tive would have to come from the President.

Castro insulted

NEW YORK CITY (UPI) — Fidel Castro and his Cuban entourage leave New York City for Havana today aboard a Cubana Airlines plane.

Castro traveled downtown yesterday to visit the Ghana delegation.

He passed signs reading "Castro Insults Bearded Beatniks" and "Castro Go Home."

Congo calls talks

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (UPI) — A so-called "Summit Conference" has been called in the Congo by the present leader Colonel Mobutu.

Reports say ousted Premier Lumumba will attend the conference of rival political leaders set up as an attempt to stabilize the Congo government.

Nixon sees Kennedy

CHARLESTON, West Virginia (UPI) — Vice President Nixon has called on Senator Kennedy to correct what he termed "his false statement to the effect that 17-million people go to bed hungry every night in the United States."

Nixon said the statement had been "grist for the Communist propaganda mill."

He also challenged Kennedy to speak out on civil rights in the South.

Ike due in Chicago

CHICAGO (UPI) — President Eisenhower will spend 20 hours in Chicago tomorrow and Friday. The President will make two appearances, including a dinner sponsored by the United Republican Fund of Illinois.

The dinner will also feature a closed circuit telecast of speeches by Vice President Nixon and Henry Cabot Lodge.

Stevenson campaigns

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Adlai Stevenson spent Tuesday campaigning through California for the Democratic party ticket.

In remarks prepared for delivery in San Francisco he said the Nation needs leadership that does not merely stand up or talk back to the Russians, but can negotiate with them from a position of strength and confidence.

Stevenson called Nixon "a man whose public record has always mirrored the philosophy of a tired old party."

Cubans 'pacing'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Navy says that what appears to be Cuban fighters have been flying alongside Navy aircraft going to and from Guantanamo Naval Base the past week.

The so-called "pacing" tactic is similar to that used by Russian planes against Western planes over Germany.

First votes in

FRANKFURT, Germany (UPI) — American GI's in Europe voted for president yesterday, six weeks ahead of time.

The move was prompted because absentee voting rules vary from state to state.

An extensive get-out-and-vote campaign was carried out prior to the actual balloting.

Film Society presents off-beat films for 60-61

A season of 16 outstanding motion picture programs will be seen by members of the University Film Society during the 1960-61 academic year.

A membership entitles the holder to see 16 films not available in local theatres or on TV, bonus features and selected short subjects.

University Film Society memberships (16 admissions), for $5, or term memberships (5 admissions), for $2, are available at the UT box office, between 1 and 5:30 p. m., this week.

The following feature films and short subjects will be screened during the main season:

Oct. 2—"The Golden Age of Comedy," USA 1958 (Academy Award-winning compilation of sequences from Mack Sennett and Hal Roach comedies, 1923-28); "Lobola," (the social contrasts between life in a tribal village and the large cities of South Africa. Native music).

Oct. 16—"The Little Fugitive," USA 1954 (about a small boy who makes his own way in the jungle that is Coney Island); "The Private Life of a Cat," (Documentary of special interest to both lovers and haters of cats).

Oct. 30—"Colonel Chabert," France 1947, (Features Raimu and "Comedie Francaise" cast); "Chinese Shadow Play," (Shows the techniques and musical instruments used in this ancient form of theatre, presenting a Chinese fairy tale).

Dec. 4—"Lovers and Lollipops," USA 1955, (A study of childhood, by Morris Engel and Ruth Orkin); "On the Twelfth Day," (Wendy Toye's hilarious spoof on the "olde Englishe" Christmas carol).

Jan. 8—"At the Circus," USA 1939, (With the Marx Brothers. Three zany anarchists running rough-shod through the bourgeois world...; "Picnic," (Experimental film by Curtis Harrington, with music by Ernest Gold satirical comment on American style of life).

Jan. 22—"The Ballet of Romeo and Juliet," USSR 1954, (Prokofiev's music, with Ulanova and the Bolshoi Ballet. Grand Prix, Cannes Film Festival. Color); "Muscle Beach," (Famous documentary, featuring the body-building craze).

Feb. 5—"Ditte, Menneskebarn," ("Ditte, Child of Man"), Denmark 1946, (Written and directed by Bjarne Henning-Jensen. Grand prizes at Milan, Helsinki, Stockholm, Venice); "Wedlock," (a satirical fantasy parodying experimental cinema cliches).

Feb. 19—"What Price Glory?," USA 1926, (one of the silent classics about World War I. Directed by Raoul Walsh, with McLaglen, Lowe, and Dolores Del Rio.); "Myra Hess," (Dame Hess plays the first movement of Beethoven's Sonata in F Minor).

March 5—"Nothing Sacred," USA 1937, (Directed by William Wellman, scenario by Ben Hecht with Frederic March and Carole Lombard); "Passionate Pastime," (The game of chess through 5,000 years).

April 9—"I Bambini Ci Guardano" ("the Children Are Watching Us"), Italy 1942, (Directed by Vittorio de Sica, screenplay by Cesare Zavattini); "Music Studio: Harry Partch," (film portrait of a remarkable composer and musical innovator).

April 23—"A Walk in the Sun," USA 1946, (Lewis Milestone's great film of World War II. Intimate study of a platoon under fire. Starring Dana Andrews, John Ireland, Richard Conti, Lloyd Bridges); "Coming Shortly," (British satire on movie previews).

May 7—"The Strong Man," USA 1926, (Harry Langdon, one of the greatest silent film comedians, as the infantile assistant of a professional strong man. Directed by Frank Capra); "Mother's Day," (a playful and nostalgic family album, which captures the omnipotence and sadism of childhood).

May 21—"Private Ivan Brovkin," USSR 1955, (Irreverent tale of a Russian "Good Soldier Schweik"); "Fireworks," (one of the most famous avant-garde films, a study of homosexuality and sado-masochism).

In addition to the regular season, three bonus films will be shown in cooperation with the Mayflower Theatre. "The 400 Blows," a new French film, and "Lovers and Thieves" will be shown Nov. 13; "Hiroshima, Mon Amour!" and "The Virtuous Scoundrel," with Fernandel, will be featured during winter term; and the new Indian film, "The World of Apu" and "Menotti's opera, "The Medium," will appear during the spring.

Naval officer school offers night courses

Eugene's Naval Reserve Officer School is again offering courses to interested Reserve Officers for all services. Classes meet at 7:30 Tuesday nights at the Naval Reserve Training Center, 1520 13th Ave. W.

Two courses are available: ABC Warfare Defense, and Industrial Relations. Curricula are outlined by the Bureau of Naval Personnel and employ naval and civilian tests. Instruction is by local reservists who have been qualified by completing graduate courses in their fields.

Completion of either course offers the means for an officer to maintain his standing in the reserves not only by keeping him abreast of service development but also by earning points needed for a "satisfactory federal year" towards retirement and the 24 necessary yearly promotion points as well.

More information may be obtained by attending the next Tuesday meeting or by calling the Reserve Training Center, DI 5-1041.

Organist to give recital on Sunday

Harold Chaney, assistant professor of organ at the University, will give a recital Sunday, at 4 p. m., in the school auditorium.

The program will include works by Mozart, Bach, Brahms and Schumann.

Chaney, a graduate of the University of Southern California, is a member of Phi Kappa Lambda, honor society, and formerly served as organist-choremaster at Christ Episcopal church, Coronado, Calif. He also worked as organist for the Bach Society of San Diego county and taught organ at San Diego State College.

FRATS SCORE

"Twas on the corner of 13th and Hilyard, and there were leaves all over the ground. There were co-eds tramping to and fro with Dairy Queen cones clutched in their lily whites. Perched near by with mouths agape were Phi Deltas, "standing on the corner watching all the curls go by."

Orientation...

"Me, too," Skip said. "The weatherman said it was going to be a rainy winter this year, too."

"I heard that the teachers all got together and are going to tighten up all the classes in my department," Skip said. "I am going to have to study like crazy just to pass everything."

"Boy," Flip said, "school is really starting to get me. I'm glad this is my last year."

"Yeah," the other guys said, "every year seems to get worse."

"Yeah," they all said, "what made us think it was going to be good, anyway?"

"YOU KNOW," I said, "now that I think about it, this tastes like the same liver they served last year."
