Giants and Tigers cop wins

A TWO-HIT pitching performance by young Mike McCormick has brought the San Francisco Giants into a tie with Los Angeles for the lead in the National League.

McCormick pitched the Giants to a 1-0 victory over the Dodgers and Don Drysdale. In addition, a bunt single by McCormick was one of the key blows as the Giants scored their lone run in the fifth inning.

SHORTSTOP Roy McMillan was the hitting star as Cincinnati defeated Milwaukee 10-5 in 10 innings. McMillan drove in five runs on two homers and three singles.

Roy McMillan drove in five runs while pacing the Cincinnati Reds to their ten-inning victory over the Milwaukee Braves.

Going into the ninth inning, Milwaukee had a 4-2 lead with McMillan homers accounting for both Cincinnati runs. The Reds scored three times in the ninth, two of the runs being driven in by McMillan on a single. In the 10th, Cincinnati sent across five runs, including McMillan's fifth RBI on his fifth hit.

JERRY CASALE was the whole show as the Boston Red Sox defeated the New York Yankees, 7-1.

The big rightminder held the Bronx Bombers to five hits, and only one of these came in the last five innings. He struck out eight and walked only three.

The lone Yankee run came on a double by Tony Kubek and a single by Roger Maris in the third inning. Boston hopped on Yankee starter Bob Turley for five runs in the first two innings and added single runs in the sixth and seventh.

Ron Jackson paced the Red Sox attack with two doubles.

DETROIT USED its home run power to defeat the Cleveland Indians, 6-4.

Rocky Colavito, who was traded to Detroit by the Indians, smashed a round-tripper with two-on in the fourth after Cleveland had taken a three to nothing lead.

Cleveland went ahead with a run in the fifth, but Detroit came back with home runs by Norm Cash and Al Kaline to put the game on ice. Tom Morgan was the winning pitcher.

Fullmer draws with Giardello in title bout

Gene Fullmer and Joey Giardello fought to a 12 round draw for the world middleweight championship in Bozeman, Montana, Wednesday night. As a result of the judges decision, Fullmer retains the crown.

ONE JUDGE called the fight 145-142 for champion Fullmer, another reversed this, calling the bout 145-142 for the veteran challenger Giardello, and the third said it was a draw.

After the fight, Fullmer said he didn't know if there would be a rematch or not. He implied that this decision depended on the size of the cut.

GIARDELLO, who was a 13-5 underdog going into the battle counter-punched viciously for the first five rounds, concentrating primarily on Fullmer's head as a target.

In the fifth, the tide seemed to change, as Fullmer began to land a large majority of his body punches. The tilt was mostly Fullmer's through the tenth round, with the last two rounds being fairly even.

Several times in the fight, Fullmer threw punches after the bell, and Giardello swung back.

THE FIGHTERS seemed to lose their tempers several times throughout the bout. Besides the punches after the bell, the most glaring incident came in the fourth round when Fullmer had Giardello in the ropes, and butted him with his head. Giardello retaliated by catching Fullmer in the ropes, and then butting him intentionally with his head.

"Kiddies, it's fairy tale time with Big Momma Cynthia. Once upon a time there was a little boy who used to come home from school every day, ask his mother for a glass of milk, and then lock himself in his room. He did this for several weeks and his mother became suspicious. One day he left his door unlocked and she peeked in. What did she see but her little son sitting on his bed singing, 'Grow, grow, grow, with Echo Spring Milk.'"
