

Moms Club grows since 1928

By PEGGY TAYLOR
Emerald Staff Writer

The University of Oregon Mothers Club, organized in the spring of 1928, has grown considerably since then. The club was recommended by Arnold Bennett, the new University president. Bennett had seen the

Professor involved in two-car wreck

An automobile accident at Perkins Peninsula State Park on Fern Ridge Reservoir Sunday afternoon sent Robert D. Clark, dean of the University liberal arts department, his wife and two children to the Eugene Hospital and Clinic for treatment.

The family escaped serious injury, though they suffered cuts and bruises, according to State Police reports.

Police charged Clark with failure to yield the right of way in his collision with a car driven by Vincent Eugene Esselstrom of Florence.

In addition to the bruises, Mrs. Clark suffered a severe headache. Neither Esselstrom nor his wife were injured in the crash.

ternational subjects and world peace were awarded to Kenneth L. Robison, a graduate student; Arthur P. McDermott, graduate student; and Donald W. Robinson; a senior. These three prizes, totalling $50, are given by Mr. and Mrs. Everett Harpham of Eugene.

3 non-cash awards

Three annual non-cash awards were also announced. The Emma McKinney award for the woman with the highest grades in the senior class went to Barbara Ann Stepper; the Thompson award in advertising to William Bryant, and the Gurney Memorial award to an outstanding junior man, to Richard McKinney.

Also at the dinner, Theta Sigma Phi, national professional fraternity for women in journalism, named Diane Bush, Mary Jo Stewart, Peggy Doerfler, Anita Franke, Jean McBride, Louise McBride, Joanne Morrissey, Mary Leonard and Ann Finley to membership.

The women will be pledged in special ceremonies next week. Members are chosen for contribution to campus publications, high scholarship in journalism and other fields, and for their intention to enter the field of professional journalism.

advantages of a Mothers Club when on the faculty of the University of Wisconsin.

The club now has 14 active clubs in California and Oregon, plus other chapters in many Northwest states. These clubs are divided into districts which are governed by ten district vice-presidents.

Most of the business is conducted by an executive board that meets several times during the winter months. The executive board meets with the district vice-presidents during Junior Week-end for a short business meeting and election of officers.

Objective outlined

The principal objective of the Mothers Club is raising money for scholarships. This is done partly through the $1 yearly dues, and through such projects as bridge parties and rummage sales. Over $4,000 is given yearly in awards by the club.

Besides scholarship funds, the Mothers Club maintains an emergency loan fund, administered through the University. It is open to all students in need of immediate funds.

UO wives invited to Fashion Show

The annual Dames Spring Fashion Show and Luncheon will be held Saturday at 1 in the Veterans Memorial Building downtown, with the wives of all married University students invited to attend. Admission for the double event will be $1 for members and $1.50 for non-members.

Officers for the coming year will be installed, according to the chairman for the event, Mrs. Jon Dowers and Mrs. David Ridley. Publicity chairman is Mrs. Larry Hall.

Reservations will be necessary for attendance, and can be made by phoning DI 4-2578 or DI 3-2057.

The Mothers Club also helps promote the University in the various communities it represents.

Present executive officers of the club are: President, Mrs. Clifford A. Fratske, Independence; vice-president, Mrs. H. M. Phillips, Portland; treasurer, Mrs. Ann Ricketts, Roseburg and financial secretary, Mrs. Vernon Kerley, Eugene.

Others are: recording secretary, Mrs. J. Ray Rhoten, Salem; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Urline S. Page, Salem; publicity chairman, Mrs. Glenn McCormick, Salem; past president, Mrs. Leonard Ziniker, Creswell.

Curfew hours set for float workers

A curfew has been set to govern the hours of work that will be permitted for construction of the Junior Week floats.

Tonight those working on floats will be allowed to work until 12 p.m. Thursday night there is no curfew hour and float workers will be allowed to continue their preparations all night.

Friday night there will be no major work allowed on the floats after 5:30 p.m. Only three or four workers will be allowed for each float to make final preparations.

After 8 p.m. each night a guard will be at the gate to issue passes to float workers. Only 20 workers per float will be allowed.

Those that will be riding on the floats are required to have a Canoe Fete ticket and a float pass that can be obtained from the gate guard.

Fete to open Jr. Weekend

Millrace Olympics and the Canoe Fete will mark the beginning of Junior Weekend, also designated as Mothers Weekend, Friday evening.

Canoe Fete featured

Theme for this year's Canoe Fete is "Oregon Trail Marks." The 11 floats in the fete will hail from Ashland, Astoria, Fort Klamath, Gold Beach, Portland, Salem, The Dalles, Oregon City, Pendleton, Jacksonville and John Day. The floats will feature historical events in connection with Oregon's centennial year.

Saturday, from 2 to 4:30 p.m. in the Museum of Art, the annual Mothers' Tea will be held. The sculptures, drawings and paintings of Jan Zach, visiting assistant professor of art at the University, will be on exhibit then.

Saturday's main event will be the luncheon and business meeting honoring the mothers of University students.

The All-Campus Sing will be presented by the campus living organizations Saturday night in McArthur Court.
