Open heart surgery scheduled for coed

By ANNELLE DAVENPORT
Emerald Staff Writer

Inter-Fraternity Council will supply Amanda Dao with the 19 units of blood she needs for an open heart operation in Portland Oct. 27. Eric Larson, IFC president, made the promise last week.

Amanda, an Oregon coed from National China, caught the interest of the University faculty and students and Eugene citizens last May. A fund drive was launched then for her operation and $2300 was raised.

Amanda has had a leaky heart valve since early childhood. She will leave the University of Oregon Medical School Oct. 12 and expects to be back a few days after the operation. She is the wife of Dan Dao, a graduate assistant in the school of business administration.

Donors will contribute the needed units of blood Oct. 23. According to a bloodbank spokesman, preferred donors are men with Type A Positive blood who weigh over 160 pounds because men have a higher hemoglobin count than women.

AMANDA'S ARRIVAL to the University in the Fall of 1956 was prefaced with an almost uncanny background of coincidences.

A refugee from the Chinese mainland, she had finished her schooling in Formosa and was working in a Chinese airlines office when she met the U of O basketball team in 1954.

It was during the summer and the team was on tour in the Orient. This chance meeting increased an earlier desire to attend the University.

Amanda applied for admission and while this was being processed attended the University of Barcelona in Spain. This was in 1956.

THAT SUMMER she witnessed an American woman having difficulty purchasing overseas airmail letters. Amanda solved the difficulty by translating for her.

The woman was Mrs. George P. Wickham, U of O Dean of Women; she and her husband

Bowles maligns GOP practices in Sunday talk

By BARBARA MURNAN and JOHN DASHNEY
Emerald Staff Reporters

Lashing out at the Republican foreign affairs record, Democratic Congressman Chester Bowles from Connecticut, in his speech at the University Sunday, stated that "We are running out of our cushion of time that we have always had."

HE REFERRED to the coming election as a "big and decisive election," comparing it to the one in 1860 when the country was at a crossroads as to where it was going, at what speed it was going and how it was going.

He stressed the importance of foreign affairs, remarking that while it is the domestic affairs that elect the Congressmen, it is the foreign situation which will determine the presidential election.

He used as an example the problem with Cuba, implying that if the Democrats had been in power, "we would have prevented the Castro situation or at least deadened the effect". He accused the Republicans of sending two "playboys" as ambassadors to Cuba, who spent their entire time in Havana. He added that the GOP aided Batista by supplying bombs and ammunition for his battles with Castro.

BOWLES ALSO criticized the Republican administration for its dealings with the "elite of the countries," thus increasing the gap between the rich and the poor.

Bowles earlier had questioned Nixon's statement that everything is all right" and that the country has not slid in its relationship abroad.

"TO BE SURE the Democrats have made mistakes," (in foreign affairs), Congressman Bowles continued, "But we have tried not to make the same mistakes twice."

He implied that the Republican administration was "childish and unwise" in its handling of the foreign affairs situation, using as an example an old quotation from the French Revolution, "I must see where the mob is going because I am its leader."

He also stated that the Democrats understand the needs, wants and feelings of the people, and

Sigma Chi sells members' services

Sigma Chi fraternity auctioned off some 30 or 40 of its members Saturday afternoon—as sorority house-boys for an afternoon.

The fraternity netted $74 by the sale of its labors, according to a report from one member. It was attempting to raise $150 to pay off a fine recently incurred by the house for drinking on an adjacent parking lot.

Such Sigma Chi personalities as "Spanish Joe" McGinnis, "Batman" Alvord and "Wop" Gianinni were auctioned off. The auction was held at the scene of the offense, the Sigma Chi parking lot. About 150 persons, including representatives from six sororities, turned out for the sale, the member reported.

A car wound through campus streets previous to the auction advertising the articles to be sold and announcing the time and place via a loudspeaker directed at sorority houses.

According to the Sigma Chi members, no further plans have been made to raise the remainder of the money to meet the fine.

Roundtable due on Measure Six

A Need for Ballot Measure Six will be discussed by a roundtable group, Oct. 4 in the Dads Room of the Student Union, from 7:30 to 8:30.

Those participating will include State Senator Donald R. Husband, as moderator, and Roland Bartel, John D. Phillips and Steve Schell.

The proposed measure would make it possible for the state to borrow more than twice as much as it now can to construct school buildings. Under a self-liquidating arrangement.

Husband has been a Republican state senator since 1951. He is also a Eugene attorney and chairman of the State Interim Committee on Education which studies the problems of school districts, and junior and community colleges.

Roland Bartel is associate professor of English and assistant dean of the college of liberal arts.

John D. Phillips is chairman of the Student Union Board. He is also a Falk Fellow in political science and a Wilson Fellow in history.

Steve Schell, ASUO president, was a Falk Intern during the summer months in political science and has served on several panels regarding ballot measure six.
