

'Hello Girl' 1941 host

The history of Homecoming queens at Oregon is not a long one. In 1941, for the first time, a girl was chosen to welcome the visiting alumni. Hope Hughes was selected by the football team to act as "Hello Girl." Hope was a member of Pi Beta Phi, secretary of Mortar Board, president of Amphibians, secretary of Phi Theta Upsilon, president and vice president of W.A.A., and a Phi Beta Kappa. She graduated with honors in 1942 in History. In 1944, she married Elmer C. Pressman, a 1943 Oregon graduate. They are now living at 1644 E. 27th street in Eugene. Mr. Pressman is associated with Zelka, Smith, and Co. Because of the war, Homecoming was not celebrated in 1943 and 1944. With the revival of Homecoming in 1945, Mary Lou Hill was elected "The girl you'd most like to come home to" to act as official hostess to the alumni. Mary Lou belonged to Kappa Kappa Gamma and was a member of the class of 1949. She is married to William Russel Van Dyke, a member of Phi Gamma Delta, who graduated from Oregon in 1950 in business administration. They are now living in Fresno, California.

Muntzel reigns

A "Homecoming Hostess" was chosen each year until 1951 when the first real Homecoming Queen was elected. Molly Muntzell served as queen to the student body as well as hostess to the alumni. Molly was a Kappa Alpha Theta and graduated in 1952 in art. In October, 1955, Molly married Walker Smith Jr. Since graduation, Molly has served as publicity chairman and a member of the Board of Directors of the American Cancer Society. Mr. and Mrs. Smith have a daughter, Kim, and are now living in Redlands, California.

Sally Jo Greig, 1955 Homecoming Queen, is now living in San Francisco, California. Sally was a member of Pi Beta Phi, Mortar Board, and Phi Beta Kappa. After graduating in English in 1957, she married Ronald J. Lowell, an Oregon Alpha Tau Omega, who is presently at Letterman Army Hospital in San Francisco. Sally is teaching at Tigard High School.

Last year's Homecoming Queen, Carlyn Compton, is now a senior at the University.

MRS. LAURIS NORSTAD is shown here entering a French military hospital where she spoke to hundreds of patients. The occasion was the dedication of a theater, recently renovated and modernized by SHAPE personnel with the proceeds of a benefit ball. She is accompanied by a French official.

Commander's wife finds Paris life busy

"We live about five kilometers from the center of Paris in a beautiful French villa with five acres of porch and gardens."

Sound like a paradise? It probably is, but the couple who lives there, Lauris Norstad, commander of SHAPE, and his wife lead such a busy life it is doubtful that they have time to enjoy the kind of life that would seem appropriate to this setting.

"I am getting to be an expert in organizing a time schedule," said Mrs. Norstad in an interview by letter.

Mrs. Norstad, the former Isabelle Jenkins, attended the University of Oregon as a freshman in 1930, and was affiliated with Delta Gamma. During the depression, she returned to her home in Honolulu, Hawaii, and a year later met Norstad at a wedding. He was then a second lieutenant recently out of West Point Flying School. They became engaged soon afterwards, and were married a year later.

Go to Europe

The couple went to Europe in 1951, and have lived there since. In the past eight years, Norstad has served as Commander of the Allied Air Force in Central Europe, and Air Deputy to the Allied Commander. He became Supreme Allied Commander and Commander of the U.S. Forces in Europe in 1956. As head of the Supreme Headquarters of the Allied Powers in Europe (SHAPE), Norstad's command extends from the northern tip of Norway to the eastern shore of Turkey. The first supreme commander was General of the Army, Dwight D. Eisenhower.

"Besides a huge job and responsibility, we have constant conferences and visitors from all NATO countries. We entertain hundreds in a year's time at lunches, receptions, and dinners," said Mrs. Norstad.

"In the nine years since I left America, the longest time I have been home is two weeks. I love life in Europe, and like visiting and knowing well the people of many nations." Mrs. Norstad cites meeting the heads of governments of the NATO countries (including kings, queens, and other high-ranking government
