

REMEMBER WHEN

Upset at Berkely!

The date was March 7, 1958. The scene was the University of California campus in Berkeley. The event?

A basketball game between Oregon's so-so Webfoots and California's steady, favored Bears.

The 1957-58 cage season was nearly over, and Steve Belko's Ducks had won only five games in Pacific Coast Conference play while losing nine.

Bears in 1st place

The Bears, fighting to hold down first place, and hoping to get the NCAA Western Regionals, had an 11-3 mark, and a weekend victory over the Webfoots would just about wrap things up for Pete Newell's team.

But Oregon, always a tough nut for Cal to crack, was determined to upset the Bears' hopes for national honors.

Franklin paced Ducks

The Webfoot lineup included Charlie Franklin and Dale Herron at forwards, Hal Duffy at center, and Chuck Rask and Bud Kuykendall at guards.

California started George Sterling and Bob Dalton at forwards, Don MacIntosh at center, and Earl Robinson and Al Buch at guards.

The Bears had everything. Height, speed, a tremendous defense, and a couple of good scorers, while the Ducks, with sophomores Rask and Herron lacking experience, could only point to the high-scoring Franklin as a definite threat.

The Webfoots knew they wouldn't have many chances to shoot against Cal, so they played a cautious game, waiting for good shots.

Some hot shooting

They must have found the openings, because, during the course of the evening, the visitors pumped in an unbelievable 67 per cent of their shots and established a new all-time PCC accuracy record from the field in the process.

They broke the old mark by better than four percentage points—a remarkable effort, especially in light of the fact that their total season's shooting percentage averaged out to only .382 per game.

But, even in the face of this red-hot Duck team, the Bears maintained a three to five point margin throughout most of the game, and seemed to have it wrapped up until the Webfoots came on strong in the closing moments to take a 62-60 lead.

Only a few seconds remained when MacIntosh, whose 20-footer in the last 10 seconds at Eugene beat the Ducks 61-60 in an earlier game, scored to tie it up once more.

Ducks wrap it up

The Webfoots, quickly putting the ball in play, moved into front court, and pulled off one of the biggest upsets of the college basketball season as Kuykendall connected on a 25-foot set shot from out in front.

A tremendous effort earned the Webfoots that victory.

California went on to crush Oregon State in a PCC playoff and went to the NCAA Regionals, where they lost to a Seattle team, led by Elgin Baylor, that almost won the national title.

It took desire for the Ducks to win—so much desire that they had little left the next night when closed out the season at Stanford.

The Indians, not a really good team, belted the Ducks, 74-53.

Frosh grapple at Clark JC today

Mike Reuter's small (five members) freshman wrestling squad will get its first dual meet experience of the season this afternoon against Clark Junior College. The meet will be held in the Washington school's gym in Vancouver.

The squad's size was badly depleted when eight members were put on academic probation after the fall term.

ALL FIVE grapplers who will travel to Vancouver today all competed in Saturday's Oregon Collegiate tournament at Mac Court. Mike Streeter, 167 pounder from Parkrose, advanced the farthest of any Duckling Saturday, as he wrestled his way into the consolation semi-finals before he bowed out.

Frosh team members are Jim Minton, 123 pounder from The Dalles; Layton Ferguson, 157 pounder from Sutherlin; Streeter; Clarence Decker, 177 pounder from South Eugene; and Steve Barnett, heavyweight from Fremont, California.

CLARK SENT six wrestlers to the Oregon tourney. 167 pound Rich Bell went all the way to second place, losing only to Autrey Ehler the alternate Pan-American team member.

Clark team members participating in Mac Court were Dave Burwell, 130 pounds; Tony Stacey and Mike Greenwood, 157 pounds; Bell; Ray Ridley and Larry Zgone, 177 pounds.

STREETER wrestled Bell in a first round match which the man from Clark won by a fall. The only other match Saturday between a Duckling and a Clark grappler was in the 177 pound class. Clark's Ridley decisioned Decker 2-0 in that encounter.

Oregon will be hampered in this afternoon's meet by their manpower shortage. Clark will automatically gain 15 points because the Ducklings will be unable to enter men in the 130, 147, and 191 pound divisions. Fortunately, CJC has no 137 men, as is the case with the Ducklings, so neither team will have to forfeit in that weight.

COACH REUTER plans two exhibition matches using JV grapplers this afternoon. Sophomore Ken Thayer will wrestle at 130 and junior Lynn Mathews at 147.

Saturday, January 16, the Ducklings will wrestle a preliminary match against the OSC Rooks in Corvallis. The match will precede the Duck-Beaver encounter. Friday, January 22, the frosh make their first home dual meet appearance against Clark JC at 7:00.

Gill hospitalized

SEATTLE (AP) — Hospital attendants Tuesday morning listed as fair the condition of Amory T. Slat's Gill, Oregon State College basketball coach, who was stricken ill Monday night.

Gill became ill in his hotel room here after his team's loss to the University of Washington. He was taken to Providence Hospital for observation.

The veteran basketball mentor, who has been head coach at OSC for 32 years, spent much of last week in a hospital at Corvallis for treatment of influenza.

Jim Barrett, OSC athletic business manager, said Gill had not been feeling well but made the trip to Seattle with the team anyway.

Morton wins handball

Morton dumped Pi Kappa Alpha 3-0 in a first round handball game Tuesday.

Tom Kimble, Tom Moore, Ken Kappel, and Oliver Grary won victories in the Morton clean sweep. Kimble and Moore won singles matches, and Kappel and Grary combined for the doubles win.

KIMBLE defeated M. Neilson 21-18 and 21-15. Moore scored 21-4 and 21-7 triumphs against Pi Kap Tom Marsh.

Kappel and Crary's doubles win came 21-11, 16-21, and 21-19 at the expense of Jerry Jose and Carl Kato.

Morton's victory moves them into the next round against the Legal Eagles handball team January 25.
