

State News IN BRIEF

Curfew bill introduced

SALEM (AP) — Legislation to establish a statewide curfew for children under 18 years old was introduced in the Legislature Tuesday by the House Judiciary Committee.

The bill is part of a package drafted by the Legislative Interim Committee on Judicial Administration to strengthen laws dealing with juveniles.

The bill provides that children under 18 have to be off the streets by 1 a.m. on Saturday, Sunday and holiday nights, and at midnight on other nights.

It would repeal all county and city curfew ordinances, leaving enforcement uniform on a statewide basis.

Another bill in the group would permit smoking cigarettes at the age of 16. The minimum age now is 18.

Court studies briefs

SALEM (UPI) — Oregon is awaiting word from the state supreme court as to whether Howell Appling or David O'Hara is secretary of state.

Briefs in the case were filed by lawyers in Salem Tuesday and the seven justices proceeded to study them.

The doubt about who is the legal secretary of state snagged state finances for a while because the secretary of state must sign warrants. But payments of welfare and unemployment checks is now said to be proceeding on schedule after the legislature passed emergency legislation.

Neuberger to return

PORTLAND (AP) — Sen. Richard Neuberger (D-Ore), who underwent surgery for cancer five months ago, Tuesday said his radiation treatments will end next week.

Neuberger said his doctors then will issue a new statement on his condition.

The senator said he plans to return to Congress about a week after the radiation treatments end.

Porter accepts bid

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Charles Porter (D-Ore) Tuesday accepted Fidel Castro's invitation to witness trials of Batista supporters in Cuba.

Porter, an avowed enemy of Latin American dictatorships, congratulated Castro "for the great fight you have won" against the regime of Fulgencio Batista, "a vicious and selfish tyranny."

Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore) meantime urged Castro to announce that "fair procedures, conducted in public trials" will be substituted for hasty executions of political opponents.

The chairman of the Senate Latin-American Affairs Subcommittee told the Senate that despite statements in Cuba that all executed supporters of Batista were given trials, "I know as a matter of fact that in some instances that was not the case."

Carlson attends meet in Portland

J. Spencer Carlson, director of counselling here, is attending a meeting of the Inter-institutional residence committee in Portland today.

The committee is meeting to discuss former non-resident students applying for status as resident students. Resident students are not required to pay out-of-state tuition.

Community research job of UO Institute

An Institute of Community Studies designed to explore the structure of American communities as social and political systems has been established at the University.

Professor Donald E. Tope of the School of Education has been appointed acting director of the institute. The Institute is an outgrowth of a study project begun at the University in the fall of 1952. Under this project, supported by a grant from the W. P. Kellogg Foundation, candidates for doctor's and master's degrees in political science, education and sociology, carried on research in Oregon communities.

Because of the success of the original project, which will end this year, the Institute of Community Studies has been established at the University to continue basic research on the structure of American communities.

Staff drawn

The staff will be drawn from the faculty members of the departments of sociology and political science and the School of Education.

Acting deputy directors will be Professor John M. Foskett, sociology department, and Associate Professor Robert E. Agger, political science, and a policy advisory committee will consist of chairman Paul B. Jacobson of the dean of the School of Education; Professor Egbert S. Wengert, head of the political science department; and Associate Professor Walter T. Martin, head of the sociology department.

Though the program will initially include only these three departments it is hoped that other departments will become associated with the institute as it develops.

March deadline for AEC grants

March 1, 1959, is the deadline for application for Atomic Energy Commission Special Fellowships in Industrial Hygiene.

These fellowships are open to college graduates who hold bachelor's degrees in physics, chemistry, or engineering, and who are acceptable for graduate work at the University of Pittsburgh, Harvard University or the University of Cincinnati.

Basic stipend for industrial hygiene fellows is $2500 for the academic year, plus $350 for spouse and $350 for each dependent child. Normal tuition and fees will be paid, as well as a limited travel allowance.

Application materials and further information are available from Dr. L. K. Akers, Industrial Hygiene Fellowship Office, Oak Ridge Institute of Nuclear Studies, P.O. Box 117, Oak Ridge, Tennessee.

Unander to visit YR meet, Stafford

State Treasurer Sig Unander will visit the campus today. He will be the featured speaker at a $2 per plate Lane County Young Republican dinner.

Campus YR Chairman Fred Heard announced that Unander will meet with the Young Republicans at 5 p.m. and the residents of Stafford Hall at 6 p.m.

Radio station KWAX will carry a portion of Unander's address later.

Commission offers 3-5 summer jobs

Summer jobs for three to five students planning on social work careers will be offered by the State Public Welfare Commission again this year.

Most placements will be in the Portland area. Summer Student Trainees aid caseworkers, assist in research projects, and have an opportunity to learn many aspects of the social work field.

Men and women students who have completed their sophomore or junior year may apply. Salaries are $280 a month for sophomores and $295 for juniors. Civil Service application forms are available from the Campus Civil Service representative. Applications should be sent to the Welfare Commission, State Office Building, Portland, or the Oregon Civil Service Commission, Salem.

Applicants will be required to pass a written examination. Final selections will be made after interviews this spring.
