

School of Music slates 3 concerts

Students and faculty of the School of Music will present three concerts this week.

Original works by University students will be performed today at 8 p.m. in the Music Auditorium.

Cynthia Stillman, senior in music, will present her three preludes for piano. Dean Madsen, junior in music, will give two compositions.

The program represents the winter term work of students in the composition classes of Homer Keller, associate professor of theory and composition at the School of Music.

Thursday evening there will be a faculty recital when members of the University Trio will be presented. Sunday at 4 p.m. there will be another faculty recital, when John Hamilton will perform.

WUS firesides scheduled tonight

Pairings for the World University Service firesides tonight at 6:30 were announced as follows:

Hostess, Delta Delta Delta with Alpha Tau Omega and Theta Chi; hostess, Delta Zeta with Delta Tau Delta; hostess Alpha Omicron Pi with Sigma Alpha Mu and Alpha Delta Pi; hostess Kappa Alpha Theta with Alpha Gamma Delta and Sigma Chi and hostess Delta Gamma with Zeta Tau Alpha and Phi Gamma Delta.

All members of Carson Hall will meet in the dining room; Susan Campbell will be at Hendricks; Straub Hall will meet in their dining room; Walton Hall will meet in the Douglas Hall dining room, and Orides will be paired with Delta Zeta.

The firesides will have speakers to explain the purpose and function of WUS Week.

Warnath to begin marriage lectures

"So you think you're ready for marriage?" will be the central question discussed by assistant professor of psychology C. F. Warnath tonight at 7 p.m. in the men's lounge of Gerlinger Hall.

The lecture is the first of the annual "Y" sponsored marriage series, this year entitled "Marriage for Moderns."

Warnath attended Princeton during his undergraduate years, receiving his doctorate at Columbia. A member of the UO faculty for two years, Warnath works in the counseling center besides instructing courses in counseling and industrial psychology.

The marriage series will include the lecture topics "Learning to Live Together," "Can I Adjust to Married Life?" and "The practical Side of Marriage." These three subjects will be discussed April 28, May 5 and May 12.

age, Life, Holiday, The New Yorker and other publications. He will terminate his session with a public reading of his poetry.

The second two-week session will be under the direction of Jack Wilkinson, associate professor of art.

Wilkinson, who recently visited Africa, Spain and France, will discuss recent developments in painting and murals in those countries.

Wilkinson has studied with Maurice Sterne, and with Gromaire and Leger in Paris. He won the Northwest Printmakers Award for 1955. His session will conclude with a gallery talk, based on his new retrospective show.

Roger Sessions, whose "Second Symphony" received the Music Critics Award for 1949-50, will direct the third session.

Began at thirteen

Sessions began his career as a composer at thirteen, attended Harvard at fifteen, and studied later with Ernest Bloch.

He is a member of the American Academy of Arts and Letters and was a member of a group of American composers on an exchange mission to Russia in September 1958.

His terminal performance will be a commissioned work, performed in Eugene by the Portland Symphony Orchestra under the direction of Piero Bellugi.

The concluding session of the Academy will be conducted by Emmet Lavery, author of the Broadway play "The Magnificent Yankee."

Writes for films

Lavery, who is a member of Screen Writer's Guild and the Author's League, wrote the screen plays for "Williamsburg," "The Court Martial of Billy Mitchell," "Guilty of Treason," and others.

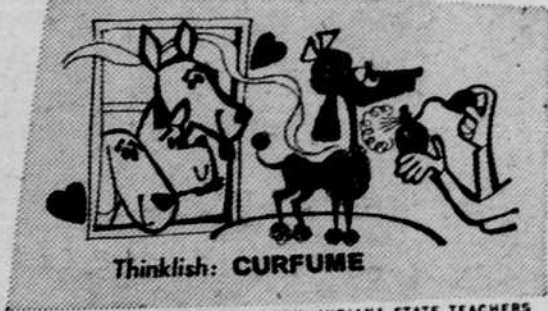

His commissioned drama, "Dawn's Early Light," will be performed at the end of his session. After the Eugene premiere, the Academy Players will take the play on a tour of Oregon communities.
