Berreman said, "the Catholic Church has become very wide-spread and the majority of the clergy are Spaniards."

Mike McCracken, member of the SU Coffee Hour committee, was moderator for the evening's program.

"Don't tell me ANOTHER DRINK CAN MAKE ME A KILLER!"

Hold on, mister. We say "can." We don't know your capacity—but why take chances?

This we do know: The law says that, if your ability to drive has been lessened in the slightest degree by the use of alcoholic beverages, you're what the law calls "under the influence."

That one more drink can make you take chances you wouldn't otherwise—react more slowly to traffic conditions—pay less attention to other cars and pedestrians.

Last year, 40,000 died in traffic accidents. Country-wide police records prove that drinking was a factor in 26 out of every 100 fatal accidents—in some areas, even more.

Need any more proof that excessive drinking and safe driving don't mix?

Here's how you can help stop traffic tragedies:

- 1 Drive safely and courteously yourself. Observe speed limits and warning-signs.
Where traffic laws are obeyed, deaths go DOWN!
- 2 Insist on strict enforcement of all traffic laws.
Traffic regulations work for you, not against you.
Where traffic laws are strictly enforced, deaths go DOWN!
