

Chinese teachers sought on campus

Chinese students and faculty members interested in teaching in Chinese colleges in Hong Kong can receive information on position opportunities from a representative of the Mencius Educational Foundation of Hong Kong who is on campus at present.

Ramon Woon, who arrived from Seattle last week, will be in the Foreign Students Office, Emerald Hall, until Tuesday.

Woon is looking for Chinese teachers in the humanities, social sciences, sciences and engineering.

The Mencius Foundation is a private organization working with Chinese colleges established in Hong Kong during the past few years by educators from the Chinese mainland.

To date he has visited Stanford, University of California, and the University of Washington.

"Chinese students have been very interested and I think they will be here too," he said.

Woon is also promoting graduate study for Chinese scholars in Hong Kong.

Mrs. Rockefeller sets conference for press

Mrs. Nelson Rockefeller, who will accompany her husband on a one-day tour of Oregon, will hold a press conference for women's departments of Oregon newspapers Saturday.

The conference will be held in the Letterman's Lounge of McArthur Court at 9 a.m.

Recital scheduled

A senior in music at the University, Roberta Clemmens, will be featured performer in a student recital to be held in the school of music auditorium, Sunday, at 4 p.m.

Miss Clemmens, a mezzo soprano, will sing numbers from a variety of composers from Johann S. Bach to Claude Debussy. Jean Crowe will accompany on the piano, John Gibbens on the cello.

Winter Carnival petitions due in SU

Petitions for the Winter Carnival co-chairmen will be due Monday in the Student Union.

The co-chairmen will handle the campus campaign and represent the University at the Carnival planning sessions in Portland, besides handling Oregon's part at the Carnival.

For further information contact ASUO President Gary Gregory, room 304 in the SU.

GIRLS GALORE!

Which would you rather have, an umbrella or a pretty girl? Remember you can always shut an umbrella up. Did you know tall girls are lazier than short ones? That's because they're the longest in bed. When you go to the D.Q. Store tell the nice lady you just read a corny, ridiculous ad that had absolutely no effect on you.
