'Hips' Get Going On UO Campus

Dean of Women Golda P. Wickham announced today that an unsuspecting sorority had installed a new chapter on the Oregon campus. The new sorority, Hi Thighs, initiated thirty-six young maidens Friday night in a ceremony calculated to instill virtue into their pure hearts.

The sorority, nationally known as the "Hips," claims to have the highest grades, highest morals, and highest housebills of any national sorority. Their motto is "Perpetua Uplifta" (Always Uplifting). The sorority flower is the Black Dahlia.

Girls Join

Pre-initiation rushing sucked in the following independent girls: Pruna Pitt (now president), Deanna Hugger (now standards chairman), Belinda Lou Snodgrass, Twitaloe Vonvanderblah, Lotta Leeway, Annie Activities, Patty Petitions, and Winnie Wye-dub. Other names were unavailable.

Said standards chairman Hugger of Mrs. Wickham, "We think she has a good head on her."

House Purchased

The girls have purchased a rambling old mansion, overgrown with weeds, as their home. "Remodeling is imminent," said housemother Polly Adler.

President Pitta commented on membership regulations, saying "Our group is devoted to democratic principles, and we see nothing wrong with the dirty masses." She then turned on the ignition of her Jaguar and drove the vehicle over the foot of the Ephemerald reporter.

Hold Famous Dance

The national was founded in 1892 in Los Angeles about the time of the first motorcycle exhibition. The group is widely known for its "Leather Jacket Ball," at which the most beautiful brunette is elected "Black Beauty."

National president of the Hi Thighs, Mrs. Missy McGowan, said, "We have just lots and lots of chapters everywhere."

TRI-DELT FETE DUE

Members of Delta Delta Delta will be feting their national president, Marjorie Main, in a ranch style breakfast Wednesday morning in the IOOF cemetery.

Chapter President Dorothy Quinn announced that the group would make every effort to entertain Miss Main as regally as the last Tri-Delt officer to visit the University, Lillian Roth.

Underground Job Not Idle Digging

That excavation seen around Johnson Hall last term was not just idle digging. It was a test hole for the new pedestrian subway to be built under 13th St.

Ivan Vladimir Isonavitch, Order of Petrograft and Commissar in charge of Underground Activity for the USSR, is project engineer.

Isonavitch is on loan to the State of Oregon as part of the cultural exchange program between U.S. and USSR. He says he hopes to build a beautiful Moscow type subway with running Vodka in the rest rooms.

Asked why he did not build an overpass rather than an underpass Isonavitch coyly replied, "In Russia when we can't get along with the boys in city hall we go underground. No?"

NEW COURSE PLANNED

The philosophy department has announced the creation of a successor to the long-time favorite, Elementary Logic.

To be taught by a rotating symposium of campus philosophers culled from discussions at Maxie's, the Pad, Rod's and Tiny's, the course is titled Introduction to Basic Fundamental Principles of Elementary Theory.
