

HOMECOMING EDITION

The Oregon Daily

EMERALD

Vol. LXI UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, EUGENE, SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 21, 1959 No. 41

Come Home Webfoots . . .

Come home to the happiest days of your life.

Come home to old friends, to the once familiar haunts, to days when youth and love and laughter were taken for granted and the whole world centered in two townships of green lawn, stately trees, solid brick buildings.

But while you're here, look into the future of your University. See how it's growing, both physically and academically. Talk with some of the brilliant minds instructing your youngsters today; explore the intellectual advances in the classroom and laboratory.

The University will be great one day and this will result partially from your interest and concern for its future.

Let the couple on the cover symbolize your return to all those yesterdays.

(Photo by Dean Tibbets)